WALLA WALLA GETS MANY NEW SETTLERS

Walla Walla, Wash., April 15.—Five hundred families or single men have been attracted to the Walla Walla valley this spring—have really been here," stated Publicity Manager L. M. Brown of the Commercial club today. "I believe that taking it straight through, married and single, we will have gained in population nearly 1000 in the valley as a result. This is early in the season, and we will have lots of time. "There have been more people to move here than have ever come to Walla Walla before in any year. While they are not all reporting to the Commercial club we are finding traces of them everywhere. They are dealing with real estate men in many cases, and in more instances are looking about for themselves. Some of them are coming back from the coast, where they have been looking over other districts, but most of them, we find, purchased tickets to Walla Walla."

Railroads into Walla Walla report a heavier business than ever before at this time of the year, and state that the valley is getting its share of the colonists. Pendleton and Pasco, where the main line trains are left by the colonists, report heavy passenger business.

The Milton-Freewater country, having many small tracts to offer the farmers of the east and middle west and orchards for sale at reasonable prices, is getting many colonists; but the local Commercial club is not at all displeased with this, for it is the entire valley that is being boosted by the publicity department.

BOISE PREPARES FOR BIG AVIATION MEET

The arrangements for the big aviation meet in Boise on April 19 and 20 have nearly been completed. A large addition to the grand stand and boxes at the Aerodrome on the grounds of the Intermountain Fair association is being erected under rush orders by a large force of carpenters. The flights will all be started on the race track in front of the grandstand and boxes. The Columbia band will be present each day.

In addition to the flights by Brookings and Ely, the greatest living sky jockeys, the association will put on two speedy motor cycle races of 3 and 5 miles each day.

Wednesday, April 19, will be Governor's day, on which Governor Hawley and his staff will be present. The Aviation Queen, to be elected by popular ballot, will start the first flight.

Thursday, April 20, will be Ladies' Day, on which the most sensational event of the meet will be pulled off. A 5-mile matched race for a side bet of $1000, covered by certified checks, between Walter Brookings in his famous Wright biplane, and Frank Irving, the fearless auto racer in a special high-powered Buick racing car. Brookings will circle the course about 200 feet above the ground. Irving drove a mile in 54 seconds on the Boise track at the auto races in August, 1910.

Indications point to the largest crowds ever assembled in Idaho. The leading hotels are being rapidly filled up by reservations in advance. Brookings and Ely, with their machines and mechanics, are due in Boise on Friday and will stay at the Owyhee Hotel.

The grand aviation ball, set for Thursday night, April 20, promises to be the greatest social event ever held in the capital city.
