Moscow, Idaho, June 10.—Professor H. A. Wadsworth, a graduate of the department of forestry at the University of Idaho, who has been teaching the last year, has been selected to superintend a body of students and the work of stump blasting with dynamite at the experiment station at Clagstone, Idaho. This work is intended for the benefit of the farmers who are interested in the stump lands of northern Idaho as well as for the instruction of the students.

Dean Carlyle, director of the Idaho experimental stations, will direct the work, which will be one of a number of experiments in the stump lands of Idaho, which will be the subject of a bulletin when sufficient data have been secured.

AT THE PICTURE SHOWS

Orpheum.

Pendleton's favorite picture theater. Good program for Friday and Saturday.

1. "The Puncher's New Love." Essanay. A western drama with scenes laid both in the east and west. It tells the story of a cowboy who deserts his western sweetheart for a girl from the east. The story is clear and the acting is splendid.

2. "The Country Lovers." Biograph. A bucolic joke that kicked back. Two farm boys imagined that the best way to make an impression upon their sweethearts was to pose as heroes. See this picture and have a good laugh.

3. "The Carnival." Kalem. This is a drama of artistic life and people in Paris. The background is Bohemian. The scenes are all interesting and the acting is excellent. Its atmosphere suggests culture, even elegance.

4. "Satan Defeated." Pathe. Robert of Normandy is in love with the daughter of the Duke of Messina and they are secretly betrothed. Satan, however, wants the soul of Robert and causes him much sorrow and trouble. When Robert fights a duel Satan changes his face into many horrible masks and when playing at dice the dice are transformed into frogs, lizards and the like. Finally as the price of freedom from such annoyances Satan tries to bargain for Robert's soul. But he refuses. The marriage occurs and as the couple leave the church Satan again appears and attempts to drag Robert down with him to eternal darkness, but the fearless fellow seizes and waves aloft the crucifix and Satan disappears forever.

5. "The House of Quality." A Kalem feature for Friday's change.

"The Loyalty of Don Luis Verdugs." Kalem. The story given here is of California in the days of 1848 after Southern California had been ceded to the United States. It represents a Spanish Don objecting strenuously to domination of the new government and refusing to haul down the Mexican flag. A love episode begins between the Don's daughter and an American lieutenant, with corresponding jealousy on the part of the Mexican. The setting is picturesque, much of the action taking place around a house more than 100 years old. The girl rides for help and the soldiers ride to the ranch are features which rouse enthusiasm in the audience.

"The Belated Bridegroom." Lubin. A long list of harrowing accidents which happened to a man on his way to his wedding are related in this story, and the worst of it all he was too late for his own wedding. "The audience plainly expressed its enjoyment of the poor man's troubles and the surprising ending."

"My Daughter." American Co. Pathe. A young army officer is in love with a beautiful girl and finally proposes and is accepted. When the parents are told, the father takes the Lieutenant aside and tells him that the girl is not his daughter, but a ward bound out to him by the girl's mother. The lieutenant doesn't care. He loves her and all goes well until the wedding day, when the unexpected happens by the arrival of the real mother and we have a startling finish. "Father's Birthday Ring." Lubin. The ring made trouble at first, but finally brought happiness.

"Woman's Curiosity." Lubin. It caused a great flurry and all about a gas bill.

The Cosy.

Three great Western stories for Friday and Saturday.

"West with a Strong Plot and Full of Heart Interest." A young lawyer sets about to prove the innocence of an old drunkard and succeeds in an original way. He wins the love of the daughter but he meets death in a highly dramatic manner. The sensational plunge over the falls by the victim of the wrath of villains is one of the most thrilling pictures ever thrown on the screen.

"Vindicated." Thanouser. The story of a convict who proved his honesty very unexpectedly and thereby won the love of a minister's daughter. But he was continually hounded by his past record and they went to a place where he and his past were unknown, where they began a happier life.

"She Wanted a Man With Brains." Champion. A Western comedy drama. A cowboy fell madly in love with the new school m'am and after saving her from a runaway horse he proposed but was coldly rejected as "she wanted a man with brains." Angered by his harsh treatment the cowboy left the ranch and studied law, became a great lawyer and later met the teacher who was anxious to marry him, but it was his time to do the frigid act. A breezy story of Western life.

"A Gamble With Love." Powers. A Nevada love story with the dash of the West. The woman's first love reappeared at a critical moment, but she decides to stay with her husband and child. The scene where the husband appears while the former lover is pleading with the wife to go away is unusually dramatic. A story of great interest.

Illustrated Song: "Helene Waltzed Round on His Hickory Limb."
