FAMOUS MURDER CASE IN SUPREME COURT

Salem, Ore., March 25.—Arguments were heard by the supreme court Thursday afternoon in the case of state vs. Deputy Sheriff Joseph H. Caseday, charged with the murder of Ollie Snyder jointly with Ben Hinton, Emmet Shields, Earl Shields and Albert Green. Caseday, who was the deputy sheriff for Grant county, at the time, is now in the penitentiary under sentence of death. The case is one that created considerable ill feeling in the eastern part of the state.
About Christmas, 1909, Arthur Green was killed in an altercation which took place in a sheep camp 12 or 15 miles above Monument, in Grant county, by Oliver Snyder, better known as Ollie Snyder. Deputy Sheriff Caseday immediately set out for the scene of the murder and took into custody Ollie Snyder, who had already been apprehended and was being brought in by Dr. E. R. Norris, a physician, and two other citizens of Monument.
The next day while proceeding toward Canyon City with his prisoner, Caseday was held up by a mob and the prisoner taken from him and killed by shooting. Caseday was tried with the others of the mob for conspiring with them to bring about the murder of Snyder. Albert Green, indicted as one of the conspirators, was a brother of Arthur Green whom Snyder had killed in the sheep camp.
The legal points involved principally related to the refusal of the trial court to allow the defendant a change of venue. It was argued by his attorney that the state of public feeling in Grant county was not such as would allow the prisoner a fair trial. A point was also raised as to an irregularity in empanelling the jury but the state maintained vigorously that in neither case were the rights of the defendant jeopardized by the rulings of the court.
For the state Attorney General Crawford and Second Assistant Attorney General Roy F. Shields appeared and for the defendant, Leedy and Patterson.
