Orpheum.

Pendleton's favorite picture theatre, Excellent program for Tuesday's change.

1. His Trust Fulfilled. This Biography subject while being a complete story is a continuation of that told in "His Trust," the synopsis of which is as follows: The master leaving home at the opening of the war to join the Confederate army, tells his body-servant to take good care of his wife and child. The master is killed in battle, the house is sacked and burned, leaving the women and children homeless, and the old negro gives up his little cabin for their comfort. The opening scene takes place four years afterward.

2. Mamy's Ghost. Vitograph. A dramatic incident of the war between the north and south, in which an old colored Mamy and a little boy rout the enemy and save the boy's father.

3. After the Boxing Bout. A good film giving an illustration of what happened after the boxing was over. It is a lively comedy.

4. Max Embarrassed. Pathe. Max has trouble with two girls, but when they roll him down a mountain into a stream, in a barrel, he loses no time in telling them that he is well rid of both.

5. The Irish Honeymoon. A great big feature. The tour of a bridal couple through the Emerald Isle. A touch of comedy mingled with scenes in the beauty spots of old Ireland.

The third Kalem production made on both sides of the Atlantic ocean.

The Pastime.

The house of quality. Extra good program for Tuesday's change.

"Love and the Stock Market," Ed-

son drama. A story of the fashionable part of New York in conjunction with the Wall street stock market. It concerns the love affairs of a woman and two men, both of whom wanted her.

"The Little Shepherds," Selig. A love story beginning in Italy and ending with her wedding to her lover in America, after a jealous rival has attempted to separate them.

"In the Hot Lands," Melies. An excellent picture, containing a number of thrilling scenes and much interesting scenery.

"Forget Me Not," Comedy. Full of life from start to finish.

Horsehip for Smokers.

Chicago, April 3.—While Chicago has a municipal election of its own tomorrow, it lacks the novel interest attaching to the April battle of ballots in the nearby town of Zion City, the late John Alexander Dowle's famed "holy city." One of the questions to be decided in Zion is the establishment of a whipping post for tobacco chewers and smokers. Willbur Glenn Voliva, overseer and successor to "Prophet" Dowle, heads the anti-tobacco party, and is confident that he will be successful at the polls and regain the power wrested from him by the worldly "independents" a year ago.

In addition to providing for the public horsewhipping of tobacco users, the Voliva platform advocates the driving out of all "independents," the municipal ownership and operation of all industries on a co-operative basis, the profit-sharing system for employes and the absolute prohibition of the employment in any industry of any man who uses tobacco. Voliva also proposes to drive all the churches from the city and to prohibit the preaching of any religion but that of Dowle.

Meyers Testified Against Clark.

Washington, April 3.—Old-time senators are recalling the initial appearance in Washington's new senator, Henry L. Meyers, who will take his seat when the Sixty-second congress convenes tomorrow. It was back in '99 that Meyers first came to the national capital to testify as a witness in the case against Senator William A. Clark, the copper king, who was alleged to have bought his toga from corrupt Montana legislators.

Meyers told the senate investigating committee how he and two other Montana assemblymen accepted $10,000 each on the promise to vote for Clark. Immediately afterwards Meyers appeared on the floor of the Montana house, waving aloft thirty thousand-dollar bills, and deposited the money on the speaker's desk, and in a dramatic speech charged Clark with corruption and bribery. The Clark people set up the claim that the money came from the Marcus Daly crowd and that the performance was a put up job. Certain it was that the money was never claimed and it was added to the public school fund of Montana.

LIBRARY CLERKS DISLIKE EXTRA SESSION

Washington.—Much as many congressmen may dislike to return to Washington for an extra session that bids fair to extend through the hot summer months, their grief is not greater than that of the employes of the congressional library.

When congress is not in session, a position in the big government $6,000,000 library is more or less a sinecure. Save for a few scattered students, the big reading rooms are practically deserted, and the clerks have a hard time finding work to occupy them.

But when the statesmen and near statesmen get busy, things are different. Then the library clerks earn every cent of their salaries and more besides. There are constant calls for copies of the old "Congressional Globe" which was the name the present "Record" went by half a century ago. Unusual books tucked in out of the way places are demanded—and the employes declare—they encounter few congressmen in whom patience is a noticeable virtue.

"We were just getting ready to have a nice long rest when the president had to go and call an extra session," declared one woman clerk. "I think President Taft is just too mean for anything."

A Domestic Serial.

Mrs. Littletown—This magazine looks rather the worse for wear.

Mrs. Neartown—Yes; it's the one I sometimes lend to the servants on Sundays.

Mrs. Littletown—Doesn't she get tired of always reading the same one?

Mrs. Neartown—Oh, no; you see, it's the same book, but it's always a different servant.—Suburban Life.
