HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS WILL ENTERTAIN

AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH
TOMORROW EVENING

Numbers on the Program Include
Rhetorical, Dramatic and Humorous
Selections—The Complete Program.

The seniors of the high school have prepared an entertainment for tomorrow night for which they claim the quality of excellence superfluous. The affair will be held in the Christian church and the program will commence promptly at 8 o'clock. The numbers are numerous and include musical, rhetorical, dramatic and humorous selections. A feature of the program will be the trombone solo by James Hartwell, who heretofore has never had a slide instrument in his hands but who believes he can make music on any instrument by the force of his musical soul. Another number which will be unusually good will be the reading of "Ben Hur's Chariot Race" by Miss Nellie Anibal, which is the same that she rendered at the recent interscholastic contest in Walla Walla.

- Following is the complete program.
- The Program.
- 1—Song "Last Night" Girls' Glee Club.
 - 2—Reading "Ben Hur's Chariot Race" Nellie Anibal.
 - 3—Vocal Solo "Selected Ina Cherry."
 - 4—Recitation "Sins of the Carpenter Man" Hazel Wyrick.
 - 5—Silent Orchestra "Selected"
 - 6—Trombone Solo "Selected" James Hartwell.
 - 7—Comic Dialogue "Sniggles Family" Senior Girls.
 - 8—Reading "The Irish Philosopher" James Hartwell.
 - 9—Piano Solo—"Mazurka" Mack Ida Cherry.

RAILROAD NOTES.

The Pennsylvania railroad has ordered seventy-seven new locomotives. Official announcement from the Atlantic coast line tells of an equipment order that will call for an expenditure of $2,000,000. The railroad commission has received notice from the Gulf, Texas & Western railroad that it will apply for permission to issue and register bonds on the last 25 miles of track into Seymour. Harriman lines are planning to buy more seventy-five pound rails and less ninety pound rails than specified in orders recently placed aggregating nearly 100,000 tons, but the aggregate amount will not be much more or less. The original estimates included 150,000 tons for this year, but the remaining 50,000 tons will not be considered until later in the year.

The Santa Fe has under consideration the proposition of building a branch line from Carthage to Shreveport, La., a distance of about fifty miles. If built, it will run through a virgin timber country and besides, will afford a direct outlet for the Santa Fe to Shreveport and a number of connecting lines in that city.

A comprehensive traffic agreement has been effected between the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Great Northern and Northern Pacific with regard to operations in western Canada. The working agreement which has existed for a considerable period of time between the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern has been terminated. The immediate effect of the agreement will probably be manifest in a cessation of varying further the plans of the Grand Trunk Pacific to build into the United States territory beyond constructing a short line to Crosby, N. D., to connect with the Great Northern at that point.

MARRIED FOR ONLY A DAY.

Young Nebraska Woman Has Been Subject of International Romance.
Pender, Neb.—Mrs. Park Harris, nee Miss Grace Rolth, whose disappearance from the ranch of George S. Harris of Lincoln in Mexico recently was the cause of considerable anxiety by both Uncle Sam and the government of Mexico, is now a resident of this town, but her husband is not. It seems that Miss Rolth returned from Mexico and went to live with an aunt at Duluth, Minn. After spending some time in the Minnesota city she went to live with the family of George S. Harris of Lincoln. While at the Harris home, it is said, Miss Rolth and young Park Harris fell in love and took the train for Seward, where they were married. Mr. Harris, learned of the contemplated wedding shortly after the couple left his home and followed in all haste, but he arrived in Seward just after the ceremony was performed. A separation followed then and there. Young Harris, who, however, is of age, was taken back to Lincoln, but his wife, who is only 17 years old, was sent to this place to stay with the father of Dr. Rolth. Mrs. Harris is now living with the family of Attorney T. S. Sloan of Pender.

An unusual happening is reported from Connecticut. A woman found $3000 in her dead husband's pockets.

Newsy Notes of Pendleton

Current Literature Club.
The Current Literature club will meet at the home of Mrs. James A. Fee tomorrow afternoon.

Insane Patient to Asylum.
Miss Alice Boyd, the young La Grande girl who was yesterday examined before Judge Maloney and declared insane, was taken to the state asylum this morning by her mother.

Murdered Man Buried.
The body of the man murdered in the boxcar at Umatilla recently which has been held by Coroner Folsom since for identification, was today buried in Olney cemetery at the county's expense.

Charles Carter Ailed.
Attorney Charles Carter, who has been suffering from an acute attack of sciatic rheumatism in his right foot for the past week, was unable to arise this morning owing to his painful affliction.

"Vote Bill" Is Back Again.
"Vote Bill" Leland, who twelve years ago was the star tackle of the Heppner football team which defeated every gridiron aggregation in this part of the county and which even took Multnomah's scalp by a 12 to 0 score, reached Pendleton today on his trip from Wyoming to Montana. "Vote Bill" has many friends here who are glad to look upon him again.

Seriously Injured by Fall.
This morning Sam Daig in attempting to fix a block and tackle in a tree while working for Conrad Platsoeder fell from the tree and sustained a serious fracture of the collar bone, tore a ligament from his shoulder blade and suffered internal injuries, the extent of which are not yet determined. Dr. Garfield was summoned and attended the injured man, who was later removed to the county hospital.

Commissioner's Nephew Dies.
W. W. Widron, a nephew of Commissioner Horace Walker, died at the home of his mother in Milton last night, death being due to tuberculosis of which dread disease he had been a sufferer for the past year. He was thirty years of age and leaves besides his mother, two brothers, three sisters and one half brother. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at Milton, the services to be conducted by the Masonic lodge of which order the deceased was a member.

Police Save Man's Money.
Some laboring man, name unknown, has the city police to thank for the preservation of his wages from the clutches of certain pirates who operate in the city. He was arrested this morning in an intoxicated condition and it was found that he had $110.60 on his person which would inevitably have been taken from him by night had the officers not rescued him. There is a bunch of "rounders" in Pendleton who make a practice of preying upon shepherders and other day laborers when they are paid off.

New Safe for Police.
The city police have installed a new safe in their office in which to keep the valuables which they take off of persons who are incarcerated in the city jail. Frequently when a man is arrested, a large sum of money besides valuable articles of jewelry is found upon him and a safe was badly needed for the safekeeping of these effects until the prisoner regains his liberty. Night officer John Kearney says that at one time he arrested a drunk who had over $3000 on his person.

Gets Blooded Game Birds.
John Webb of 814 Main street, has just received by express, in care of the first National bank, a trio of "Pit Games" from the "Belmeade Farm" at Nashville, Tenn. They have taken first prize at the state poultry show and are certainly among the most aristocratic bred chickens in the world. The strain was imported by President Andrew Jackson in 1832 from Sheffield, England. Webb has placed the trio in a breeding pen and will give the offspring to business men of Pendleton, who fancy historic poultry.

Search for Missing Relative.
Two women, giving no name but stating their residence as Baker, arrived in Pendleton yesterday in search of some trace of the brother of the one and the uncle of the other. They declare he left his home about two weeks ago for Umatilla to get his automobile in which he intended to make the return trip and has not been heard of since. He was dressed in old clothes when he left which led the women to believe the man murdered in the Umatilla boxcar was he whom they sought. Their minds were relieved to some extent when they looked upon the face of the dead man in the coroner's parlors.

Mrs. Winkums Is Found.
Many of the matrons of the city enjoyed a little of childhood fun yesterday when they engaged in the search for the mysterious Mrs. Winkums at the Peoples Warehouse. Their excitement was keener than ever in the days of Blind Man's Buff, Hide the Thimble, or Button, Button, for there was a prize for the winner which each woman coveted. Mrs. Winkums was represented by Mrs. Rosenberg and she enjoyed the fun more than anyone. She was in and out of the store a number of times before Mrs. Charles Bonney tapped her on the shoulder and said the magic words which brought her $15 in merchandise.

Talk About Your Mobs, Wow!
Sociologists would have secured some valuable material to illustrate their laws of the mob had they been present at the opening of the doors of the Alexander department store this morning. That store had put up a large number of articles in the window yesterday at prices approximating nothing and advertised them for sale this morning at 8:30 o'clock. When that hour rolled around, the doorway and street in front of the store was jammed with a mass of surging humanity. The doors finally swung open and a scramble began such as has never been seen except at a bargain sale or a football game. Women, some of them the elite of the city and cream of the social world, fought with washerwomen for some fancied article and none of the "maddened crowd" but seemed bereft of their senses. An amusing feature was that some of the women who had got up with the chickens to be first at the doors, were forced the whole length of the store and past the dearly sought bargains by the pressure from behind. Several amateur photographers appeared on the scene and have indelible evidence of the effect of a little judicious advertising.

East End Granges Meet.
According to a telephone communication from Freewater this afternoon, a meeting of the Freewater, Ferndale and Hudson Bay granges is being held this afternoon. Owing to the inclement weather, the program is being given in the I. O. O. F. hall. W. F. Mesley, master of the Ferndale grange, is presiding, with W. H. Wetherstie, master of the Hudson Bay grange, assisting. An excellent program is being rendered, Assessor C. P. Strain of this city being one of the speakers.

Rains Cause Flood Talk.
The recent heavy rains in Umatilla county are causing many of the older residents to talk of floods. It was five years ago the thirtieth of this month that Pendleton was visited with the freshest which made running streams out of the main streets and did great property damage. According to several people it was just the kind of rains we are having now that caused that flood.

A Correction.
There was a typographical error in the story in this paper last evening concerning the cost of the new system of rural school supervision. One sentence read, "if all of the school districts outside of Pendleton levied as much for supervision in proportion to their wealth as Pendleton does they would have about $250 a year for supervision; a very much greater sum would be needed for this purpose," when it should have read "they would have about $250,000 a year for supervision, a very much greater sum than would be needed for this purpose."

MEXICAN GUERRILLAS MURDER DAYTON BOY

from telegraphic communication and appeals made by the Americans for protection had not been answered when the steamer left for the north.

The Godmans, Judge M. M. Godman of Seattle and Dayton, Wash., his wife and three sons, Roy, aged 28, Melvin, 24, and Donald, 17, went to Mexico about six months ago to take charge of a large banana plantation on the outskirts of Coyuca, about 23 miles north of Acapulco. The plantation was the property of a Washington company of which Judge Godman was vice president.

"We were out of the world," said Mrs. Godman yesterday, "and nothing happened to alarm us until the latter part of April when we were informed that the whole countryside was in a state of alarm. The Mexican government had disarmed the populace and they had no means of protecting themselves from the hands of armed men pillaging our region. "Whenever the approach of these guerillas was announced, all the men fled to the brush and remained in hiding until the bandits had passed on. They killed many residents of Coyuca where they also burned the court house. "Mr. Godman was called to Acapulco on business and I accompanied him, expecting to return in two days. We never returned. The day after we left the boys we were advised that our hacienda was to be attacked and Donald went away with a butcher's boy.

Attack After Dark.
The boys locked the house carefully, and Felipe, one of our men, stood guard on the veranda. The bandits, about 80 of them, came shortly after dark. Felipe heard them say that they would first kill the Americans. He tried to warn the boys but the bandits came on with a rush. Felipe saved himself by hiding under the veranda. Realizing that they were trapped, the boys extinguished the one light that had been burning in the house and took refuge in a hall. Between the blows of an improvised battering ram with which the bandits were attacking the front door, the boys could hear others of the band wrenching apart the window bars.

"They tried to escape from one side of the house. Melvin, who had gone to the kitchen, heard a shot, and ran back to the place where he had left his brother. "I'm done for, Mel," Roy said. "Save yourself and find Donald." "The dying boy refused to let his brother remain with him. Melvin made his escape. Roy lived two hours, we afterwards learned from a servant. "Melvin fell into the hands of friendly natives and after several days made his way safely to Acapulco. "Donald returned to the house when his friend, the butcher boy, told him the coast was clear. Then in company with a faithful servant named Thomas, he started for Acapulco, reaching there after many hardships.
