 PUTS BAN ON TIPS.
 Investigation Reveals That Custom is Driving Men to Shave Themselves.
 St. Louis.—A ban was placed on tipping at a mass meeting of bosses and journeymen barbers. The action comes as a result of investigation by the officials of the International Union of Journeymen Barbers of America, representing the United States, Canada and Porto Rico.
 Barbers have for some time made a national cry because their patrons were joining the ranks of the self-shavers. The issue became so pronounced in St. Louis that the attention of the national association was called to it. And the answer comes back, after a close study of conditions throughout the country, that tipping is the reason why men shave themselves.
 The man who investigated the rapid increase of the safety razor users is James C. Shanessy, general organizer of the international union. He returned recently to St. Louis after a tour of the large cities of the United States. He immediately called a mass meeting of bosses and journeymen barbers and disclosed the secret of decreasing patronage.
 "The fault is in our own ranks," said Shanessy. "The custom of tipping has become so much abused that the barber almost forces the extra fee from his patron."
 Out of 10,000 real estate men, actual or would be, more or less, in the city, an occasional rascal must be expected.

WOMAN IN PERIL FOR CUR.
 Salem Resident Drags Her Dog from Track as Car Speeds Near.
 Salem, Or.—Devotion to a mongrel dog nearly cost a woman her life here recently.
 As an East Side street car was bowling along toward the penitentiary a dog, which was accompanying a carriage, lay down on the track in front of the car. A woman in the carriage jumped out and ran in front of the car to draw the dog away.
 The motorman succeeded in getting the car under control when it stopped within a few feet of the woman and the dog. The woman's name could not be learned.

The Misses Eugenie Scholl and Opal Callison of Echo, were in the city yesterday on a visit.
 W. H. Albee, one of the Helix wheat barons, came in this morning on the Northern Pacific.
 J. M. Hibler and son of Hermiston, were among the project dwellers in the county seat yesterday.
 Dan P. Smythe, president of the Commercial association, is transacting business in Milton today.
 J. F. Slover and wife of Milton were down from the east end of the county on a visit yesterday.
 Dan McKenzie, the well known young farmer of Adams, is transacting business in the city today.
 Mrs. John Vert left today for Portland, where she will attend the annual Rose Festival which opens Monday.
 Miss Mary Zurcher, one of Pendleton's popular teachers, left this morning for Union, where she will spend a part of her vacation.
 Frank D. Carruth, who has been visiting in Pendleton for several days, will leave this evening for Walla Walla to spend a few days with Ben Hill.
 Mr. and Mrs. Sam Osborne will leave Monday for Portland where they will attend the Rose Festival and visit their daughter, Mrs. R. C. Tracy.
 W. Winlock Steiwer, one of the young farmers on the Umatilla project, spent the night in the city, the guest of his cousin, Attorney Frederick Steiwer.
 Roy Bishop, traveling representative for the Pendleton Woolen Mills, returned last evening from an extensive trip over the country. He has been gone since last January and during his trip took in all of the southwestern states, went as far north as South Dakota, toured the middle western states and made a trip to New York, Boston and Philadelphia.

HUSBAND OF SCULPTOR SUES YALE CLUBMEN

New York.—The aftermath of the death of Mrs. Elizabeth St. John Matthews, the sculptor, who is said to have died from a nervous breakdown resulting from the rejection of a bust of President Taft, which she had modeled for the Yale club, came today in the form of a suit for $5000 brought by her husband, Robert E. Matthews of 145 West Forty-Fifth street, against W. H. Taylor of 17 Battery place; Attorney Ely of Rosenberg and William Hancock, prime movers in raising the fund with which the bust was to have been purchased.
 The $5000 is the amount the committee is said to have contracted to pay for the bust. Mr. Matthews declares that he is seeking to vindicate the professional standing of his wife Mrs. Matthews died last month and her physicians at the time declared that her end had been hastened by worry incident to the rejection of the bust.
 The committee which raised the fund did not consist entirely of members of the Yale club. It had merely decided that because Mr. Taft was Yale's most distinguished living graduate the Yale club would be a fitting place for the bust. Among the members of the committee, the executive officers of which are being sued, were former Mayor Low, Bishop B. Greer, Postmaster Edward M. Morgan, James Talbot and Lispenard Stewart.
 The contract for the bust was made with Mrs. Matthews last fall and she had the work well under way when it was signed. In December the bust in plaster form, was rejected, and from that time on the sculptor's health is said to have been seriously affected.
 Mr. Matthews, who is a dealer in paintings and sculpture, states that the bust met with the approval of George Gray Barnard, the sculptor, who wrote a special letter of commendation, the first of the kind he is said to have penned. Mr. Matthews declares that personal feeling entered into the action taken by the committee.
 Want Convention on Coast.
 San Francisco, June 1.—In order to attract conventions to the coast the western railroads have made all kinds of inducements to summer tourists, which are producing good effects. Los Angeles and San Francisco will have more conventions this year than ever before in their history and the special rates provided by the railroads are remarkably low. Summer rates on practically all the roads of this section of the country go into effect today.

AT THE PICTURE SHOWS

Orpheum.
 Pendleton's favorite picture theater. Splendid program for Friday and Saturday. Four full reels at each performance.
 1. "The Witch of the Everglades." Selig. This Indian story gives an accurate reproduction of life in the Everglades of Florida as it was during the days of the Seminole Indians. The scenery is interesting and the characterization leaves little to be desired.
 2. "Hungry Hearts." Vitagraph. This film tells the story of two children who are neglected by their parents till they are hungry for love, but they find means of awakening their parents to the situation.
 3. "The Spring Round Up." Melies. A stirring western drama with sentiment and heart interest involved. The story is well told and many interesting situations develop.
 4. "Max Makes Music." Pathe. Our old friend Max is seen ambulating down the street on pleasure bent when he is stopped by an old fellow who sells him a magic flute. All who hear the music from the reed cannot help dancing. Those who know Max can imagine the result. Puppy dogs dance the sailors' hornpipe, and a group of sweet girl graduates who are posing for a photographer fall under the mystic spell and—do they dance, well yes. On he goes, turning sorrow to joy, making every one happy, making every one happy, including the spectators of this film, which ends with Max in bed piping away on his flute, while the chairs, tables and bed do a can can around the room.
 The Pastime.
 The house of quality. For Friday's new program a good feature to offer you:
 "The Young King of Rome." Kosmik. Here is a very simple story of the little son of Napoleon which has a delightful note of originality. Played by Jimmie the famous child actor. The way he assumes the attitudes of his great father will be a joy to any audience. We have had similar stories before but no picture of the little King of Rome to compare with this. The eagle refuses a petition, the eagle pleads for the petitioner and has the pleasure of handling her the paper pardoning her son, a political prisoner.
 "Josh and Cindy's Wedding Trip." Edison. This is a comedy sketch which is filled with laughter. The acting is excellent. The Edison artists usually give very natural characterization. The parts of Josh and Cindy are both delightful as given here.

 "Indian Justice." Pathe. This is a western picture by the American company, telling an Indian love story. There is a thrilling struggle, ending with one Indian going over a precipice to his death. The victor, Leaping Elk, is captured but Swift Arrow aids in a thrilling escape and together they go to Leaping Elks home tribe, where they marry by dipping their hands in the sacred stream and vow fealty to each other.
 "Taming a Tyrant." Essanay. An interesting comedy showing how a husband was tamed into submission. The young man who conducted the taming operation made love to the daughter successfully, but even though it was ultimately disclosed that the tamer was not what he pretended to be, the effects of his work remained. The tyrant husband was gone forever.
 Cosy.
 Wednesday and Thursday.
 "The Storm." Imp. When their fishing schooner is ready to go to sea Jack goes to a saloon to find his brother-in-law, as they are both members of the crew. Jack finds his fellow sailor crazy with drink, and they engage in a fight. Meanwhile, the schooner sails without them and later a fearful storm sweeps over the sea.
 "Men of the West." Champion. A mixup occurs owing to a girl thinking a man she met is single. A single brother of the man steps into the breach and married her, disposing of a possible scandal in a satisfactory manner.
 "The Stolen Necklace." Nestor. A pleasing story logically constructed and clearly told, showing some beautiful interiors and giving a peep into the mysteries of the underworld. Very cleverly acted.
 "Foolhead Shooting." Itala. The comedian Foolhead has some exciting experiences while out hunting and his queer mistakes will make you laugh.
 "The Rubber Bath." Itala. The story of a man who took a strange bath with strange results. A good comedy.
 $50,000,000 Canal Issue.
 Washington, June 1.—Popular subscriptions are pouring in for the new issue of $50,000,000 of government bonds, the proceeds from which will be used to reimburse the treasury general fund for expenditures on account of the Panama canal. The bonds bear date of today and will draw three per cent interest from today. The loan will doubtless be largely oversubscribed and it is announced that in distributing the new securities the government will give the preference to the smaller bidders.
