NEW YORK GAMINS ARE INVETERATE GAMBLERS
If there is any youthful game or sport which the gamins of the East Side couldn't turn into a gamble, it hasn't been invented, says a New York paper. Here is how the young hopefuls of the bowery and adjacent thoroughfares spin tops:
A circle, similar to that used in playing marbles, is chalked on the pavement. Within this circle each player places a penny. Then each player attempts to knock one of the cents out of the circle with his top. If he succeeds, the penny is his, and he gets another try. If he fails, the next in order takes a try, and so on around the circle. It requires an expert top spinner to flip a coin out of the circle, but it goes without saying that many of the boys are experts.
RECORD YEAR FOR ANTARCTIC EXPEDITIONS
Present year promises to provide a record by the number of its Antarctic expeditions. To those already announced must be added the British expedition now being organized by Dr. A. Forbes Mackay, who will be its leader. His intention, he explains, is not to attempt to reach the South Pole, but to map out the coastline of the Antarctic continent to the south of the Pacific ocean. The region to be traversed extends from Graham's land to King Edward VII land, a distance of some 2,000 miles along an entirely unknown coast which has never even been sighted. Ships are prevented from getting near by great fields of ice and Mr. Mackay's opinion is that the only way to explore the coastline is by working a route round the ice which fringes the coast.
HORRIBLE PRISON PUNISHMENT ALLEGED IN VIRGINIA
Washington, Feb. 27.—Charges of inhuman treatment were placed on file here today for investigation against the administration of the district workhouse at Occoquan Va. by former kuards.
"Half starved, half frozen men have been hung by their thumbs to a limb of a tree in punishment for trivial offenses," according to the charges.
Describing the "starvation punishment," one of the guards in a signed statement says:
"I was ordered to take a gang to the laundry. We passed a tub of bones thrown out as refuse. Each prisoner grabbed a bone like a hungry dog and sucked it. They were really starving."

THE GREAT COMEDY HIT "SEVEN DAYS" IS COMING

Cancel all other engagements for Sunday, March 5, as that is the date of "Seven Days" at the Oregon theater and everything will go by the board for this comedy that the Wagnalls & Kemper company will present with a noted cast direct from a run of more than a year at the Astor theater in New York and with a production of surpassing magnificence. Not to know a lot about "Seven Days" is to confess one's self woefully ignorant of the biggest feature and the mightiest laugh of the American stage today. For more than a year the magazines and periodicals and newspapers have been filled with "Seven Days," calling it the funniest and cleverest and best comedy in a decade, and the thousands who have split their sides and imperiled their clothing over it during its New York run have been talking about it and roaring with glee at the recollection of it and telling their friends to be sure and see it. Taking account of all this, it really seems as if everybody must have heard of "Seven Days," and having heard will welcome it with a smile of anticipation that

ROSE CITY QUINTETTE AT THE PASTIME TONIGHT

The Pastime theater will continue its season of high class vaudeville this week by the addition of the Rose City Quintette and a positive novelty in the act of Miss Edna Walker, female contortionist, a graceful young lady of fine figure and who is a wonder in backbending and serpentine evolutions. Her equal has not been seen in this popular act. With the quintette is a fashionable vaudeville artist named Armour Goff, one of America's foremost readers of Shakespearean, giving a versatile conception of well-known characters by that author and playwright. Mr. Guy Williams, the popular silver tenor, will sing two of his greatest tenor solos.
