HOW TO MANAGE HOG CHOLERA CASES

Dr. W. H. Lytle, state veterinarian, reports a prevalence of cholera among the hogs in the Athena country and is making a hard fight to stamp out the dread disease. In order that the farmers, whom he has not seen personally, may know how to proceed, Dr. Lytle cites the following articles to them:

The Nebraska experiment station in a bulletin states the following: "Carcases of hogs which have died from cholera should be at once burned or buried deeply and covered with quicklime. Separate the sick from the well hogs and divide the well hogs into two or more groups and separate them as widely as practicable. As the system through the digestive tract the line of prevention is well marked. All feed and drinking troughs should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected. (Illinois Sheet Metal Works, Bushnell, Ill., make a splendid metal hog trough and Minors Disinfectant of Cleveland, O., are articles to be thoroughly recommended.) If the troughs are of metal holding them over a blaze will be effective. Streams that do not rise on the home farm should be suspected as a possible carrier of infection and for this reason water from wells should be given. Feed sparingly. Where hog cholera serum is used the hogs should remain in the infected yards."

The U. S. bureau of animal industry in a bulletin stated: "Treatment is not always satisfactory—prevention of an outbreak should be relied upon, rather than the cure of sick animals. The following formula has been successful in less virulent outbreaks when properly administered as soon as signs of sickness are shown: Wood charcoal, 1 pound; sulphur, 1 pound; sodium chloride 2 pounds; sodium bicarbonate 2 pounds; sodium hypophosphate, 2 pounds; sodium sulphate, 1 pound; antimony sulphide (black antimony), 1 pound. These ingredients should be completely pulverized and thoroughly mixed. In case of profuse diarrhoe the sulphate of sodium may be omitted. A large tablespoonful once a day for each of two hundred of live weights of hogs to be treated is a dose. The medicine should be thoroughly mixed with feed, which should be soft, made of bran and middlings, corn meal and ground and sifted oats, or crushed wheat mixed with hot water. If the hogs are too sick to come to the feed they should be drenched by pulling the cheek away from the teeth and pouring the medicine in slowly—care should be exercised, as hogs are easily suffocated by drenching. Do not turn a hog on its back to drench it."

PLUMP FOLKS AND THIN FOLKS
Samosee Will Make People Fat—"Money Back If It Fails," Say Koeppe Bros.
The line of beauty is a curve. Women may be thin and graceful, but not thin and beautiful. There is a vast number of pale, thin, scrawny people who are all brains and nerves, but without the health and strength that accompanies the standard weight. Good flesh and perfect health go together. A true flesh-forming food like Samosee is absolutely necessary to many people.

This remarkable discovery comes in tablet form and when taken after meals mingles with the food and helps it to assimilate so that it makes rich blood and pleasing plumpness. Koeppe Bros. have so much confidence in this remarkable flesh-forming food and health restorer that they are willing and glad to allow any customer to deposit 50c with them and take home a box of Samosee with the understanding that if it does not give a marked increase in good firm flesh the money will be returned without any questions. Take advantage of this offer. The risk is all theirs and you have almost the certainty of a pleasing gain in plumpness.

LOVE LAYS BLAME TO WIFE'S MOTHER

BAKER SEES OPENING OF BIG DIVORCE TRIAL

Husband Tells of Presents to Wife and Charges Bad Habits—Tells of Married Life in England and the Care of the Child.

Baker, Or., June 14.—Sidney C. Love placed the blame for the troubles that have arisen between him and his wife upon his mother-in-law, Mrs. Francis Burnes, in the hearing before Referee C. P. Murphy, in the Love divorce trial yesterday. He said that they were friendly even after they moved to England after his failure as a broker. He admitted that there had been minor differences but that they had assumed no serious significance until late in the summer of 1909, when her mother had had an opportunity to destroy this condition. This testimony was strenuously objected to by Benjamin Tuska, Mrs. Love's New York counsel.

Mrs. Love sat by the side of her attorneys and frequently directed them to object to some of the testimony and made other objections. She was cool and collected and at times looked at the plaintiff as he was giving his testimony, with elevated brows. Mrs. Burnes, Mrs. Love's mother, was nervous and her eyes sparkled at times when Love referred to her in his testimony. Mrs. Mary Madison Love, the plaintiff's mother, and Miss Elizabeth Love, his sister, were interested spectators. The plaintiff showed strong emotion as he told of the refusal of his wife and mother-in-law to permit him to see the child, and he described his feelings when accused by them that he was the cause of the child's illness.

After a hard tilt between opposing counsel, Love was permitted to read the contents of a memorandum of the letter he wrote Mrs. Love from London, where he had gone to engage passage for himself and his wife and child to America. "I wrote Marjorie," the memorandum reads, "and told her that I refused longer to live in her mother's house. I had called to see her three times and would call again, and asked her to meet me with the child in her arms or I would leave with the child in my arms."

At the last visit, Love testified, he told Mrs. Love that if she would get up in the morning and nurse the child instead of lying abed and smoking cigarettes until after lunch she would be in a better position to criticize him and blame him for the child's ill health. Love told about the gifts he had made his wife, as follows: A 1000 coat, $25,000 in jewels in 14 months and $18,000 in cash just before he broke in business.

A ripple of laughter swept over the courtroom when Love on being questioned as to his relations with the Burnes family before the marriage, said that he had known the family for 10 or 12 years, and added, apparently as an after-thought, that he had been engaged at one time to Mrs. Elizabeth Byram, an aunt of his wife. His voice choked with sobs and his face showing the depth of his emotion, Sydney Love told of his efforts to assist the nurse in caring for the child Muriel, while on cross-examination, which began at 11:30 this morning, Attorney Tuska for Mrs. Love, made a hard effort to establish Love's residence in New York. He attempted to show that defendant voted there for Taft in 1908, Love asserting that he was a democrat and would not have voted for Taft any way. He also testified that Mrs. Marjorie Burnes Love wrote his mother a letter, stating "that she was of no use to him and wondering why Sidney did not trade her for a yellow dog."

A California miner, arrested for celebrating too hilariously, declared that his hilarity was due to a spider bite. We look for a sudden increase in the popularity of the spider.

Frisco Defeats Sacramento.
Sacramento, Cal., June 14.—For seven innings it looked as though costly errors on the part of San Francisco's infield and phenomenal fielding on the part of Sacramento's infield would give the locals the first game of the series, but in the eighth Fitzgerald weakened and the visitors put the game on ice, winning by a score of 6 to 2. Dallas, Tex., June 13.—The sale of the International and Great Northern railroad, postponed from last month by order of Judge McCormick of the United States circuit court is scheduled for today. It is practically certain that the mortgage holders will buy the road. At one time it was rumored that Booker T. Washington, with a number of negro capitalists, had planned its purchase to give negro labor employment.
