Good Clothes and Good Morals.

It is doubtful whether any one to whom soap and water and more or less tidy clothes are a matter of course can rightly estimate the extent to which this question of clothes and cleanliness bears upon the criminality of youths. Dirty, ragged garments, greasy caps and neck scarves worn day after day without the possibility of a change are, I believe, responsible for much. Certain it is that the lad who is content with but one set of raiment invariably belongs to a very low stratum of society, and the absence of a desire for a Sunday suit and the unashamed wearing of the weekday suit on the Sunday is very frequently indeed the mark of one largely impervious to outside influences.—C. E. B. Russell in "Young Goal Birds."

It is Just a Habit.

"I suppose, Elleen," she remarked to the new girl, with feigned indifference, "that you overheard my husband and me conversing rather earnestly this morning. I hope, however, that you did not think anything unusual was going on?" "Niver a bit, mum. Oi wanst had a husband meself, an' niver a day passed that th' neighbors didn't believe one or th' other uv us would be kilt entirely."—Success Magazine.

The Charm of England.

It is not strange that Englishmen should be, as certainly they are, passionate lovers of their country, for their country is almost beyond parallel—peaceful, gentle and beautiful. Even in vast London, where practical life asserts itself with such prodigious force, the stranger is impressed in every direction with a sentiment of repose and peace.—William Winter.

HUNTER GOES AFTER BEAR.

Thomas Hopper, Veteran Big Game Enthusiast, Takes Dogs for Chase.

Thomas Hopper, Spokane's veteran bear hunter, with a pack of six dogs, and accompanied by Charles Dubbs and Robert F. Copeland, left the city Thursday afternoon over the lines of the Inland Electric system for Liberty Lake, where they will journey into the headwaters of Cougar creek back of Mica Bay, for several large black bear which are reported to have been seen in that vicinity during the past two weeks, says the Spokane Chronicle.

The party expects to be gone about a week and will get supplies for themselves and pack horses at Liberty Lake before starting up into the hills. Mr. Hopper only returned from Libby, Montana, Wednesday night, where he and a party consisting of James House of Hayden Lake and W. H. Maxwell of Libby, succeeded in killing the largest black bear on record in those parts. The lucky shot fell to Mr. House, who killed the 600 pound monster as he was charging through the underbrush after one of the dogs. The hide will be sent to a taxidermist for mounting.

Delhi and its History.

Shah Johan in 1631 built the present city of Delhi, close to the old Delhi, and made it the royal residence. The Mohammedans still call it Shahjehanabad, the "city of the king of the world." Nadir Shah, the Persian usurper, captured it in 1739, massacred thousands of the inhabitants and bore away plunder to the value of nearly $100,000,000, including the famous peacock throne and the great Kohinoor diamond. The British first came into control in 1806, when the Mahrattas were defeated near Delhi by Lord Lake. When the Sepoy mutiny broke out in 1857 Shah Mohammed Bahadur, then ninety years old, took command of the city and until the English again triumphed enjoyed the imperial state to which he had long been a stranger.

Harriman Told Him.

Harriman had an almost supernatural instinct for knowing what was going on and who was doing it in the mysteries of stock manipulation. Once when Southern Pacific had been going up fast, Harriman and various banking houses buying in concert, he called up on the telephone one of his private brokers. "Somebody is selling," he said. "Yes, sir," was the answer. "Well, hand the market 25,000 for me." Immediately he called up the head of a banking firm much interested in the market. "Who's selling Southern Pacific?" he asked. "I don't know; we haven't been able to find out," was the answer. "I'll tell you," snapped Harriman; "it's your house." And he cut off the connection before any reply to him could be made.—Exchange.

The Tough Kid.

Nabor—I saw the doctor at your house yesterday. Subbubs—Yes; that boy of mine climbed up on the porch when he was told not to, and— Nabor—Ah, I see. He fell and broke his— Subbubs—Not much! He's sound as a dollar. But my wife tried to whup him for it, and new she's a nervous and physical wreck.—Catholic Standard and Times.

New to Him.

"I see your son has gone to work." "Yep." "How is he getting along?" "Oh, fine! Anything in the way of a novelty always appeals to him."—Washington Herald.

THE ALEUTIAN ISLANDS.

They Extend East and West For More Than a Thousand Miles.

Few persons are aware that the shortest route from San Francisco to Japan is by way of Alaska. Nearly a thousand miles are saved by vessels trading with the orient by coasting along the Aleutian islands rather than following the Hawaiian route.

The Aleutian islands, which extend in a chain east and west for more than a thousand miles, are inhabited by the remnant of the Aleuts. Their war of the revolution closed just as the American Revolutionary war began. So patriotic were the Aleuts, so brave in their struggle for independence, that they succumbed to the Russians only after a conflict of nearly fifty years, and then simply because the race was almost exterminated in the struggle.

While the Aleutian islands must eventually form an important link in the commerce between the United States and the orient, other islands link our country with the vast empire to the north. In the narrow Bering strait lie two little islands, one occupied by Russia, the other by the United States, so that citizens of the two great nations live on respective islands within a few miles of each other.—New York Press.

The Courage of Life.

The two virtues that help us along most in life are trust and courage. Apart from the tragedies invited by sin and violence and self indulgence, a large part of our trouble comes from anxiety, distrust, apprehension. It was not all frivolity that dictated the answer of a young girl who, being urged to prepare herself for a profession or a definite work, responded: "I'm not going to look ahead and worry. I can do a lot of useful things. I can mend, and make salad, and amuse children, and be patient and economical, and help people to enjoy themselves, and I don't believe nice girls starve." Courage and faith are always assets. Even if life goes back upon them and fails to come up to expectations the practice of these virtues is just that much to the good, and we have at least not lived in the evil moment until it arrived.—Harper's Bazaar.

For Peace Only.

It is well known that the Friends have always been devoted to the principles of peace. As they had a controlling influence in the public affairs of Nantucket, there was no military organization on that island for several generations. How the matter was managed is told by the author of "September Days on Nantucket."

Whenever military companies came to the island for a holiday young women thronged the windows and waved handkerchiefs, but there was no rise of military ambition in the town. Once a coterie of young men formed a training company and sent to Boston for equipments, but their elders compelled them to make the first article of their constitution read, "This company shall be disbanded immediately in case of war."

Her Stipulation.

The pale young man with sheepish eyes glanced timidly at his fair companion. They had sat together in the conservatory for fully five minutes and had hardly exchanged a word. At last, in desperation, he dived his hand into his breast pocket and brought out his cigarette case. "Do you mind, Miss Smilax, if I smoke?" he asked. "Not in the least," replied the young lady sweetly, "if you don't think it will make you sick!"

Close Relations.

"You advise that man's constituents to stand by him?" "Yep," replied Farmer Coratossel. "I advise 'em to stand by close enough to watch everything he does."—Washington Star.

His Inheritance.

"Does he inherit his father's genius?" "No; only his father's eccentricities of genius. That is why we are giving a benefit for him."—Chicago Record-Herald.

What a happy world this would be if every man spoke as well of his live neighbors as he does of his dead ones!

FRANCE IS THREATENED WITH "HOLY WAR"

Tangier, April 29.—Threats of a "Holy War" unless France ceases sending troops to Morocco was made in a communication received here today from Raisul, the bandit chief, who says if more troops arrive the country mountain tribes will rally around and start a war of extermination of all foreigners.

Fighting against odds so great that more than half of his command was killed or wounded, Colonel Bremondz French expedition for the relief of Fez is reported to have reached Fez Wednesday. It is believed that foreigners in Fez are now safe and other French troops will arrive soon and will probably scatter the rebels.

Little Byne for England.

New York, April 29.—George Byne of Providence, the little jockey who is only 14 and weighs but 85 pounds, is scheduled to sail for England today. It is rumored that two or three big English racing men are seeking his services. Byne recently won the American Derby at Jacksonville, Fla., on Governor Grey, a rank outsider, winning the plaudits of every racing man and thousands of enthusiasts all over the country.

LOCAL TEAM IS CHAMPION.

The completion of the Panama canal would increase the efficiency of the American navy 20 per cent, according to Richard P. Hobson, and, with the increases already planned, the United States navy would soon be inferior to none and entirely adequate for protective purposes.

John Jenkins, last speaker for Baker, launched out upon a refutation of the arbitration argument which had never been made, showing that there never yet has been a plan devised for the settlement of international disputes without bloodshed and he pointed out strikingly the part which the navy has played in the making of history. He ended with the appeal, "It is a question of the honor and integrity of our nation on the one side and dollars and cents on the other."

Chester Fee, last speaker for the home team, called attention to the fact that their principal point had not been met and that the affirmative speakers were devoting their time to points admitted by both sides. He then went on to show that the present navy is adequate for present purposes and that the present naval program would supply such increases as are necessary for protective purposes. He also advocated that money would be better expended on fortification of important coast points than in the constant building of more vessels.

The Rebuttal.

Hartwell, closing for the negative, hammered home the points made by his colleagues and insisted that the issue be met. Finch responding, made a rapid summary of the affirmative points and pointed out different statements of his opponents which he held to be inconsistent.

While the judges were making their decision, the young ladies' glee club, which had given a selection before the debate, sang two more numbers and were heartily applauded. Chairman Aldrich then announced the decision and wild pandemonium prevailed amongst the local supporters. Judges of the debate were Attorney Marvin Martin of Walla Walla and Professors Barton and Ruby of Whitman college.

Following the debate, refreshments were enjoyed at the Delta, debaters, judges and faculty members sitting together.

Pendleton will now meet the team of Hood River high school which won the championship of the Columbia River district and the winner of this debate will compete in the final contest at the University of Oregon for the championship of the state.
