STANFIELD DIKE MAY NOT BE BUILT

(Special Correspondence.)
Stanfield, Ore., June 26.—The men who have been working just below Stanfield digging test pits for the purpose of determining the depth to bed rock, which work has been going on for some time under the direction of the U. S. reclamation service engineers, have discontinued their efforts here. Numerous tests were made but the efforts to find the bed rock have been fruitless. This work has been carried on with a view to including in the estimate the cost of the proposed west Umatilla extension and probable cost of a dike with a concrete core along the west side of town. In order to make this dike of any service at all in protecting this city against the rise of water in the proposed reservoir, it would be absolutely necessary to have the concrete wall rest upon a bed rock foundation. The tests have been made to a depth of 40 to 50 feet but in no instance has bed rock been reached, there being 20 to 30 feet of volcanic ash soil, the remainder of the boring being through clay and cement gravel. At the new school house site the well that was recently drilled is 22 feet deep and no bed rock was struck, so it seems very improbable that it will not be considered by the engineers of the U. S. reclamation service as feasible to build the proposed dike for the reason that the depth to bed rock, while not known at this time, is too great to justify even a report favoring its construction. The length would be about one and one-half miles.

SUGGESTIONS FOR MILADY.
JELLED TONGUE—Smoked tongue is delicious served in an aspic jelly border. Put the tongue in a mold or dish and tie a string around so the two ends will nearly meet; try to have the string hidden by putting it as near the bottom as possible. Soak one box of gelatine in a cupful of cold water for an hour. Put into a saucepan one quart of consommé or good soup stock, or if in a hurry use a couple of teaspoonfuls of beef extract to a quart of water; add a couple of slices of onion, a stalk of celery, a couple of bay leaves, a little spice and some salt and pepper. Simmer gently for ten or fifteen minutes, then add the soaked gelatine. Stir until dissolved, strain and pour this around the tongue and let it harden, then garnish the dish with cucumbers.

Locating Experiment Farm.
Salem, Ore.—Joseph Buchtel has made arrangements for the purchase of ten acres adjoining the monument erected at Campjeon in memory of the provisional convention which saved the Oregon country to the United States. This tract will be added to the three acres the state already owns there for a state park surrounding the monument. At a meeting of the men interested this week it was decided to raise $1200 in 1909 subscriptions, buy the land and ask the legislature two years hence to appropriate enough to repay the money advanced for the land and construct buildings.

CONSTANT ACTIVITY IN STREET IMPROVEMENTS
Necessarily, a hardship on a few in every city, but they are generally willing to stand it for the benefit of the many.
Commenting upon the reactionary spirit that is slightly apparent in La Grande in opposition to the so much street improvement, the La Grande Observer voices the sentiment of every city of experience in the following editorial:
"There is not the least doubt that many taxpayers do feel the heavy expense of improvement, and in some cases it is working more or less of a hardship on them. But the fact remains, if La Grande is ever to be the city we all claim for her, improvements must be made. The same history has applied to every city in the country. When the time came for improvement it hit some very hard, but later no one would think of abolishing the improvement for the expense incurred.
"Now regarding bitulthic pavement, the Observer believes in getting the best pavement at least money for the people. So far as known, bitulthic pavement, when properly laid, is recognized as the best pavement. This is not a boost for bitulthic; it is a statement of cold fact which any individual can ascertain by proper research. Kansas City, Mo., has just finished an investigation of different pavings from an economic point of view, and although bitulthic has been used little in that city the board of investigation has decided it is the best pavement now on the market. But bitulthic must be properly laid to give results."
In La Grande we feel, as we have always felt, that the city council made no mistake in selecting bitulthic as the hard surface pavement of the city.

Hood River, Ore.—Frank Carroll, the small son of J. H. Carroll, a surgeon of Seattle, who is here spending the summer at the home of his aunt, Mrs. J. H. Sutthoff, in the Oak Grove section, while playing in a barnyard Wednesday afternoon where a Japanese laborer was adjusting a new mower preparatory to cutting a hop patch, became entangled in the blades of the machine and sustained serious injuries. Both legs were terribly mangled. The Japanese quickly bound the bleeding limbs and the lad was rushed in an automobile to the hospital here, where he is reported to be resting well.
