STATE PUBLICITY FUND IS NEEDED

LOUIS HILL TALKS TO OREGON LEGISLATORS

Railroad Man Declares Oregon is Practically an Undiscovered Country—Greater Population Needed.

Oregon is declared to be an undiscovered country affording the greatest opportunity in the world for development and increase of population, in a talk before members of the legislature by President Louis W. Hill, of the Great Northern railroad. He asserted that with proper assistance, such as would be given by a state bureau of publicity the population could easily be trebled in the next 10 years.

"If the Great Northern did not believe that the state of Oregon could not be developed tenfold," he said, "it would never have entered the state. We have been watching the western states closely, particularly in the past three years and we have been endeavoring to obtain their cooperation with us, not only for the benefit of the railroad, but to benefit themselves."

He called attention to the $4,000,000 which the state has at its command from appropriations and declared that with encouragement immigration and the development of the resources of the state would soon have a large additional amount at its command.

"You cannot reasonably increase your income until you have the population," he continued. "You now have cheaper lands than any other state in the union and it is reasonable to assume that there will be enormous increase in the population if the right thing is done to encourage it."

Foreigners Not Wanted.

"The competition between states to gain settlers is keener than that between the railroads. Canada, more than any state, is an energetic competitor. You would naturally go to the states of the east and present your advantages to the agricultural element. You do not want foreigners. Now, other states exhibit at the various land shows as states. They are behind all of the statements which are made and give strength to the campaigns. It is noticeable that Oregon and Washington practically never exhibit as states. The people conclude that such exhibits as are at these shows from these states are only schemes by the railroads to sell tickets or by land companies to sell lands."

No new department would be necessary for the state publicity campaign, said Mr. Hill. He suggested that if the land commissioner or any other department were given a sum of from $10,000 to $25,000 in two years it would be the state's most active department in distributing and answering inquiries from prospective settlers.

Says Portland is Booster.

Portland, he said, was doing more for Oregon than any city was doing for its state, because indirectly it would receive large benefits. But the farmer, he asserted, was sometimes inclined to look upon such boosting as a scheme of a city to sell land or some proposition which the railroad was backing for selfish purposes, and he again emphasized the need of the state's moral support.

He spoke of a Madras farmer, who had gone to the dry farming congress at Spokane and had beaten the world with products raised on one Oregon farm.

"This fruit has been practically overlooked," he said. "But the Great Northern is now getting 100,000 circulars on the results obtained by this man."

State Should Spend Money.

"The Oregon railroads are now spending $150,000 annually for publicity for this state. Portland spends $100,000 and the land companies more money. It is hard to make a suggestion on this point, but I do think it would be unreasonable for the state to make an appropriation of $25,000. In ten years your population would be more than trebled. The greatest opportunities in the United States or in the entire world are in Oregon."

In closing President Hill also suggested the establishment of the experimental stations and added that if the state went ahead with the publicity work his railroad would not quit, but would continue with even more energy and expenditures.

OREGON SYSTEM IS NOT ENDORSED BY SENATE

Salem, Or., Feb. 2.—Senator Albee's resolution extolling the Oregon system of laws and Abraham's resolution calling on United States Senator Bourne to support a constitutional amendment for election of senators by the people were sent to the junk pile together Tuesday afternoon.

The funeral of the Abraham resolution was conducted without ceremony and without protest, but the Albee draft, which was a revival in milder language of the ill-fated Kellaher resolution, caused a diverting clash between Abraham and President Seiling.

Abraham had gone far afield to give his views on Jonathan Bourne, and was several times interrupted. Seiling reminded him that a different matter was before the senate.

"I know some people feel tender when Bourne is mentioned," Abraham said. He was stopped quickly.

"The president of the senate will not stand for that," said President Seiling.

Abraham said he intended no reflection on the president, but on resuming his attack on Bourne he was interrupted by Kellaher, who made a point of order that there was nothing about Bourne in the pending resolution.

Wood, one of the stalwarts, made a further point of order against the whole debate, saying the senate disposed of the same matter when it voted on the Kellaher resolution.

Why Bourne Is Brought In.

Bowerman supported Wood's point of order, but it was promptly overruled. Seiling told Abraham to proceed, and said he would permit wide latitude in debate, but could not see what Abraham's talk about Bourne had to do with it. Abraham retorted that he could see, because in his mind the resolution is a move intended to help Bourne in his new progressive league, which Abraham denounced.

MONEY FOR SINGLE TAX FUND IN OREGON

Millionaire Advocate of Theory Giving of His Substance.

Portland, Ore.—Joseph Fels, the millionaire soap manufacturer of Philadelphia and spreader of single tax propaganda, looks to Oregon to enact the Henry George theory into law. He has just made an offer to give dollar for dollar to a single tax fund and local enthusiasts say they will raise $12,500, making a total of $5,000 to be spent here in a two-year campaign.

Mr. Fels was warmly received while in the city the first of this month. He attended receptions, was given luncheons and spoke on his pet theory, which he calls justice.

"By justice, I mean exemption from taxation on all personal property; the settling of all taxation upon land values, all land values being created by the activities and the presence of population," said Mr. Fels. "Included in this taxation are all special privileges, railroad franchises, public utilities and the same pertaining to light, heat, city transportation and every other function which can be carried on by the public. In other words, I mean bringing into operation the economic philosophy of Henry George, known as the 'single tax.'"

"Oregon is our first state, and although we have the Henry George theory in Victoria, Vancouver and other British Columbia points, we hope to have it in the United States and after its adoption in Oregon, we look for it to spread."

Mr. Fels' campaign will be conducted through local clubs in every county of the state where they can be established. Speakers will be brought to the state from far off sections and Oregon men, who have made a study of the plan, will also take the field.

Mr. Fels has established funds in many countries for the advancement of his theories of taxation. Great Britain has been given $25,000 to run for five years and a like amount has been placed in the United States. The proposed Oregon fund is in addition to this sum.

SENATORS AGREE ON $50,000 FOR ASTORIA

Salem, Or., Feb. 2.—Clatsop county people in Salem were made very happy yesterday by the passage in the senate of Senator Lester's bill appropriating $50,000 of the state funds to assist in the celebration of the John Jacob Astor centennial at Astoria, beginning August 10 next. Originally, the bill called for $100,000, but in this form met defeat. Lester saved the day by changing his vote, moving to reconsider, and then consenting to a reduction of the appropriation to $50,000. There were three negative votes, cast by Dimick, Miller and Wood. The bill now goes to the house.

MISSIONARIES NOT INJURED IN CHINA

"FRIENDS OF THE PEOPLE" NOT TO BE MOLESTED

Rioters Themselves Post Notices—Uprising Directed Against Government—Famine Makes Bandits.

Reassuring reports from the scene of the riots in the vicinity of Canton, China, as to the safety of American missionaries have been received at the state department in Washington.

From Lienchow word has been received that the rioters themselves have posted notices urging the people not to disturb the missionaries, whom they call the "friends of the people."

The riots are ascribed to the attempt of the Chinese government to take a census and number the houses in the town. The disturbances, therefore, were directed against the government, and not against the Americans, as was at first reported. It is denied that the missionaries' houses and property have been destroyed.

Bands of robbers, driven to desperation by the famine, are menacing inhabitants of the northern part of the provinces of Anhui and Kiangsu, according to reports received at the state department. Villages whose inhabitants possessed money and food-stuffs have been plundered by the marauders. Depredations have been limited to a limited degree by means of the partially completed Tientsin-Pukow railroad, which enabled the government to send troops into the affected districts. A number of arrests were made, and several offenders summarily executed.

The government has ordered $50,000 worth of seed distributed among the farmers, but many months will intervene before the ground can even be plowed to receive it. The famine, which is affecting more than 2,500,000 persons, is due to the heavy rains of last summer, which ruined the crops.

Though thousands are being employed on the railway under construction, more thousands are without work. Many entire families have emigrated to the south and the north looking for work. Their search is sure to prove futile, however, as there is always a surplus of unskilled labor in those districts, and the railway can employ no more men than at present.

SECOND NOAH'S ARK ARRIVES IN NEW YORK

The biggest invoice of assorted wild beasts that ever sailed over the waters in a single vessel since the days of Noah and his ark, arrived in New York the other day on the liner Minnehaha. (It is alleged that the voyagers nearly laughed themselves to death when they heard the name of the ship they were to travel on.) There were six hundred animals in all, including nearly every species, fresh from the jungles of Africa. According to John Ringling, who is the importer, the visit of Roosevelt to Africa caused no perceptible diminution in the number of wild animals, which are as plentiful as before. The beasts will be on view in Madison Square Garden when the Ringling circus opens there in the spring. This will be the first time the Ringling's own show has played Gotham. The Ringlings now own practically all of the big shows on the road, including the Barnum & Bailey and Forepaugh-Sells aggregations, but they are said to be intent on making the circus which travels under their own name the biggest and best of all.

The number of congressmen is to be increased probably, but the question is will the quality be diluted.

Taken-Up Notice.
Notice is hereby given that we have taken up and posted the following described animal: One red and white spotted Hereford cow, about six years old; no ear mark, waddled on right side of neck and branded J.L. connected on right hip. Owner may recover same by consulting with STURDIVANT BROS., Ukiah, Ore.

A Healthful Old Age for Women

The turn of life is the most critical period in a woman's existence. Owing to modern methods of living not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very distressing symptoms.

Those dreadful hot flashes and the faint feeling that follows, sometimes with chills, extreme nervousness and dependency are symptoms of this condition.

Those hot flashes are just so many calls from nature for help. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life.
