

ARE WE RIGHTLY ACCUSED?

In answer, will say, we are glad to carry the burden of bringing down the prices on high-class merchandise. People first thought it was impossible to run a business without having these so called sales, hot air advertising schemes, etc., but as you have noticed, the Golden Rule Store is growing every day. Why? Because our buying power for 28 busy stores enables us to undersell all competition. Seeing is believing, and all we ask is a comparison, quality for quality, price for price. It is a common remark to hear people say, "I have thrown my catalogue in the corner since the Golden Rule Store opened." Bear this in mind, the Fourth of July is coming and you are going to need a new outfit from head to foot. When you buy, buy right.

SONNET.

O Earth! Thou hast not any wind that blows
 That is not music. Every weed of thine,
 Pressed lightly, flows in aromatic
 wine;
 And every little hedgerow flower that grows
 And every little brown bird
 that doth sing,
 Hath something greater than itself, and bears
 A living word to every living thing.
 Albeit it holds the message unaware.

"SWAT THE FLY."

In his lecture last evening Dr. Calvin S. White, state health officer, explained in a graphic way the evils of the fly. The fly is a terrible menace to human health and may properly be considered a more dangerous enemy to man than all the wild animals of the jungle combined. He is an insidious foe and does deadly work without being detected by the casual observer. In fact it is only during recent years that the fly has been shown up in his true light as a spreader of disease.

Vast good should result from the visit to the city of the state health officer. While the audience which heard his lecture was not as large as it should have been there were sufficient people there to bring about an effective crusade for better conditions within the city if they will but do so. The ladies civic club was well represented and it is fitting for that organization to lead in the anti-fly campaign. It is a subject pertaining particularly to the field of domestic science.

In Pendleton as in almost all other places the work of protecting public health is sadly neglected. We practically have no such thing as an inspection of dairies, markets or of general sanitary conditions. There may be a city health officer but if so he is never heard from. All the good any health officer has ever done in Pendleton could be marked down upon a small book.

To adequately protect the health of the people there should be thorough inspections of dairies and market places. Grocery stores and meat shops should be adequately screened so as to guard against flies. Manure and refuse piles should be abolished and other steps taken to promote cleanliness. The paved streets should be flushed at night instead of merely swept. The flushing of the streets is of especial value in the summer time.

What is of greater importance still is the more thorough education of the public to the necessity of maintaining good sanitary conditions and of abolishing the fly. Had every woman in the city attended Dr. White's lecture last night a revolution would quickly occur in the handling of local affairs. The unfortunate thing about the lecture last night was the fact that a majority of those present already appreciated the importance of the subject and were already heeding the advice that was given. Those who needed enlightenment most were not present.

Here's speed to the "swat the fly" movement. Eliminate the fly and you will bring about the greater health and happiness of the human family in general.

THE REMEDY FOR DISORDER.

It is a fortunate thing that the state law against rioting provides that when men engage in a riot in which a felony is committed they may be charged with that felony even though it be committed by only one of their number.

A riot in a crowded section of a city is much like a fire. When it starts no one can foresee what the results may be. Innocent people are as liable to suffer as are those directly involved. Men who start riots are as dangerous to society as are incendiaries. They deserve heavy punishment.

In holding the Italians who were in the Main street riot last Friday and in charging them with violating the state law against rioting Deputy District Attorney Pruitt is doing absolutely right. He would be remiss in his duty if he did otherwise. For the prosecuting officers or the courts to be weak or cowardly in the enforcement of the law would mean to place a premium on further stabbing and on that antidote for such disorders---mob violence.

Pendleton is a peaceful home town and it wants no more riots and no lynching bees. The way to avoid such is for the officers, both police and judicial, to hold true to the vigorous course they have followed thus far and to do their duty thoroughly regardless of any suggestions misquoting or white haired folk may have to the contrary.

AN ELEVENTH HOUR MAN.

By the death of the late George W. McBride a stirring chapter in the political history of Oregon is recalled. McBride became United States senator from Oregon during the last hour of the famous deadlock in which the legislature was engaged when J. N. Dodph was defeated for reelection in 1895.

During the entire 40 days of the session the members of the house and senate had balloted in vain for senator. Though the republican caucus had endorsed Dolph for reelection a band of 20 bolted the caucus and refused to stand for Dolph's reelection. During the 40 days various candidates were brought forth but the opposing element in the republican party were unable to unite until after midnight on the closing day of the session when McBride was chosen. Until the news of McBride's election went forth few people even knew he was a senatorial possibility. His name had scarcely been mentioned in connection with the senatorship.

Though Senator McBride had an honorable record as a member of the upper house the circumstances of his election were such as to furnish a powerful argument for the adoption of statement No. 1 and for taking the election of senators away from the legislature.

There has long been complaint that so few trains in and out of the city carry mail and therefore the announcement that No. 17 will henceforth take mail will be welcomed by businessmen. Time is money these days.
