STUDENTS LAUD LEGISLATORS

Eugene Celebrates Passage of Appropriation for University.

University of Oregon, Eugene, Ore., Feb. 18.—Inspired by the news that the $503,000 University of Oregon appropriation bill had passed the state senate, an impromptu student jubilation culminated in one of the most enthusiastic student rallies within the history of the Oregon University.

After the street demonstrations, in which fireworks, explosives and yells played an important part, the crowd retired to Villard Hall, where patriotic addresses were delivered by President Campbell, Regent Friendly and prominent students. Cheers were given the house, those senators voting for the bill, and Governor West, who indicated in his recent inaugural message that he favored a liberal appropriation.

SALES TO STATE OPPOSED.

House Passes Bill Prohibiting Officials From Bidding.

Salem, Ore., Feb. 18.—Senator Bowerman's bill prohibiting any salaried officer of the state from selling to the state any goods or entering into any contract which might be of pecuniary interest to him, was passed by the house.

There was no debate on the bill, although Johnson, a Salem merchant was opposed to the bill until informed that its provisions applied only to salaried officers of the state. There were 33 votes for the bill.

AT THE MOVING PICTURE SHOWS

Orpheum.

Pendleton's favorite picture theatre, all the latest and best makes of picture plays shown as they were played, as natural as life. The program for Sunday is a show for ladies and children and gentlemen as well.

1. Tag Day at Silver Gulch. Lubin. When the Rev. John Asher and his pretty daughter Ruth, arrive at Silver Gulch mining camp they were not greeted very cordially by the miners. As may be supposed, church affairs did not flourish in competition with the saloon, and when a tag day was announced, to raise money to build a church, opposition became pronounced, and it meant perforation with a bullet, to buy a tag. Bill admired the daughter, and saw she was disappointed and downcast. So he bought the first tag, tied it on, pulled out his "shooting irons" walked into the midst of the miners and, before they knew it, had the ringleaders covered with his revolvers. But the minister appeared and put a stop to Bill's plan. Then he took off his coat and proceeded to give Hank, the ringleader, the licking of his life. Hank suddenly discovered he needed a tag, and assisted Bill in persuading other people that they needed tags too. Of course Bill became the ministers' son-in-law.
2. Love Under Difficulties. Pathé. One of those pretty romantic comedies which are so pleasing to all and you go away happy.
3. Funeral of Count Tolstol. Pathé. A record film, which in years to come will have historic value. According to his request he was buried in a deep wood.
4. Washed Ashore. Urban. Details the effect upon two brothers, of finding a chest full of money, which had been washed up by the ocean. The pictures of the ocean are exceptionally good.
5. Wood Carving in Brien. Urban. An industrial, presenting a series of views of a little-known, but unusually interesting occupation. Some of the charming and artistic effects reproduced seem almost beyond belief.

Four full reels, 4000 feet of new pictures each performance.

Orpheum motto: Best of order at all times, nothing said or done to offend the most fastidious.

The Pastime.

"The Show of Quality" has a delightful and interesting program for Sunday and Monday. All by the best American manufacturers. Dramas, comedies and educational pictures.

"Shadows of the Past." Selig, 1000 feet, under Florida's historic old live oak with its branches spreading one hundred and ninety feet in diameter, where Ponce de Leon many times sought its welcoming shelter and where numerous treaties between the Seminole Indians and the early day Spaniards were made in a fitting spot to set the first scene of this picture. The quaint old colonial atmosphere of the south with rapturous environments of chivalry, lend the finishing touches that make possible the gripping interest manifest in this subject. It is the old, old story of love, but told from a new angle; a little classic void of sentimentality and romanticism. We have no hesitancy in announcing "Shadows of the Past" as one of the purest, prettiest and altogether one of the most satisfying stories of love and devotion told in moving pictures.

"A Western Night." Edison, 500 feet. An interesting comedy, showing a girl, staying alone in a western hotel, frightened when she hears her next door neighbor preparing for bed in his usual vigorous way. But eventually she decides to investigate and discovers that worthy gentleman on his knees, saying his prayers. Immediately she retires and sleeps soundly through the night.

3. "The Fire Department of New York." 500 feet. A record picture, affording a clear idea of the fire department of New York and how it works.

4. "The Sophomore's Romance." Essanay, 1000 feet. A pleasant story of a traveling actress, with whom a college sophomore in a town where the company played, fell in love, followed her home when she left the company, married her. With the show stranded, broken up in fact, by the pranks of the boys, it looked dark, but repenting of their cruelties, the boys loan their glee club to help out and the picture ends pleasantly. It is lively, tells its story clearly, possesses much dramatic power.

5. "Papa's First Outing." A huge comedy telling of papa's adventures at a summer resort.

6. "Hank and Lank Get Wise to a New Scheme." Showing those two well known characters Hank & Lank in the role of nurse. Many laughable situations arise, a very funny picture.

If troubled with indigestion, constipation, no appetite or feel bilious, give Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets a trial and you will be pleased with the result. These tablets invigorate the stomach and liver and strengthen the digestion. Sold by all dealers.

Presbyterian Church.

Sunday school will be held at 10 a. m. A. C. Funk, superintendent. There will be no preaching service owing to the absence from the city of Rev. Lininger. The congregation is requested to join with the Methodists in their revival meeting, morning and evening.

GIRLS MORE CONSCIENTIOUS THAN BOYS IN SCHOOL

Pearsons Academy, Walla Walla, Wash.—A study of the comparative ability of boys and girls of high school age seems to show that girls are more conscientious than boys and have better memories, and, consequently, they make a better showing in their daily recitations. The boys are less nervous than the girls when subjected to a strain and have more originality of thought with the result that they get better grades on their examinations. The net result of raw boys' work seems, however, to be a trifle poorer than that of the girls.

Whitman College, Walla Walla, Wash.—The second semester of the college year began last week with an increased enrollment and the organization of a number of new classes. The new catalogue is now ready for press and will be published within about six weeks.
