WILL PROTECT OREGON FROM RUBONIC PLAGUE

Portland, Ore.—Special precautions have been taken by the health authorities of the city, in connection with the State Board of Health and the federal government, to protect Oregon from the possibility of pneumonic or rubonic plague or other infectious diseases that might be brought here from the Orient.

War was declared on rats reaching this port on vessels from Asiatic ports and in order to examine each ship, additional men have been employed so that a careful inspection may be made. Oriental liners coming here have been found to be overruled with rats and it was feared they might carry the dread disease that is now causing so many deaths in the far East.

When ships arrive with any contagious disease on board, it will be fumigated immediately and held in quarantine until every vestige of the disease has been eradicated. While a vessel is unloading a special officer is to be on hand and make a careful inspection of the cargo. Special precautions are to be taken when ballast is unloaded to see to it that it does not include rats. When these rats are found, they are killed and burned.

The assistance of county and state officials is being given readily to Dr. C. H. Wheeler, city health officer, and the additional men employed in the work will be made deputy sheriffs so that arrests may be made in cases where ship captains or owners are found who refuse to comply with the orders of the health authorities.

Not a suspicious case has been discovered by Dr. Wheeler as yet that has any of the indications of the malignant disease most feared, and it is thought if ordinary care is exercised, there will be no possibility of an outbreak here. Other coast cities are taking similar precautions in maintaining strict quarantine.

Low Rating in Prospect.
Little Mildred is in her first term at school, where she gets reports as to her standing marked on a decimal scale. One hundred is perfect and sixty is pretty serious. The other night while saying her evening prayers her petition was punctuated with sobs.

"Do you think the Lord will like that kind of a prayer?" asked her mother reproachfully.

"Nope," returned Mildred glibly. "Not much! He'll blame 'bout sixty on that."—Woman's Home Companion.

TEDDY TO ADDRESS OREGON UNIVERSITY

University of Oregon, Eugene, Ore., April 1.—(Special.)—Word has just been received from the Southern Pacific company by Prof. Schaffer that the "Shasta Limited" will be stopped at the University city next Wednesday morning to allow Theodore Roosevelt to address the university students.

Roosevelt, who has recently furnished a series of East lectures at the University of California, identified his willingness to speak at Oregon, provided arrangements could be made with the railroad company. Eugene is the only town on the line between San Francisco and Portland whose request has been granted by General Manager O'Brien of the railroad company.

Roosevelt is not traveling in a private car, but is journeying as an ordinary tourist, accompanied only by his secretary.

AT THE PICTURE SHOWS

Orpheum.
Pendleton's favorite picture theater. Excellent program for Sunday's change:

- "The Royal Sculptors." A story of ancient Greece. A wonderful picture and one which the Orpheum picture can well be proud of. The story is magnificently mounted, staged and acted and is a long way out of the ordinary run of picture dramas.
- "Indo-China, Province of Laos." Pathic. An interesting picture of the land and the people, showing many of their customs and manners and depicting some of their most picturesque scenery.
- "Hubby's Troubles." A sure cure for dictatorial mother-in-laws. A scream.
- "Billy and His Pal." Melies. A touching picture of a boy's loyalty to his friend. A strong and thrilling drama of western experience and black hearted enmity.
- "Clancy." Vitagraph. He's the man that does his duty. The "cop" that patrols his beat every other day in the year, preserves order, keeps the peace and deservedly earns his sergeant's stripes and shield and gets the ill will of the "gang." They "do him up" on Christmas day. He is brought home to his family almost dead, but he recovers and spends a happy New Year with his wife and child.

Four full reels at each performance. Five long photoplays for Sunday and Monday, all good ones.

The Pastime.
The house of quality. Extra fine program for Sunday's change:
"A Tale of Two Cities." Third and closing part of Dickens' great story, that you have been so anxiously waiting for. This picture takes the audience to Paris. The scene when the condemned prisoners are going to the guillotine and Carton, comforts the poor little seamstress condemned to die with him, is dramatic and holds the attention so closely that the audience sits with tense nerves throughout the scene.

"The Open Road." Kalem. A strong dramatic love story. With tense heart interest throughout. Featuring Gene Gauntier as era.

"Whiffles' Double." Pathic. Whiffles is in love, but being a bashful and timid youth, he does not make much progress at the home of his inamorata.

"A Boy's Will." American. A most interesting story of the courage of a little lad, who is left at home to care for his infant sister.

"A Filthy Affliction." Essanay.

SPOKANE CATS MAY BE PROVIDED WITH BELLS
Spokane, Wash.—Mrs. J. D. Murphy, living at 1827 East Riverside avenue, is advocating a movement in Spokane that all owners of cats provide their pets with bells in the interest of preserving the birds of song, which are now coming back to their haunts for the summer. Mrs. Murphy has interested a large number of club and society women in her campaign and it is likely that a "Bell on Can't society will be organized to trace the origin of the money that is financing the enterprise.

Thus far the Canby Canal company which maintains an extensive irrigation system in that vicinity has stood sponsor for the railroad, but officials of the concern declare that men higher up in the financial world really are back of it.

While some Portland railroad men are inclined to scoff at the idea that the project ever will be completed, even declaring that the intention of the promoters is not to build a railroad, but to construct an irrigation canal, developments of the past few weeks indicate that tracks will be laid and cars in operation before the end of the present year.

The announced intention of the promoters is only to develop the land adjacent to the main line and to a series of feeders that are to connect with it through some of the nearby valleys, but in carrying out this plan it appears that persons high up in the official family of the Hill system will be benefited most.

Although much of this land is held by private owners, at least $80,000 acres is owned by the Western Colonization company, which bought the Willamette and Cascade Mounted military wagon road grant several years ago. Spring Debility

Is due to the debilitating weather of the season, and to the impure, impoverished, devitalized condition of the blood caused by too close confinement, too little outdoor air and exercise, too heavy diet during the winter.

It is cured by the great constitutional remedy

which effects its wonderful cures, not simply because it contains sarsaparilla, but because it combines the utmost remedial values of more than twenty different ingredients. There is no real substitute for Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is inferior, costs less to make, and yields the dealer a larger profit. 100 Doses $1.
