All went to jail pending the securing of bail. Before leaving Burns ridiculed the report that he had the wrong men. He said the proof was conclusive. McManigal, he said is held only for dynamiting the Lowell iron works in Los Angeles.

Big Fund for Defense.

Chicago, Ill., April 25.—Planning to raise a defense fund for the alleged dynamiters, Chicago Federation of Labor meets here Sunday. It is expected that assessments on unions will be levied and a $100,000 preliminary fund be subscribed. President Fitzpatrick said: "The union men object to this gigantic conspiracy in the general fight of employers and unions over open shops. The unions can be counted to give all possible aid to these men."

Denver.—That John and James McManigal will go through to Los Angeles without legal hindrance and without change of train. It is the general belief of the railroad men that the train passed through La Junta this morning on the Santa Fe.

Haywood Predicts Windfall.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 25.—The prediction that John McManara, the international secretary of the Structural Iron Workers and his associates will be vindicated of all connection in the Los Angeles explosion, and denunciations of methods of his arrests was made today by Wellman Haywood who was acquitted at Boise of the murder of Former Governor Steunenberg in Idaho after a similar accusation. Haywood said the alleged kidnaping is nothing new in class war on throughout the world.

Will Identify McManara.

Oakland, April 25.—A. D. Burrows owner of the launch Pastime which it is alleged Bryce used to transport the dynamite purchased at Glant to blow up the Times, said today he is prepared to identify McManara as the man providing he is the man who rented the boat.

Time of the men's arrival is a secret. Burns contends that James McManara is identical the same as J. B. Bryce who lived at the woman's boarding house and is indicted for the explosion.

LOCAL MAN APPOINTED TO GAME COMMISSION

C. K. CRANSTON NAMED BY GOVERNOR WEST

Friends Are Well Pleased With the Appointment—Was Recommended by Umatilla County Sportsmen's Association.

C. K. Cranston, bookkeeper at the First National bank and one of the most enthusiastic sportsmen in Umatilla county, has just been appointed a member of the state fish and game commission, according to an announcement made at Salem. Mr. Cranston stated this morning that he had not been officially notified of his appointment by the governor but it is probable that his papers will reach him within the next day or so.

This commission was created by the last legislature and since that time, Mr. Cranston's friends have been urging his appointment. The Umatilla county sportsmen's association heartily recommended him and it has been known for some time in private circles that Governor West would name him as one of the four members. By the provisions of the law creating the commission, two of the members must be republicans and two democrats so that no one party could dominate. As the governor had previously made the democratic appointments, it was necessary that the other two appointees be of the republican party to which Mr. Cranston belongs.

The other three members of the board are G. F. Stone of Kinman Falls, republican, and W. L. Finley and M. F. Kennedy, democrats and both of Portland.

Although the law creating the new commission does not authorize it to act until after May 1, the members are arranging to hold a meeting in the near future for the purpose of appointing a staff of deputies so as to be prepared to take up the work immediately upon the law becoming effective. The revision of the game laws as they now stand will be one of the duties of the commission, and it is understood that the members will offer many suggestions relative to a better method of protecting game fish and birds.

UMATILLA PIONEERS CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Ben F. Ogle, one of the oldest pioneers and one of the wealthiest land owners in Umatilla county, and his wife are today celebrating their fiftieth wedding anniversary and all of their kinfolk are gathered today at the family home at the corner of Jackson and Jefferson streets to celebrate the golden occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Ogle, then Miss Sarah E. Groom, were married in Anderson county, Missouri, in 1861, when the former was barely over twenty years of age. The civil war broke out in that year and Mr. Ogle, bidding his young bride good-bye, hastened to respond to the call of Abraham Lincoln for volunteers to prevent the secession of the south. He served through the war in the Union army and shortly after the cessation of hostilities, hitched his oxen to a prairie schooner and with his young wife bade farewell to the land which had been so torn with strife.

Like many others of those intrepid pioneers, Mr. and Mrs. Ogle endured the hardships and dangers of many months on the Oregon trail and finally stopped in the Willamette valley where now flourishes the city of Eugene. There they stayed three years but in 1868 moved to Umatilla county, where they have since resided. They came here with nothing but willing hands and hearts and now Mr. Ogle owns 2800 of the best farming acres in this county, all of which are managed and operated by his sons-in-law.

Ben F. Ogle is a name known to nearly every one in the county as he is one of the first few comers now living. He has seen a great transition during his life here, has watched the country change from a wild area of sage brush and bunch grass whereon Indians roamed, a menace to the few "paleface" settlers, to a land of great and varied wealth dotted with cities and towns of happy homes. In 1878 he participated in the battle of Willow Springs and the part he played was a conspicuous one for he caused the small force of white men to hold their ground instead of flying before the Redskins, and, after the battle, he was one of the men who brought out the wounded.

Mr. and Mrs. Ogle are joined in their anniversary celebration today by the five surviving of their thirteen children and their nine grandchildren, all of whom are residents of this county.

The ceremony will be witnessed by the army and navy set and the social leaders of Newport, in whose circles the bride has been popular since her coming-out a few years ago. Both bride and bridegroom are interested in outdoor sports and they met for the first time in a tennis tournament. Cupid made a speedy conquest, as it was a case of love at first sight. The Rev. George R. Hazard, of Manchester, N. H., an uncle of the bride, will unite the couple.

SEATTLE FIREMEN INJURED IN FALL

Seattle, April 25.—Five firemen fighting fire in the Eyres storage warehouse at 112 Railroad avenue, south, were injured late yesterday when an 85 foot aerial ladder collapsed under their weight and threw them to the railroad tracks.

The injured men are: Bayn, Fred, ladderman truck No. 1, left forearm broken, thick lacerated and suffering from internal injuries.

Erasmahan, Martin, captain engine company No. 2, ribs broken.

Hartnett, Guy, lieutenant engine company No. 2, face and scalp cut, slight burns.

Moorehead, C. J., ladderman, truck No. 1, head and face cut.

Zeiglit, Walter, lieutenant, truck No. 1 cut about head and face.

Bayn's injuries are the most serious. The fire broke out on the top floor of the warehouse, a five story brick and concrete building, and was burning fiercely when the first firemen arrived. A string of freight cars prevented them from putting the aerial ladder directly against the building and it was stationed across the track and raised to its full height. Five firemen carrying two lines of hose, climbed the ladder. Bayn, Moorehead and Lieutenant Zeiglit going to the top. When the water was turned on, the ladder buckled and collapsed, the men turning over several times in the air as they fell.

The injured firemen were rushed to the city hospital and a second alarm was turned in calling into action all the down town apparatus and both fire boats.

CHARGE THREE WITH CONTEMPT

ACTION IN CASE WILL BE TAKEN TOMORROW

FARM ELECTRICITY MADE.

Walla Walla Tillers Find Gasoline Dynamos Are Big Aid.

Walla Walla, Wash., April 25.—Electricity is to play a great part in the farm life of the Walla Walla valley, according to ranchers of this vicinity and engineers who are engaged in the work of constructing the plants. More than a dozen farmers of the country near here are installing such plants, and will develop the electricity for their own use.

It is cheaper, farmers assert, who have tried it, to own a small electric plant and to operate it by a gasoline engine than to buy the power, and it costs no more than half what the local public companies are asking to generate the power at home, they say.

Many farmers have water power that will enable them to generate all the electricity they need. Power site holders are lucky, for they are now planning to do the chores by electricity instead of by hand.

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS ADVANCING SLOWLY

NEITHER SIDE SEEMS TO BE DOING ANYTHING

Madero Is Filling in Time at Camp Awaiting for Mexico to Announce Her Peace Commissioners — May Meet Next Week.

El Paso, April 25.—As it was in "war" so it seems that the peace negotiations are advancing along the same lines. Both sides don't seem to be doing anything. Madero is languidly filling in the time at his camp awaiting for Mexico to announce her peace commissioners. It is generally believed that the representatives will meet at El Paso, maybe tomorrow or next week.

Chihuahua, Mexico, April 25.—If the insurgents achieve anything like permanent success along the United States border should peace plans fail it is regarded as certain that they next will attack Chihuahua city, thus attempting to link together revolutionaries through the whole already existing half way to Mexico City.

The railroad the interior the insurgents authority is reported as growing daily. The Mexican Northwestern railroad from the suburbs of Chihuahua to its terminus at Madera is under complete control of the revolutionaries and is operated by them.

Telegraph wires along that line are used exclusively for the business of the "provisional government." The other railroad running south is operated only by consent of Madero and in condition that no federal troops are moved over it.

A list of the districts corresponding to counties, over which Abraham Gonzalez, provisional governor, claims jurisdiction, shows that in Chihuahua the insurgents have control from the United States border almost to Torreon.

In that territory Chiniquis, the capital of the district of Artega, was under siege when the armistice was declared, and Parral, an important mining town, was threatened.

A leading railroad official said unless peace is established soon, the whole interior of Mexico would be tied up.

The isolation of important towns by the burning of bridges has been a frequent occurrence.

At some of the points where bridges have been destroyed, the tracks were being laid across dry river beds where they will be washed away as soon as the rainy season begins.

Bentley, local realty dealer, who is a distant relative of J. A. Bentley. The two men passed Sunday viewing Pendleton and yesterday they were taken on a trip to Cabbage Hill.

The trip which was arranged by J. A. Bentley, was made in one of the McCormack autos and J. H. Hudson, the well known farmer, also accompanied the party for the purpose of showing them his ranch on Cabbage Hill.
