SHERIFF TAYLOR FOILS CATTLE THIEF

Sheriff T. D. Taylor spoiled the success of one of the biggest cattle rustling cases in many years yesterday when he arrested Frank Johnson, an Indian, shortly after he had delivered ten head of cattle which he had stolen from Albert Minthorn and James Roach on McKay creek, to Ben Moss about four miles up the river from Pendleton. He was apprehended at the Stewart barn in this city just as he was about to receive the twenty dollars a head which was the price stipulated.

The sheriff received an advance tip on the case and kept a strict lookout for the thief. However, the latter stated that if he had been given two minutes longer he would have made his escape. Johnson is an old offender having been convicted of horse stealing twice in Multnomah county.

Newsy Notes of Pendleton

Child Buried at Mission.
The little child of Mr. and Mrs. W. McGinnis of Adams, which died Monday, was buried today at the mission. The little one was only six months old.

Current Literature Club.
Mrs. Norbourne Berkeley and Mrs. Thomas Vaughan will entertain the ladies of the Current Literature club tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Berkeley.

Returns to Pendleton.
Winn S. Brown, formerly a resident of this city, but who has been living in Marshfield for the past five years, has returned to Pendleton to make his home. With him he brought his wife and two children.

Accepts His Old Position.
E. M. Walsh, proprietor of the Walsh grocery, which was recently attached by creditors, has accepted his old position in the Alexander grocery. Mr. Walsh states that he will remain in Pendleton and that he will meet all of the obligations which he incurred while in business.

Dedicate Pasco Temple.
Today is a big day for the Masons in Pasco, according to Gus Bertholet, conductor of the Pendleton-Pasco local, for the ceremonies which will dedicate the new Masonic temple are being held and large numbers of the wearers of the compass and square are in attendance.

Not a Fake Report.
D. C. Brownell of Umatilla, was up from his home yesterday and confirmed the report that he is selling out his extensive holdings in the west end of the county. While the deal is not entirely closed, he says negotiations are about completed whereby he will transfer his 1200 or more acres of land to Spokane persons for a consideration in the neighborhood of $150,000.

Macques Are Arrested.
Early this morning the police conducted a raid on the house of ill-fame known as the Stock Exchange and arrested two macques, Harry H. Monroe and H. C. Kelly, who were found there. The former admitted his guilt in police court this morning and was fined $25, while the latter pleaded not guilty and was released on $50 bonds until his trial this afternoon. Judge Fitz Gerald declares he will have no leniency on this class of offenders and will give them heavy fines every time they are convicted before him.

Strawberry Day Friday.
Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week will be devoted to the annual strawberry festival at Milton and from indications it will be the biggest affair of the sort ever held in the east end of the county. Friday will be a day of particular interest and on that day a special rate of one and a third fare for the round trip will be given from Pendleton and points between this city and Milton. A 50 cent fare will be given the children. It is the belief of the management of the strawberry festival that there will be 5000 or 6000 people in Milton Friday.

Big Fish in Mill Race.
"Patronize home industry" is a motto which local fishermen bid fair to adopt when they learn of the success some of their piscatorial brethren are having within the city limits. For the past several days these wielders of the rod have been angling in the millrace and it is safe to wager that they have caught larger fish than any of the Waltonites who have taken a day's journey to the mouth of Umatilla county streams. Yesterday afternoon Polly Noble came down the street with three salmon trout each of which was over two feet in length and the day before Guy Cook landed two like whoppers.

Cooley Gets a Scare.
Carl Cooley, bookkeeper at Alexander, received a severe nervous shock yesterday from which he is hardly yet recovered. He was notified during the morning that there was a subpoena at the sheriff's office for him and he incidentally received a gentle intimation that the "officers had something on him." With much inward trepidation but with considerable outward display of injured innocence, he took his way to the court house and was handed the subpoena which was only to secure his appearance as a witness against Louis Livingston, the wholesale forger. His only remark was, "Jodo, the jobber, is broke loose again."

Roundup Buttons Come.
The advertising campaign for the 1911 Roundup was begun this morning when Lee D. Drake, manager of the advertising department, received the first shipment of Roundup buttons.

There is 10,000 in this shipment and they will be distributed at once. The button contains a central figure of "Funeral Wagon," the worst bucking horse in existence with a red-shirted broncho buster just leaving the saddle. Above are the words, "The Roundup" and below "Let 'er Buck." At one side it reads "Pendleton, Oregon," and at the other September 14, 15, 16, 1911." Attorney Will M. Peterson has the distinction of being the first to adorn his coat lapel with one of the little boosting buttons.

Strain Had Night Ride.
Assessor C. P. Strain is not in a very good humor today as the result of a bad night he put in last night. It seems that the state needs his evidence in the condemnation suit very badly and that when Attorney General Crawford heard that he was absent at his ranch out from Hermiston, he ordered the sheriff to get him here this morning at any cost. Accordingly a courier was sent out from the project town and Mr. Strain was forced to ride through the wind and rain to Hermiston after a hard day's work. He did not reach the town until 11 o'clock and was forced to arise again at 3 to catch the train for Pendleton. Hence his grouch.

Track Meet Friday.
Falling in their efforts to secure a meet Friday with the combined teams of Walla Walla high school and Pearson's academy, the athletes of the high school have arranged to hold an intrascholastic meet. The juniors have issued a challenge to the other three classes which challenge has been accepted. Round-up Park has been named as the place and Friday afternoon the time. Because of the heavy expense incurred on the recent Willamette valley trip, the track team is behind in funds and this local meet will about wipe out the deficit.

Ball Game Going On.
A ball game between the Buckaroos and the Holdman team is going on at Roundup Park this afternoon. The signs favor the locals but the farmers may have something up their sleeve.

NEW SECRETARY A PENDLETON VISITOR

OLCOTT MAKES FIRST
TRIP SINCE APPOINTMENT

Eastern Oregon Branch Hospital Will Be Modern Institution—Olcott, Not
West, Is Fighting to Oust State
Printer Dunlaway.

"Pendleton is a good town and I have always liked it," declares Ben Olcott, new secretary of state, who is now in the city in connection with the condemnation suit brought by the state against C. C. Hendricks. As Mr. Olcott is noted as one who is sincere of speech and action the compliment is all the stronger.

This is the first time that Secretary Olcott has been in Pendleton since he was appointed to office by Governor West. Ever since his appointment he has desired to come here for the purpose of viewing the branch asylum grounds. Soon after arriving this morning he was shown over the state's land by Captain Murphy and he will now be able to act as a member of the asylum board with a personal knowledge of the situation.

"We are going to build a first class institution here," he declares, "and not do a patchwork job as was done at the main asylum at Salem. We will make plenty of allowance for the growth of the institution by providing that additional wings may be added without disturbing the symmetry of the building arrangement and without loss of light or anything of that sort. At this time Architect Knighton is busy with the plans for the branch asylum and he has several men working with him. However as the state is doing some other building too, at this time, it will be several weeks before the plans will be fully completed and bids may be asked for."

The State Printer.
However, the eastern Oregon branch hospital is not the only thing that is occupying the attention of Secretary Olcott just at present. He is also busy these days striving to find room in the state house at Salem for one or two new officials created by the last legislature. As custodian of the state house it is up to Mr. Olcott to assign quarters to the various officers and he is now striving to secure more room by inducing the state printer to move his plant elsewhere. At this time the state printer in addition to earning more money per annum than do almost all the other state officials combined, is also using one-fourth of the first floor of the state house. That he is using the building without authority of law is the firm belief of Secretary Olcott and he is going to bring about a change or know the reason why. Attorney General Crawford has promised to start suit to eject the printer and the secretary of state has legal counsel which he hopes will prosecute the suit to a successful finish.

Though the last legislature passed a bill to place the state printer on a flat salary the law will not be effective for four years or until Mr. Dunlaway's term expires. By that time the addition to the capitol building will be completed and it is the intention to provide the flat salary printer with quarters within the new structure.

It Is Olcott's Fight.
"It has been erroneously stated," said Secretary Olcott, that the fight to oust State Printer Dunlaway is a personal scrap between the governor and Mr. Dunlaway. This is wrong. I am taking this move and am willing to do so on my own responsibility. I feel that I am entirely right in the matter."
