Ran Auto Without License.
George R. Reed of Walla Walla did not reap the harvest he expected yesterday from the circus crowd. He was therefore required to pay the city $10 as penalty for his mistake.

Later James Hartnet, who is a friend of Ness, ventured to remark to McClaren that he regretted the affair whereupon he received a smash in the jaw. SMYTHE DEFENDS COYOTE BOUNTY LAW

SAYS COUNTY CLERK IS OFF IN STATEMENTS

Bounty Law Working Successfully and Not Abused—Heavy Fine for Breeding Coyotes—Sheepmen Will Prosecute.

Dan P. Smythe, secretary of the Oregon woolgrowers' association and who drafted the coyote bounty law now in force, is aroused over the intimation from the county clerk's office that the bounty law is being abused by men who are raising coyotes so as to collect the bounty.

"It is all bosh about men running coyote farms," says Smythe. "Under the law a fine of $1000 may be imposed upon anyone who even keeps a coyote in captivity outside a menagerie. If County Clerk Saling knows of anyone who is raising coyotes it is his duty to notify the sheriff or the prosecuting attorney. If he has any clue at all to such people and if he will give his information to the state woolgrowers' association we will have a detective get busy and investigate."

Clerk Saling, according to Mr. Smythe has never been a friend of the coyote bounty law but instead has always fought it. Other county clerks are co-operating in enforcing the law and have had deputies named in different parts of their counties so that coyote killers do not have to come to the county seat in person to get their money. Saling has never done this but on the other hand has been unduly technical in the matter. He has even objected to taking coyote hides if the toes were missing. Apparently he does not want to handle the hides.

Law is Beneficial.
"The coyote bounty law is working successfully and is proving a blessing not only to sheepmen but to chicken raisers, hog raisers and small farmers in general. It is the most natural thing in the world that many coyote hides should be brought in just now. This is the pup season and it is a splendid thing their hides are being brought in. If the coyotes were allowed to grow up they would do mischief amounting to many times the amount of the bounty."

Feeling that the coyote bounty is working for the gradual extermination of the coyote Mr. Smythe and other sheepmen object to the spreading of sentiment that the law is being abused. They scout the idea that the county is being imposed upon and would like to learn of any law violations.

be near and separated the belligerents. The third fight occurred near the Tallman drug company's store between Wayne Howard and Frank O'Neill, the latter getting a cut on the face which resulted in considerable bloodshed. Both were given beds in the city jail. McClaren was this morning fined ten dollars for assault and battery and a like amount for disorderly conduct while the case against Ness was dismissed. Howard received five days in jail for assault and battery while O'Neill paid five dollars for being drunk.

BUCKAROOS MEET ECHO TOMORROW

Confident of boosting themselves one more notch upon the percentage column, the Buckaroos will journey to Echo on the local in the morning to meet the Lizards in the third and last game between these two teams. Already the local boys have taken two from Manager Stanfield's men and, as they are stronger now than ever before, there is no reason why they should not win tomorrow's game. However, Stanfield is a resourceful manager and may slip a surprise lemon to the Pendleton bunch.

Tomorrow's games mark the beginning of the third round and Pendleton's chances loom much brighter than they did at the beginning of either of the other rounds. The team which will represent this city tomorrow is of the pennant winning calibre and Manager Nelson believes he will stow away the remainder of the games of the season.

Quite a number of fans will make the trip to Echo tomorrow and the game will be called so that they can catch the local back.

WOULD SINK MAIN WRECK.

Washington.—The wreck of the battleship Maine, in Havana harbor, will, when raised, be towed out to sea and sunk in deep water unless congress directs otherwise. Information to this effect was received by congress from Secretary of War Dickinson. He forwarded a report of the board of engineers in charge of the work of raising the Maine.

The board recommends that when the wreck is raised it shall be stripped of all material of value and the remains "towed out to sea and be sunk in deep water." In his letter of transmittal, Secretary Dickinson said that he had approved the recommendation of the board.
