FORMER PENDLETON LADY PASSES AWAY

Word was received here last night by Mrs. A. T. Matthews that her grandmother, Mrs. Matilda Scott, had passed away in Portland and that the body would be brought here for burial. Mrs. Scott was a former resident of Pendleton and was well known here. Matilda Scott was born in Pennsylvania, October 4, 1830, and died in Portland May 23, 1911, aged 80 years, seven months and 19 days. During her childhood her parents immigrated to Ohio and later to Missouri, where she married Rev. Jacob Yarbitt in 1850. Fourteen years later they crossed the plains, settling in the Willamette valley, where they remained until 1871 when they came to Umatilla county. Their first residence was on Butter creek, near Pine City, where her husband soon after died, leaving her a widow with 19 children. In 1875 she married Thomas Scott. Eleven years later they came to Pendleton, where Mr. Scott soon afterward was called "from labor to reward." All ten of her children preceded her to that "bourne whence no traveler returns," and of her ten grandchildren only Mrs. A. T. Matthews is known to be living. Mrs. Scott was a lifelong member of the Methodist Episcopal church and a member of the local church during the past eleven years. The funeral will be conducted from the Methodist Episcopal church tomorrow, Thursday, at 2 p. m., by Rev. N. Evans and the body will be interred in Olney cemetery.

INDIANS WORK ELEVEN DAYS IN THE YEAR

How would you like to work 11 days in a year at farming and the rest of the time play baseball, go fishing or lie around the house? This is what an Indian does on the reservation at Grand Ronde, Oregon, which is in the western part of Yamhill county. That region is described as a modern paradise by M. Peterson, proprietor of the Grand Ronde hotel. "It is a country," said he today, "where a very little effort brings the husbandman large returns. One can buy land there at $10 per acre, and on 40 acres the settler can run from 100 to 200 head of stock, because of the very extensive out-range, where they can have pasture the year round without cost." Mr. Peterson says the Indians are leaving their lands and are being sold to settlers. Many are coming in but there is room for many more. The Indians are honest and hospitable and never give any trouble to the white settlers. Their children and the white ones go to school together on the best of terms, and good educational facilities are provided. Grand Ronde has just organized a commercial club of 40 members, of which William Langley is president and Abe Hutchins secretary. The principal object of this club is to improve the roads in that section and it was about this matter that Mr. Peterson came to Portland. He called on the commercial club and on E. H. Wemme, of the Automobile Club, to get the support of these two organizations in building better roads.—Portland Telegram.

ECHO WOOL SALE IS NOT SUCCESSFUL

The Echo wool sale today was even less of a failure than was the one in this city yesterday, according to a telephone communication received at this office this afternoon. Only two small lots were offered for sale and the buyers did not appear interested in either of these. The Hoskins clip was one of those offered but only 9 cents was offered and this offer was refused. Only one-half of the Gilkenny clip is at Echo, the other half being at Heppner so the buyers reserved their bids until the Heppner sale. The Cunningham Sheep & Land company's clip was also shown but no sale was made.

HOLD CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS TODAY

Washington, May 24.—Civil service examinations of applicants for various government positions will be held today in cities throughout the country. The vacancies to be filled today include the following: Libraries and departmental service at Washington. Both men and women are eligible, and applicants must be proficient in cataloging and indexing and must have a knowledge of German and either French or Spanish, in addition to English. To those who can come up to all these qualifications, and a few others, Uncle Sam will pay the munificent salary of $75 per month. A veterinary inspector in the bureau of animal industry is also desired at a salary of $1,400 per annum. It is stated that considerable difficulty has been experienced in filling these positions. Applicants for jobs as laboratory assistants in the bureau of standards will also be examined today, and if successful will get $75 in their monthly pay envelopes, with possibilities of a gradual increase to $1,600 per annum. An assistant chemical engineer in forest products, at a salary of $100 per month, is wanted, and the lucky applicant will be sent to Madison, Wis. A teacher of manual training at the Pierre, S. D., Indian school, a plant physiologist at the Bureau of Science in Manila, P. I., a soil bibliographer for the Bureau of Soils in Washington, and a highway engineer for this city will also be chosen today. May not a marriage ceremony be justly called a transaction in bonds? If you are on the down hill line make haste to get a transfer.

HINES SAYS "NOT GUILTY" OF RAISING SLUSH FUND

Chicago, Ill., May 24.—Edward Hines, the president of the Lumber Manufacturers Association was heartily cheered today in the ninth annual convention of the association when he declared that he was guiltless of raising the slush fund to elect Lorimer. This is the first time he has come out voluntarily and spoke on the matter. In opening his address R. A. Long, Kansas City, declared Hines be vindicated. Intimated Hines would not run for presidency again. Everett Griggs of Tacoma, is mentioned as possible successor.

METHODISTS TO HAVE "OLD PEOPLES' DAY"

Sunday, June 4th will be the fifth anniversary of the dedication of the Methodist Episcopal church and will be observed as "Old Peoples' Day." The morning theme by the pastor, will be appropriate to the occasion, followed by a basket dinner and social hour in the parlors. At two P. M. there will be a love feast and the sacrament of the Lord's supper. Rev. John Le Cornu, chaplain of the Washington State penitentiary in Walla Walla will preach. Conveyances will be furnished for any aged persons who can not otherwise attend, provided the pastor is notified. Everybody will find a cordial welcome.

Revival Meetings.

The Free Methodists still continue to hold meetings every night in the old South Methodist church, corner of W. Webb and Aura streets. Sunday night one prayed through to victory and several others are under conviction. It is hard for formal professors to see that they are the ones who "stand in the way of sinners." There is no hope of a genuine revival in any church that does not begin with the members. "Judgment must begin at the house of God." The Spirit is working on hearts and the workers are encouraged. There will be meetings every night this week and over Sunday. Street meetings as the Lord shall lead. All are invited and all who believe in old-fashioned Bible salvation are urged to help us pray for this city. Conference Evangelist M. L. Schooley, from Kalspell, Montana, preaches every night. Rev. Guy Denny, pastor of the Free Methodist church at Athena, leads the devotional services and the street meetings. Do you read the East Oregonian?

AT THE PICTURE SHOWS

Orpheum. Pendleton's favorite picture theater, fine program for Tuesday's change. Four full reels at each performance. 1. "The Twin Towers." Edison. A powerful and exciting story of the escape of a royalist and his bride from the Paris mob during the Reign of Terror. An unusual feature of this film is that the time of action in the tower scenes coincides with the actual time consumed in their portrayal on the screen. 2. "The Romance of a Valet." Gaumont. He has a fearful encounter with a rival and attempts to end all his mortal cares by drinking from the flask his master has said is filled with poison. It later develops that the liquor was not dangerous, but particularly intoxicating. 3. "Old Folks." Gaumont. Jimmie and Tots, the famous child actors, in their latest comedy-drama. 4. "Rival Brothers' Patriotism." Pathé. Another good war story. There is a letter that goes wrong and a fight in a pass in which one brother loses his life, and is decorated with a medal of honor for gallant service. The soldiers in this film are much better than usual in moving pictures. 5. "Nan's Diplomacy." Lubin. Comedy. A wife who stays at home and does her work is the best wife. Ralph Thurston liked excitement. His wife liked to stay at home. He neglects her for a former sweetheart and she feigns insanity. Ralph finds a means of "curing" his wife and they lived happily ever after. The Pastime. The house of quality. Two full reels of Biograph pictures for Tuesday's change. "His Mother's Scarf." Biograph, length 1000 feet. A story with a touch of heart interest which grips one so strongly that the emotions are awakened. Two brothers out in the wilds of the western hills meet and fall in love with a young girl. Happily, however, just before the deed of violence, inspired by jealousy, is committed, an old present from the mother arouses other feelings and the murderer stays his hand. The story is told amid beautiful scenery and acted with all the ability of the Biograph players. "A Day and a Night." Kalem. A comedy of the present. Wife's plan to bring her husband to terms did not work because his mother interfered. And wife was severely punished for her attempt to make it unpleasant for him. The picture is unusual in offering the other side of the story. The laughing is fine, come in and enjoy it. "His Daughter." Biograph, length 1000 feet. This picture has something of the spirit and character of the old Biograph stock company's work. It is a story of love which did not have to be thwarted to make it flow true. It is as good a love story as has been told by this company in some time and the actors have caught the spirit of it so that it is interpreted in a clear manner, leaving no room for misunderstanding. "Lal Chyelm" (good luck). American Pathé. A rather pathetic picture detailing the story of the love of Abraham and Rachel. The Cosy. "The Charity of the Poor." Thanhouser. A girl is driven away from home for marrying the man of her choice. Later, per husband being dead, she returns with her child. Her father leaves the child at an asylum, telling the girl it is dead. The doctor tells him his daughter will die if her child is not returned and her father tries to find it. His auto broke down and he seeks refuge in the home of a poor couple, and there finds his daughter's child, which he brings back to his mother. "The Stampedee." Imp. The wife of a cattle rustler goes to warn her husband of the danger of arrest. She is trampled to death in a stampede, but her child escapes. In after years the daughter is captured by her bandit father, who on discovering her identity, sacrifices his life so she can escape. "Out of the Depths." Silax. A boy is cruelly treated by a brutal step-father and to save his life he is forced to become one of his father's gang of burglars. In after years the memory of his boyhood imbitters his life, but he finally proves his integrity and honor in a thrilling manner. A story full of heart interest, splendidly told. "Her Mother's Fiance." Yankee. A good comedy. A widow makes her daughter dress in kid clothes, so as not to betray the mother's age to her fiance. The story progresses through several laughable scenes, finally ending in the mother's discomfiture and the girl's triumph. Illustrated song, "In the Wildwood Where the Blue Bells Grow." "Don't miss "The Fall of Troy," Wednesday and Thursday. "Good morning, Ike, haf you heard about Jakey?" "No; vot's the matter mit Jakey?" "Vy, he's got appendicitis." "Vel, vy don't he haf it cut out?" "He can't; it's in his wife's name."
