MRS. INGERSOLL IDENTIFIES JAMES McNAMARA AS BRYCE

secreted where she watched him as he walked up and down the corridor with the district attorney. McNamara denied ever seeing the woman save when she left the corridor after she had watched him. Speaking of dynamiting Hilton said it was a plot to lay at the door of union labor and that many persons throughout the country took part in it, many unwittingly. He alleged that probably three men are at the bottom of the entire alleged scheme, which directly contradicts Burns.

Dayton, Ohio, April 27.—The capitalistic side of the controversy over the arrest of John McNamara of Indianapolis was presented today by John Kirby, president of the National Association of Manufacturers. In a statement to the United Press today he said that Gompers of the American Federation, as soon as the Times explosion was published came out with a statement saying that the disaster was a "frame-up on the part of capitalists to put organized labor in bad repute," and now that arrests have been made he is using the same cry that whole machinery organized labor now protesting because McNamara was hurried to California and not given a chance to escape. He said he believed the evidence conclusive against the trio.

Hilton Makes Statement.

An absolute repudiation of the alleged confession of McNamara to Detective Burns, the statement that Mrs. Ingersoll failed to identify McNamara as Bryce and the declaration that the three prisoners are the victims of a nefarious plot concocted to railroad innocent men to jail or worse, were broadsides delivered by Judge Hilton, chief counsel for the defense today. He issued a statement to this effect after conferring with the prisoners in the jail.

Los Angeles, Calif., April 27.—McManigal confessed to District Attorney Fredericks this afternoon that he dynamited the Lewellyn Iron works and that he knew Bryce, the alleged dynamiter of the Times.

ALL ENDORSE SCHWARZLANDER

rents for the Indians than ever before. The administration of Major Schwarzlander has been absolutely honest and satisfactory as far as I know and I regret to see this agitation. It tends to raise trouble both on the reservation and in the city and can do no good."

Judge J. W. Maloney, county judge of W. Maloney, who is a renter on the reservation, was found equally indignant regarding the aspersions cast upon Major Schwarzlander.

"He is one of the squarest men I have ever dealt with," said he with earnestness, "and it is my belief there is nothing to the stories published against his administration. Almost for the first time in years reservation farmers now feel they will get a fair deal from the agent and they feel easy. Major Schwarzlander is also accommodating and is business-like in his work."

Frank Curt, well known reservation farmer, was found asking who had made complaint against the agent. According to Mr. Curt he knows nothing of the matter himself, other than what he had read, and was surprised to learn of any complaint as the thought affairs were going satisfactorily on the reservation.

Gives All Square Deal.

In such a manner as this speak others who have knowledge of reservation affairs. W. E. Brock, head of the creditmen's association, declares he has heard of no just complaints against the agent and so does J. H. Gwinn, secretary of that organization. As a matter of fact the number of endorsers of Major Schwarzlander's work seems limited only by the number of people to be seen. He has no critics but an abundance of warm endorsers and today they have been recalling incidents in his administration that show he has been moved throughout by a desire to give all, whether white or red, a square deal, and has done so insofar as any human being could administer the affairs of an Indian reservation with satisfaction.

VERY LATEST FASHIONS.

New York.— Summer's coming as fast as it can get here and the smart woman is preparing the fascinating blouses she intends to wear when coats of all kinds are laid aside.

Now, to be strictly di rigueur, one must have blouses for all occasions. Time was when this was not so; the short waist was limited to the tailor made suit. When it aspired for higher sartorial honors, it had to be developed in silk, with as much stiffness and dignity as could be crowded into it. Now, at its smartest it is allied a lingerie blouse. And this appellation is sufficiently elastic to include all the glory of the lawns, the linses, the crepes, the chiffons, the muslins and so on ad infinitum.

Nothing is prettier than a chiffon blouse built over all over Valenciennes lace and trimmed with an embroidery of heavy silk or with beaded embroidery. The edecoration is limited to the outline of the low cut neck or round yoke effect, with a little more elaboration at the front, but there is sufficient to make a delightfully artistic ensemble and to make the price of the design mount up like everything.

The Dutch neck and the French neck are much used in the latest fancy waists, but where neither is becoming the high collar is much better, of course. Linen and lawn blouses trimmed with inserts of embroidery and lace are the smartest models for smart wear among the laundered waists. The, for strictly business or service wear, one reverts to the tailored shirt waists of linen, pongee, madras, etc.

Some of the very pretty summer frocks are copies of dresses designed for the trousseaux spring and summer brides. They are duplicated in cheaper materials and in some instances it is possible to copy a hundred dollar dress for not much more than a dollar, provided one makes her own clothes and is willing to adorn her dress with some pretty braiding which can be stitched on the machine at home, instead of the rich embroideries used by French designers. Linen substituted for silk voile and soutache braid replacing heavy floss embroidery go exceedingly well together and are more in order for the hot days of summer.

Whether it be a tub frock or evening gown, the new styles are picturesque. Even the most severe of them are picturesque, quaint or artistic to an unusual degree. A trousseau is such an expansive proposition that in discussing it one may well cover the whole field of fashion and perhaps the most sensible thing to do in dealing with the theme is to generalize regarding certain more or less necessary types of frock.

It is always well, if possible, to have two tailored suits for the summer season; one a practical plainly tailored suit for rough wear, outing purposes, etc., the other of dressy character. An attempt to combine the two is seldom successful but many women do away with the dressy tailored coat and skirt and blouse, or three piece costume, substituting for it a smart one piece frock to be worn with a separate coat.

AT THE PICTURE SHOWS

Orpheum.

Pendleton's favorite picture show offers a fine program for Friday's change.

- "1861." Selig. An interesting story of the civil war. "Hold Chattanooga by all means, Hooker and Sherman marching to your relief." (Signed) Grant." Those memorable words had just died upon the lips of the grand old general, as he gave Lieutenant Allen orders to reach Thomas. One of the best war stories ever made.
- "Jim, the Mule Boy." Edison. A mining story. There is novelty, pathos and keen reality in every foot of this wonderful film.
- "Secret of the Forest." Kosmik. A beautifully photographed picture. It presents numerous unusually picturesque scenes.
- "Tribulations of Jiggers." Kosmik. The laughable experiences of the well known comedian, Jiggers. He buys a new hat which proves to be haunted.
- "The Twin Cinderellas." Pathe. Freres. Jeanette Nally in the exuberance of her joy at the wedding of her friend, takes off her overslippers and throws it after the happy departing couple. Officer Smith, Jeanette's lover, finds it and taking it to the police station, puts it in his locker for safekeeping. Hardly has he done so when Officer Swat stows away another pretty slipper in his locker. The latter has been lost by an actress on leaving the stage door and when she discovers the loss things begin to happen for stowed away in the toe is all her jewelry. Detective Reagan is assigned to the case but it is baffling until, upon going with Smith to call on Jeanette, what should he see but the missing slipper. Of course, it's not the one he wants but he doesn't know that. Jeanette is arrested, the actress is summoned, Detective Rec-gan, Sergeant Doyle, Officer Smith and Jeanette get mixed in an uproariously funny situation. Explaining would spoil the picture. See it and find out for yourself whose feet the slipper fitted.

The Pastime.

The house of quality. A program of interest for Friday's change.

"Sir Percy and the Puncturers." A comedy drama of the experiences of an Englishman with Texas cowboys, produced by G. Melles. You all know him, that handsome, haughty, effeminate Englishman, who lives for society's sake and who figures out that the world over owes him a living. Of such a type is "Sir Percy Granville" who falls heir to a ranch in Texas and while on the way there becomes acquainted with Mary Stevenson, whose father owned the adjoining ranch to "Sir Percy." Mary was returning from college and her youth and freshness appealed to this Englishman. So attentive was he to the girl that when Billy James, her old time sweetheart, met them at the station "Sir Percy" insisted on riding home in the same carriage. From the start he was the rival of young James. Don't miss the finish. It will bring a hearty laugh.

"Her adopted Father." Selig. A clean and wholesome drama having its inception on the storm beaten coast and carrying the aroma of the salt sea air. A love story interwoven gives heart interest.

"Dr. Charcot's Trip Toward the South Pole." Urban. Contains wonderful and impressive views of the polar regions. A picture at once educational and thrilling. It is a stupendous spectacle to see the ocean heaving, swirling and as if it were chafing under the ice floes which encumber it.

"The Camorrista, or Japanese Catching Fish With Birds." A novel picture.

"Girls Will Be Boys." Essanay Co. The novelty of the plot, the cleverness of the acting and the beautiful scenic appointments make this story especially interesting.
