Newsy Notes of Pendleton

Woman's League to Meet.
 Pendleton chapter, American Woman's League is called to meet Monday afternoon, April 17, at 3 o'clock, in the Commercial club rooms over Pendleton drug company, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for state regent. A full attendance is requested.

Students Plant Potatoes.
 Under the direction of Prof. Leroy Freithaupt, agricultural students at the high school are today getting a little practical experience. They are planting five acres on the asylum tract west of the city to potatoes and promise they will raise a crop of as toothsome tubers as ever came out of the earth.

Mrs. Alexander's Aunt Dead.
 Mrs. R. Monroe, an aunt of Mrs. R. Alexander of this city, died at Lewiston, Idaho, yesterday afternoon. She was a sister of the mother of Mrs. Alexander and was a resident of Lewiston for 30 years, being one of a well known family of that place. The funeral is to occur tomorrow afternoon.

Heirs Win Their Suit.
 After being out but half an hour, the jury in the case of Joseph Parrazo et al vs. Women of Woodcraft returned a verdict for the plaintiff at 2:30 and the well known order will have to pay the $1000 insurance which Mrs. Josephine Goodall carried on her life in that order. The case was hard fought one, occupying over two days in the taking of testimony.

Only One Election Needed.
 That only one special election will be needed for the voting of bonds to provide a mountain water system for Pendleton is declared by Attorney J. R. Raley. Attention is called by Mr. Raley to the fact that under the initiative bill as drafted the city council will be given the power to issue a $200,000 bond issue for the purpose of providing a gravity water supply. Therefore it will not be necessary to hold a second special election after the people once vote upon the subject.

Jewelry Peddlers Jailed.
 Vagrants and peddlers of phony jewelry are finding that Pendleton is a poor place in which to operate. This morning four of the latter were sentenced to ten days in jail by Judge Fitz Gerald on the charge of peddling without a license. Two vags drew four days apiece and two drunk three days so that the capacity of the city hotel is almost overtaxed. The peddlers gave their names as William Foster, J. M. Wilson and Clarence E. Martin, the vags as James Williams and William Proby and the drunks J. Hostewart and Ty-co-me.

Orators are Chosen.
 At a recent tryout, three orators were chosen by the high school faculty to represent Pendleton in three different oratorical meets this spring. Clayton Strain was selected to contest in Athena, April 23 at the time of the annual county track and oratorical meet. James Hartwell was picked to represent the school in the annual eastern Oregon meet which will be held this year at Ontario and the date for which has not yet been announced. Miss Nellie Anibal was chosen to enter in the annual track and oratorical meet of the inland empire which will be held under the auspices of Whitman college in Walla Walla on May 5 and 6.

Motor Truck Parade.
 New York, April 15.—A procession of motor trucks nearly a thousand strong, requiring several hours to pass a given point, served today to emphasize the conquest of the commercial vehicle over the draft horse. Nearly every big business house in the city now uses motor trucks and automobile delivery wagons and the number of such vehicles is being constantly added to.

O. W. R. & N. REPAIR SHOPS CLOSED DOWN
 Portland, Ore., April 15.—The car repair shops of the O. W. R. & N. shut down today for a short time, and 1200 machinists are out of work. It is announced on account of re-nouncement policy adopted recently by the Harriman lines. They expect to re-open in a few days.

DEMURRER IS OVERRULED IN COAL LAND CASE
 Spokane, April 15.—Judge Rudkin today overruled the demurrer filed by Charles Doughton, Charles McKenzie, Harry White and Raymond Brown regarding the coal land frauds in Alaska and takes the opposite stand from Federal Judge Hansford of Seattle, who quashed the indictments charging the defendants with conspiring to defraud the government of coal lands worth ten million dollars. Rudkin finds only one man can make one entry. He charged that the defendants used dynamite to secure over one claim.

General Manager J. P. O'Brien is now casting about for the most suitable location, says a story in the Journal.
 Mr. O'Brien was in Pendleton yesterday and looked into the possibility of securing the vacation of some streets that will be required in handling the additional traffic and the equipment, and it is understood that the Pendleton Commercial club has gone on record as ready to work in harmony with and assist the railroad company in every way possible.
 The line between Portland and Pendleton has been greatly improved so that much quicker time is now maintained than was possible a year ago.
 C. C. Chapman, manager of the Portland Commercial club, returned from Pendleton this morning after having delivered an address to the reorganized Pendleton Commercial association Wednesday evening.
 "Pendleton is aiming for a greater city," said Mr. Chapman, "and they are going to get it. The growth of the city has been light in the past 10 years because of the fact that it is surrounded by a large wheat country where the land owners instead of reducing have added to their holdings by buying out their neighbors. . . .
 "Pendleton has been quiet for some time, but is not dead," Mr. Chapman continued. "The commercial club is now interesting itself in having Pendleton made the new division point on the O. W. R. & N., the building of the Coyote cutoff compelling its removal from Umatilla.

HIGH SCHOOL WINS DEBATE AT FOSSIL

Once again have the debaters of the local high school secured victory as their portion. By a two to one decision, they were declared the winners in the contest with the Wheeler county high school in Fossil last night and the glad news was received in this city over the telephone this morning. The judges of the debate were all from The Dalles.

Pendleton was represented in the contest by James Hartwell, leader; Claude Hampton, first colleague, and Chester Fee, second colleague and they supported the affirmative of the question: "Resolved, That further material increases in the United States navy are desirable."

The outcome of this debate is but another link in the long chain of victories won by the local high school debaters. Only once in three years have they tasted the dregs of defeat and on that occasion, they were contesting for the state championship with the Grants Pass high school after having vanquished every team in several districts. Last year, they were more successful and climbed to the topmost round of the ladder when they defeated Eugene high school in the final contest for the championship cup. Thus for two years in succession did they get to the finals in the interscholastic debates which are held under the supervision of the University of Oregon, a feat never accomplished by any other school in the state. The boys are well on the way to another most successful year, having the scalps of both La Grande and Wheeler county at their belts. Their next forensic battle will be with Baker to decide the championship of eastern Oregon. The same question as in the Fossil debate will be argued.

The unusual success of the Pendleton high school in debate during the past three years is a splendid tribute to Principal A. C. Hampton, who has acted as coach and director of the boys each year, and who has worked most assiduously in preparing the Pendleton side of many questions for issue.

TRACK MEET HERE NEXT TUESDAY

The only track meet to be held in Pendleton this year will be pulled off next Tuesday afternoon when the athletes of the different classes of the high school contest for the Inter-class championship and incidentally for places on the team that will represent Pendleton in the annual county meet which will be held in Athena on April 23. In addition to the high school events there will be a number of races between grade school athletes inasmuch as the county meet is divided into divisions and Pendleton must have representatives from each.

Cocher Breithaupt has been at work developing some good men in every event for several weeks and he is very well pleased with the prospects. Boylen will of course take all of his events for he is without a peer in the northwest in the distance runs but the race for second place will be exciting, especially as all second place men qualify for the team. Sheldon Taylor is fast developing into a sprinter and there are many who believe before the season is over he will take the short dashes from Captain Gordon. However, Gordon is showing up exceptionally well and it will be a fleet footed athlete that defeats him this year.

There is much rivalry between the different grade schools of the city and the races which the youngsters will run will not be the least exciting. A cup has been offered to the grade school making the highest number of points at the Athena meet, which fact has given an additional impetus to the local aspirants.

Altogether Tuesday there will be about thirty events in which 75 contestants will be entered. The meet will be held at Roundup park, which is in fine condition for making fast time.

For Later Trout Season.
 Harrisburg, Pa., April 15.—Pennsylvania sportsmen are agitating a change in the fishing law which would postpone the opening of the trout season from April 15 to the first of May.
