O.W.-R.&N. OFFICIALS TO BOOST ROUND-UP

PROMINENT RAILROAD MEN MAKE PENDLETON VISIT

General Passenger Agent McMurray Says Company Is Planning to Do Extensive Advertising for Round-up.

Following the visit of a number of prominent O.W. R. & N. and eastern railroad officials to the city last evening, the Roundup is now assured of the best possible kind of advertising, for the officials to a man were imbued with the "let 'er buck" spirit while here and are now confirmed boosters.

The party of distinguished railroad men arrived in the city last evening in their private cars, "Oregon" and "Ashland," from a tour of the central Oregon country and were met at the depot by the directors of the Roundup in automobiles. They were taken immediately to Roundup Park, where they were shown the improvements and preparations under way for the next wild west show and afterwards were motored over the city, concluding with a visit to the woolen mills.

General Passenger Agent McMurray, who visited the Roundup last year, was among the party and the enthusiasm which he aroused for the show last year is in nowise abated. In fact Traffic Manager R. B. Miller declared Mr. McMurray is taking more interest in the promoting of the Roundup than in any event in the northwest.

Sending Out Folders. Mr. McMurray stated yesterday that the O.W. R. & N. company is planning to do extensive advertising for the Roundup and now has a folder in the hands of the printer. These folders will be placed on all the trains of the Harriman system and will be instrumental in bringing many additional people to the city.

The cover design for the folder is now being prepared by Swingle & Wells, the Portland architects who drew the plans for the grandstand and bleachers. This design will consist of a colored drawing of the park as it will look when all of the improvements are completed.

In the opinion of the officials here yesterday, Pendleton will be called upon this fall to accommodate and entertain the largest crowd in her history.

Those in the party which visited here yesterday were William McMurray, general passenger agent for the O.W. R. & N. company, R. B. Miller, traffic manager, F. W. Robinson, general freight agent, John M. Scott, assistant general passenger agent, H. W. Lounsbury, assistant general freight agent, all of the same company, Traffic Director Bassinger and Assistant Traffic Director L. J. Spence, both of Chicago. The latter two left last night on their return east and the Oregon officials returned to Portland this morning on No. 5. The city council is also manifesting some of the Roundup spirit. Inasmuch as the city owns the park, the council has ordered the construction of a twenty-foot driveway in the park beginning at the main gate, leading back of the grand stand around the track, through the trees on the north side near the river and back to the gate.

CONDEMNATION SUIT STILL IN PROGRESS

With estimates of the value of the ten acre tract of land owned by C. C. Hendricks varying from $100 to $600 an acre, many witnesses were called today to testify in the condemnation suit, which the state has instituted to secure possession of the land in question for asylum purposes and the jury will be given a problem to solve in determining which testimony is the most expert.

Indications are that the case will go to the jury this evening, although it may be delayed until tomorrow morning. At 2:30 this afternoon the defense had its last witness on the stand and the attorneys were arguing over an objection raised to a question propounded to Frank Nudo, the young man who has been using part of the Hendricks tract for truck garden purposes.

State Treasurer T. B. Kay was on the stand most of yesterday afternoon and part of this morning.

PASTOR WILL BECOME CHAPLAIN OF HOTEL

Spokane Wash.—Rev. D. E. Wilson district missionary, has resigned the pastorate of Lidgerwood Congregational church, effective on June 1, to become chaplain of a tourist hotel in Spokane. He will preach two sermons and conduct song-praise services every Sunday in the hotel roof garden which resembles the hurricane deck of an ocean liner, and perform the ceremonies at weddings of house guests free of charge. Jacob Goetz, who originated the novelty, declares the local house is the first in the United States to have a regularly ordained minister in its employ. Rev. Mr. Wilson is a graduate of an eastern theological college and has been in the northwest several years. He has been successful in building up a large congregation at the church he is leaving. His engagement with the hotel company has been approved by district officials of the church and he will preach his farewell sermon to the Lidgerwood congregation on Sunday, May 28, going to his new charge after a brief vacation.

Newsy Notes of Pendleton

One Marriage License. A marriage license was issued yesterday afternoon to Carl Sturdivant and Muriel Martin, both of Ukiah.

Cannot Establish Lunch Wagon. Upon the recommendation of the license committee last night, the city council voted to deny the petition of T. E. Raster for permission to conduct a lunch wagon near the depot.

Robbery at Coe. The local officers have been notified that the section house at Coe station was broken into Tuesday noon and a suit of clothes, a pistol and a number of other articles stolen. There is no clue to the burglars.

Fine Score Board. Bond Bros. the well known clothiers, are having a splendid score board erected at Round-up Park which will keep the spectators in touch with the progress of the game. Large tin numbers will be hung up at the conclusion of each inning.

Tells of Big Bull Fight. W. F. Matlock has just received a copy of a booklet published by his friend E. C. Johnson of Portland and which depicts a famous Mexican bull fight. Mr. Johnson, who is head of the Portland Seed company, witnessed the fight in person while in Mexico City and he has written a very interesting account of the same.

Celestial Whips a White. The Mongolian race asserted its superiority over the Caucasian yesterday evening when Charles Young, the husky Chinaman who has been employed at the Olympia saloon for years, engaged in a fistie altercation with a white man and came out victorious. And now there is a new phase of "the yellow peril" with which local people will have to deal.

"Round-up Band" in Demand. R. W. Fletcher, manager of "The Round-up Cow-Boy" band has received a letter from the management of the Bayoceno summer resort inquiring whether or not the band could be secured for a two weeks' engagement at the Bayoceno park during the summer. Bayoceno park is one of the most popular coast resorts during the summer and it is very likely that the band will take advantage of this offer.

New Reservation Well. John Crow, well known wheat-raiser and reservation farmer, has just finished boring a well on his home ranch about three miles from the foothills. The well is 251 feet deep and the water has risen to a height of 47 feet. The water is being pumped by means of a gasoline engine and thus far it has been impossible to lower the water, so abundant is the supply.

Kearney Case Affirmed. By decree of the supreme court given Monday the decision of the local circuit court in the case of Clarence M. Kearney versus the O. R. & N. company, has been affirmed. In the circuit court Kearney was given a judgment for $2000 and the railroad company was also ordered to pay the fees of medical witnesses amounting to approximately $1000. The railroad attorneys appealed the case on the ground of contributory negligence, but have lost out before the supreme court. Judge J. A. Fee and Raley & Raley represent Kearney.

Who Has the Authority? Councilman Sharon, chairman of the sewer committee, raised a question last night at the council meeting which is not yet settled. Mr. Sharon reported that the practice of tapping sewers and making connections was becoming more or less general but that since the abolishment of the office of sewer inspector, the authority to prevent this had not been vested in any person or body. Various opinions followed, some holding it to be the duty of the chairman of the sewer committee, some of the health committee, some of the street committee, and some of the city physician. The matter was not settled but will be investigated before the next meeting.

Splendid Meeting Room. The chairs recently ordered for the large room on the second floor of the city hall have all been put in place and, at the conclusion of the meeting last night, the council made an inspection of the room. In size it is about the same as those of the various moving picture shows in the city and it has a seating capacity of 142. The rows of seats are placed far enough apart so that persons afflicted with long extremities will not be cramped for room. Councilman Montgomery (being responsible for this arrangement) the room is admirably adapted for meetings of ladies clubs and like organizations and for small conventions and there will be a great demand for it undoubtedly.

Corner Is the Last Rest. The residents of West Webb street will have to institute an action in the circuit court if they insist on fighting the construction of a livery barn in their section, for the council last night decided it had no jurisdiction in the matter. City Attorney Raley reported that the right was inherent in the city to prohibit such buildings in the entire city or in any section which might be designated as a particular residence district, but to do this latter a special ordinance declaring a certain section of West Webb street a district wherein livery stables are particularly offensive would have to be adopted. The council decided that such an action would be a bad precedent to establish. The residents however, have the right to go into the circuit court for redress and it may be that such action will be taken.

Administrator is Appointed. Frank E. King has been appointed administrator of the estate of his father, Jacob R. King, who died at Weston on May 4. The estate is valued at $15,000. Will M. Peterson is attorney for the administrator.

Sues for Divorce. Hattie L. Jones has instituted a suit in the local court for a divorce from her husband, John L. Jones. The complaint was removed by plaintiff's counsel, James A. Fee, immediately after filing and it is, therefore, impossible to state the grounds upon which the action is based.

Commercial Travelers. Tate Springs, Tenn., May 25.—United Commercial Travelers of this state opened their annual convention here today, with the largest attendance in years. The "knights of the grip" will remain three days and discuss many matters of importance connected with their profession.

Mrs. Green Wins Ticket. The free railroad ticket and Pullman fare given by the Peoples Ware house, was won by Mrs. Nate Green, 402 East Alta, with ticket No. 231. Another ticket will be given tomorrow at 3 p. m. in the same manner.

DEAF MUTES DIVORCED. Sign Language Used at Proceedings in Court.

Seattle.—For the first time in a King county court deaf mutes were divorced upon the sole testimony of deaf mutes, when Judge Wilson R. Gay, in the superior court this morning, entered a decree severing the bonds that bound Bessie Garrett and Andrew Garrett. By her attorney Mrs. Garrett offered two witnesses, Mrs. Sadie West and August H. Koberstein. Mrs. T. C. Snyder, by sign language, repeated to the plaintiff and her witnesses the oath and the question put by her attorney and gave the answers orally. News of the "noisy hearing" caused an influx of attorneys and witnesses from other departments, who followed the interpretations with the greatest interest. All the parties to the action are well educated and so deft in the sign language that the case was tried in half the time it takes to hear an ordinary divorce action where plaintiff and witness are usually voluble. The Garretts were married in Russell, Kan., and are the parents of two girls, one 5 years old and one 3. Garrett is now in Kansas City, Kan., and did not contest the suit. Mrs. Garrett alleged that her husband had not supported her, and had choked and otherwise treated her cruelly.

SEASIDE MAN IS KILLED.

John Roberts, 57, Struck by Falling Tree, Dies. Seaside, Or., May 22.—John Roberts, a prominent resident of this city, was killed Sunday by being struck on the head by a falling tree which he was felling in the yard at P. E. Stowell's home, near Locksley Hall. With Mr. Stowell, who is connected with Miller & Company, and V. J. Nelson, of the Northern Express company, both of Portland, Mr. Roberts attempted to fell a few trees. The first tree they cut lodged against another tree in falling. They then attempted to fell the tree on which the other had lodged, and as the trees moved Mr. Roberts ran under them instead of away from them with his companions. The trunk of one of the trees struck him on the head, fracturing his skull. He died instantly. The body was carried on a stretcher to the Roberts home, a mile away. A widow and six children are bereaved by the fatality. Mr. Roberts was 57 years old. His children are Thomas, John Jr., Dorothy, Mrs. Emma Baker, Mrs. William Coffman, all of Seaside, and Mrs. Ph. H. Bain of Elma, Wash.

GORGONZOLA CHEESE ROUTS ITALIAN STOWAWAY

New York.—The next time Antonio Skala leaves his sunny Italian home to visit his sister in Keokuk, Iowa, the betting is 8 to 5 that he will not choose a vessel the principal cargo of which is Gorgonzola cheese. He will make a careful inspection before he goes aboard and will be sure that his surroundings for the voyage will be of a substance less cloying to the appetite and infinitely less heavy in the nostrils. For Antonio is a persistent stowaway. This was his second effort to come to the land of the free and the home of the brave and his sister, without paying passage, and the last attempt was more disastrous to his constitution than the first. He stole aboard the Saxon of the Cunard line at Naples and made a bee line for the hold. He was in such a hurry that he did not read the markings on the cases in the hold, but found a cozy nest and fell asleep as the Saxon steamed into the Mediterranean. When he awoke he was hungry, and being a Neapolitan, the odor put an edge on his appetite. At first he was pleased with the diet that he found stored around him and ate liberally. That was on the first day. Toward the shank of the second day out the conviction began to steal on him that not only was Gorgonzola likely to grow monotonous but that the surcharged atmosphere was a trifle heavy for breathing purposes. By evening he felt like an animated Gorgonzola, and when night fell he couldn't stand any longer but burst out on deck draped himself limply over the rail and tried to take in all the ozone in 'sight. Captain Bettison ordered Antonio to be put ashore at Gibraltar, but when the Savonia stopped there he could not be found. The fourth day out he was found cuddled in the t'gallant fo'c'sle, which is at the very front of the ship. He was hauled out, fed liberally—he always refused the cheese course—and treated kindly, but he was not allowed to land in New York.

SENATE RESTAURANT DECLARED "UNREASONABLE" MONOPOLY

Washington, D. C.—Another monopoly was smashed today. It sought to dominate and control "unreasonably" the dispensation of pie. Senator Crane, acting as court of last resort, passed down the opinion. The steward of the Senate restaurant framed up and directed the monopoly. The New England Pie club was the complainant. The New England Pie club comprises as honorary members Senator Crane and all the leading lights of the Northeastern states. The active members are the secretaries of Senators and Representatives. Its program was to segregate a fund, purchase food in large quantities and have it served in the room of Representative Gardner. This was done because of the high prices prevailing in the senate and house restaurants. An emissary of the New England Pie club went to the senate restaurant for supplies. He sought to buy pie and bread at wholesale figures. He was informed by the steward that the goods would be sold only at retail prices. Thus the monopoly of the senate restaurant in pie, bread and other edibles discriminating against the New England Pie club, was oppressive and unreasonable. An appeal was taken to Senator Crane, who, as chairman of the committee on rules has jurisdiction over the restaurant. He gave a hearing to the pie club, the steward and all interested parties. In handing down his opinion Senator Crane held that the managers of the restaurant sought to monopolize the business of providing food to all persons in the senate wing of the capitol. It was also held that a conspiracy had been formed in unreasonable restraint of trade to crush the New England Pie club. In addition, "unjustifiable" discrimination had been practiced, and this restraint of trade could not be tolerated. Senator Crane took advantage of the recent supreme court decision in the Standard Oil case and applied "the rule of reason" to the New England Pie club. He held that its members must have pie. It was reasonable they should indulge in this delicacy. It was also right that it should be purchased at the senate restaurant at wholesale prices. No appeal can be taken from the decision of Senator Crane.
