NEW SCHEDULES ARE RECEIVED

Pacific Power & Light Company's New Lists Complied to Laymen

DR. VINCENT MAKES EXPLANATION OF SAME

Local Patrons Furnished With Copies of New Rate Schedule Which Becomes Effective July 1—Local Manager Says Gas Cannot Be Cheaper Here—Free Installation at Walla Walla for 30 Days Only

Printed schedules showing the new rates to be charged by the Pacific Light & Power company after July 1 have been received and today a copy of the new schedule has been mailed to each consumer in the city. The new schedule is a complicated affair and to the uninitiated will seem difficult of analysis...

In response to a request that he furnish the public, through the East Oregonian, with an explanation of the new schedule, Dr. F. W. Vincent, local manager for the Pacific Power & Light company has submitted the following:

Pendleton, Oregon, June 26, 1911. Editor East Oregonian:

Dear Sir:—We take pleasure in enclosing you the new schedule of rates issued to all places supplied by the Pacific Power & Light Co. with electrical current for lighting and power purposes. The basis upon which these rates have been worked out is upon the principle of demand load wired in, and the use as to time, also as to quantity. It stands to reason that the man who demands of you twenty horsepower of current, to use when he pleases, and as long as he pleases (possibly only one hour per day) should pay more in proportion for the current consumed than the man who demands twenty horsepower of current and uses it ten hours each and every day. Thus speaking broadly, if one man has twenty K. W. wired in and uses all his load two hours in the day he will pay 12 cents per K. W. hour. On the other hand if he uses his demand load four hours in the day he will pay only 9c per K. W. hour. In all cases the new schedule is not going to decrease the present price paid; this being caused by the demand in comparison to the use in hours, being so great. The new schedule reduces the minimum demand from $1.50 to $1.00; this alone is going to bring the lights within the reach of many who before have denied themselves the pleasure, as well as the economy of the same. While our initial charges before were 17 cents, they are now 12 cents, a reduction of nearly 33 per cent. You will also notice that no listing is made of flat irons, fans, heating or any other electrical appliances, this acting to bring the consumer to the 8 cent rate as soon as possible. The new schedule embraces flat rates on window and ornamental lighting on year contracts, lights burning till twelve at very reasonable rates. There are also flat rates for all commercial houses that wish to avail themselves of them. I am of the opinion that the rates as published will materially decrease the company's gross revenue in the city as a whole, although they may raise the rates of a few. To me, it looks impossible to get out rates that would conform to the many rates the different cities the Pacific Power & Light Co. serve and not hurt some one although the utility as a whole would profit by the change. Our officers have been gathering data and working on this schedule for months, so as to get off as near as possible, right the first time. There are some schedules undoubtedly, to come out yet to meet certain conditions that may arise, and I am sure that such conditions will be generously met by our company. The prices upon the motor load are made upon the same condition as the lighting so I think needs no special mention. As to prices on gas? We certainly see no way to make any reduction on that commodity at present, except where it is used in large quantities, as it is costing us as much to manufacture it as we are getting for it. The reduction would come, however, if we could get a good rate on crude oil into Pendleton, so oil gas could be made here as in Portland. Another condition which would lead to a reduction is: That every one cook with gas. These rates will be sent out to every consumer, and it will give the office pleasure to explain all rates not understood by those interested. Believing these rates will be satisfactory to all when properly tried out, Free installation of pipe is made at Walla Walla for a 30 days publicity campaign only. I remain truly yours, F. W. VINCENT, Local Manager Pendleton.
