YOUNG COUPLE MARRY AT HERMISTON

Hermiston, Ore., May 21.—This week Hermiston was the scene of a very pretty wedding. Mr. Charles Reed Moore and Miss Elsie E. Agnew were united in wedlock at the home of Mrs. J. L. Agnew, Rev. E. C. Newham said the words which bound the young couple together, using the ring ceremony. Only the members of the bride's family were present. A number of beautiful presents were received by the young couple. Mr. and Mrs. Moore left for Spokane where they will make their home. Mr. Moore is a civil engineer. Mr. Charles E. Sparks has purchased a five acre tract belonging to Fred A. Yates. This land is all seeded to rye and alfalfa and is not more than 10 minutes' walk from the city. In addition to the land, Mr. Sparks also purchased a mowing machine and several other farm implements from Mr. Yates. The incorporators of the new Hermiston Farmers' exchange are Henry Sommerers, George A. Cressy, P. H. Sullivan, Charles E. Percy and W. H. Skinner. These will act as a board of control, Mr. Skinner being president and Mr. Cressy secretary and treasurer. This company is incorporated at $10,000. The majority of the stock has already been subscribed and the balance will be gone in a few days. Mr. H. J. Longley, agent for the Royal Insurance company, received this week a check for $450, being the amount carried on the home of J. Means, which was destroyed by fire a few days ago. Mr. A. C. Crawford this week sold to the Jones-Scott company of Walla Walla, a large tract of land near Umatilla, which will be used by this company, being a gravel pit. This land directly joins the Umatilla gravel pit.

to Chief John E. Wilkie of the United States secret service. The step has been taken with a view to restoring this department to its former efficiency. The government has recovered in duties and in promised compromises over $2,000,000 since last November through the work of the special agents, so, it is claimed, that they are really self-sustaining. The joint assembly of the Colorado legislature, after balloting over three months, failed to elect a successor to the late United States Senator Charles J. Hughes, leaving that state in a rather unusual position. For the next two years Colorado, whose legislature meets biennially, though having practically a complete democratic state administration and with an overwhelming democratic majority, will be represented in the upper house of congress by only one senator, Simon Guggenheim, a republican, and the political complexion of the senate will be fifty republicans and forty-one democrats. For the first time in nearly ten years, those sacred documents, the original copies of the constitution of the United States and the declaration of independence, were uncovered the other day. It was found by Secretary Knox that the safe in which they have been kept was not absolutely fire proof or water proof, so a new receptacle has been ordered. The declaration displays the ravages of time alarmingly, also the disastrous effects of the press copying to which it was submitted in 1852 and from which all facsimiles have been made. Nearly all the signatures have faded away, even the famous scroll of John Hancock being only vaguely and incompletely visible. The dimmed text, however, is readable in its entirety.

It Started the World, when the astounding claims were first made for Bucklen's Arnica Salve, but forty years of wonderful cures have proved them to be true, and everywhere it is now known as the best salve on earth for burns, scalds, sores, cuts, bruises, sprains, swellings, eczema chapped hands fever sores and piles. Only 25c at Koepfens.

Do Ghosts Haunt Swamps? No, never. Its foolish to fear a fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous and lowlands. These are the malaria germs that cause ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles, and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C. "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy only 50c at Koepfens.

Lewiston Graduates ARE IN GOOD DEMAND The graduating class at the Lewiston state normal school is the largest in the history of that institution. There are thirty-nine graduates, the following towns being represented: Orfino, Caldwell, Southwick, Lewiston, Middleton, Jullaetta, Weiser, Lardow, Salmon, Kendrick, Culdasa, Bonner Ferry Payette, Coeur d'Alene, Rathdrum, Nez Perce, Valley, Weston, Oregon; Athena, Oregon; Hillsdale, Michigan; Valley City, North Dakota; Spanigle, Washington, and Ackley, Iowa. Such is the demand for Lewiston normal graduates that all of these have secured desirable positions in the state. In addition to the members of the outgoing graduating class there will be about forty who will receive first grade five-year certificates. Many of these have also concluded contracts for the coming year.

LOST INDIAN TRIBE FOUND IN THE NORTH Red Bluff, Cal.—Living in the im-

penetrable crags and canyons of Mill and Deer creeks, less than twenty miles from the cities of the upper Sacramento valley, a tribe of the Mill creek Indians long thought extinct, has been discovered by the anthropologists of the University of California under Professor A. L. Kroeber. A troop of United States cavalry has been asked by the university to run the tribe to earth, with the hope of preserving the aborigines, their language and customs in the interest of science. Though the Indians have set up an independent government almost in sight of Pullman trains, few settlers of the region know of the existence of this tribe, which numbers less than a score. Other Indians in the vicinity have scoffed at the stories of settlers that their sheep have come home with arrows in their flanks. These Indians denied that any of the primitive people were alive. Residents of Tehama and Red Bluff the nearest cities, are least inclined to believe that this tribe survived a massacre in early days when the settlers arose en masse and slew all the Indians in the region. The evidence of the arrow heads and the rifling of ranch cabins and cabins of the remote parts of the Mill creek canyon started an investigation by the University of California scientists, who took the trail heavily armed under the direction of T. T. Waterman. They returned without having held communication with the tribe, who fled at their approach, but they obtained photographs of their abandoned huts and a large number of baskets and other utensils. After the massacre of 1870, when the settlers of northern California arose against the Indians, five of the aborigines, remnants of the Kombo, an offshoot of the Nozi tribe, escaped. In forty years these five have grown into a tribe eking out an existence by spearing salmon and eating acorns.

NEGRO IN NEW YORK KILLS TWO PEOPLE New York. — John Cain, a negro tailor, in resistance to arrest and the attack of a mob which tried to seize him after he had shot and fatally wounded a white man shot or stabbed two men to death, fatally wounded another and inflicted more or less serious injuries upon six other persons, one of them an 8-year-old girl. His career was halted by a revolver bullet which penetrated his lungs, and he was taken to a hospital. The trouble started on a Ninth avenue electric train when Cain drew a blackjack and assaulted a white man who reproved him for smoking in the car. Cain has admitted, the police say, that he is the man who killed Richard Ball, a newspaper man, on Broadway 11 years ago. Ball's slayer said he killed his man for stepping on his toes. Cain went wild last night when a white passenger on the platform of an elevated train objected to his smoking. Cain said that he was sentenced to 14 years at Sing Sing for killing Ball and released a few weeks ago after serving between nine and ten years, his term being shortened by good behavior. The two who died in the hospital late last night covered with slashes from Cain's razor were John Hall, of Weehauken, N. J., and Saxon Surrall of Manhattan. Chauncey De Graffe, a policeman, and August Leibman are in a serious condition and may die. Cain himself has a bullet through his lungs but will probably get well.

FLIRTS WITH MAE ON CAR. Does Honey and Dearie Believe in Love at Sight? Seattle, Wash.—That a courtesy extended to her on a Capitol hill car by F. S. Lang, a local stove manufacturer, resulted in a flirtation during which he asked her if she believed in love at first sight and called her "honey" and "dearie," was the charge made on the witness stand today by Miss Mae Aronstein, who is suing Mr. Lang for $50,000 damages for breach of promise in failing to carry out his promise to marry her. Lang admits he flirted a little with Miss Aronstein before he married his present wife, but charges that the present litigation is blackmail. When Lang married, Miss Aronstein lay in wait for Lang at the Rainier-Grand hotel with a horsewhip, but some friends conveyed the news to him and he came not to the tyrant. The plaintiff told the jury that she had been intending to go to Europe with a wealthy woman friend, when she met Lang on a street car. Lang volunteered to show her her street. She did not reply to Lang, but he took charge of her and the "lovey" and "honey" and "dearie" conversation is said to have followed in the course of a 15-block walk. is borne out by the fact that the legislature provided that your worthy master by virtue of his office, is made a member of the board of regents of the Oregon agricultural college. "It is not for us to assume to suggest or desire to control the policies of this great school. But we do feel that since it has been located at Corvallis, we have a trust to perform. As a city and as a people we have confined our efforts toward demonstrating that we are deserving of the trust that the people of the state have reposed in us. We feel that it is our sacred duty to contribute to the moral and physical welfare of the young men and women of our state while they are residing with us and attending college. We feel that it is a parental duty to strive to keep them from those influences that may injure the moral character of the student, and thus cooperate with the college authorities in developing the highest degree of citizenship. We point with pride to the fact that Corvallis was the first town to adopt local option, and not only that, but in no town in the state has the unlawful disposition of liquor been more vigorously and diligently prosecuted. "The health of the students is dependent upon two things more than upon anything else: good water and systematic sewerage. We have both. The source of the water supply of the college and the city is a mountain stream sixteen miles away at the foot of a snow peak. The water speaks for itself, not alone in sweetness of the taste, but in the results of searching analysis. "In order to improve the present sewer system of the city, Corvallis is this year spending $144,000 in the construction of two main sewers, one of which leads from the north side of the college campus, the other from the south side. Within a year every portion of Corvallis will be provided with sewer facilities. "We are proud of our health record. During the last two years there has been but one case of typhoid in Corvallis. We feel that it is our duty to give your children, while attending this college, the home surroundings that you would have them enjoy and this is one of the trusts we shall try to keep to the best of our ability. From you come the great body of students."

BIG GRAIN CROP FOR THE PALOUSE Pullman, Wash.—"I believe that there are more acres of good grain in Whitman county today than ever before in its history," said J. S. Klemgard, who has farmed for 30 years in the Inland Empire. Mr. Klemgard has traveled over the country extensively in an automobile recently and has taken particular notice of the grain crops. He is a competent judge and inclined to be conservative. Continuing he said: "I find that the grain has not been damaged by the long dry spell, but is vigorous and of a good color. Spring grain has a good stand and there is now sufficient moisture to give it a good start. With the usual rains in June the crop will be at least an average in yield and I believe the acreage is the largest we have had." J. L. Ballard, a well-known mining man of Spokane, who farmed extensively in this county for many years, is here today. Speaking of crop conditions Mr. Ballard said: "This season is very much like 1897, when the Inland Empire produced the biggest crop in its history. I was farming extensively near Oakesdale at that time and I remember that when the rains started in June 8 much of my spring grain was not up yet. I have been over much of the Palouse country and think that grain looks better 'han usual at this time of year and I look for a bumper crop."

A Smile. is a pretty hard thing to accomplish when you're blue, bilious and out of sorts. There is a sure cure for all kinds of stomach and liver complaints—constipation and dyspepsia. Ballard's Herbine is mild, yet absolutely effective in all cases. Price 50c per bottle. A. C. Koepfen & Bros.

LIVED WITH WILD TRIBE. New York.—After two years of life among the Bahagos, a little known Philippine mountain tribe, Miss Laura Benedict of the staff of the American museum of natural history, has returned to that institution with a collection of 2100 specimens illustrating the life and customs of the tribe. Miss Benedict, who is a graduate of the University of Chicago, learned the language of the Bahagos and got on such good terms with their chiefs that she was allowed to take part in their annual religious festivals. She was adopted as a member of the tribe and given a native name.

THINKS INCUBATORS AID TO PIG CULTURE. Honesdale, Pa.—Incubators as an aid to pig culture are enthusiastically recommended by E. H. Karslake, a successful farmer who resides a few miles north of this place, in Wayne county. An experiment conducted by Karslake converted him, and it is probable that puny little pigs ushered into being on his farm hereafter will get their first glimpse of the world through the glass of his incubator. Ninety chicks had been removed from an incubator just before the birth of a litter of pigs, two of which were chilled and appeared to be dying. He placed the small piglets in the warm cozy box, and in a short time they were kicking and squealing lustily. In the meantime other members of the new family showed signs of being chilled, and they too were placed in the incubator. Karslake had no time to remove the eggshells and other debris from the incubator, and when two of his children returned from school and peeped in they saw something that caused them to yell and run helter skelter to their mother. It was hard to convince them that the pigs had not been hatched from the chickens' eggs. The patients were removed from the improvised hospital the next day and they are now in excellent health.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

Hardened sinners of both houses of congress are praying for an adjournment. Who is wrong? Mr. Bryan now absolutely dominates the house and senate—J. W. Bailey. The influence of Mr. Bryan in Washington is greatly exaggerated, despite reports to the contrary—Senator J. A. O'Gorman. The population of the state of Delaware is almost exactly the same as the number of insane in the United States in 1904. The total cost of caring for the insane in the United States is in the neighborhood of $50,000 in a year. According to members of the house committee who will have charge of the work, the proposed investigation of the treasury department will not be made in a hostile mood. Not only is the inquiry to be friendly, but it is going to have the co-operation of Secretary MacVeagh. Secretary MacVeagh has a plan for reorganizing the customs special agents and have given the work over
