BULLET KILLS DOG; GIVES WOMAN RABIES.

Newark, N. J.—Mrs. Pasquale Pastine of this city, is in a hospital here suffering from rabies as the result of a slight bullet wound in the head. The bullet, fired by a policeman at a mad dog, passed through the dog's head before it grazed Mrs. Pastine's forehead and apparently carried the germs of the disease with it.
Mrs. Pastine was injured while sitting on the front steps of her home. The policeman had chased the mad dog up to the second floor of the adjoining house and out on to a fire escape.
There he grabbed it by the neck, carried it down stairs and while he held it with one hand fired four shots from his revolver.

BRIDE'S PARENTS ARE SUE.

Spokane Man Who Stole Girl Seeks $2,500.
Spokane, Wash.—After playing the part of a modern Lochinvar, stealing Clara Kimm, his sweetheart, away from the family home in an automobile, being arrested as he was applying for a marriage license, lying in jail for two days in default of $500 bail and finally being brought to trial only to emerge triumphant and wed the girl despite parental objection, Hermann Schneider is today adding the extremely modern touch of his romance by suing his wife's parents for $2,500 damages.
One evening last week Schneider appeared at the Kimm home with a big automobile. The girl donned her street clothes, skipped out of the house and into the automobile and was whisked away.
Schneider and Miss Kimm applied for marriage license June 8, and just as it was about to be issued the parents appeared with a policeman and Schneider was arrested on a warrant, accusing him of having trespassed on the Kimm premises and abducting Clara.
Schneider was thrown into jail, and in default of $500 bail had to spend two night in a cell. He had no trouble in proving that Miss Kimm was of legal age, and was discharged.

MAUD WAS GOING HOME.

She Gazed at Signboards and Resented Interference.
Logansport, Ind.—Hert Hyman was the owner of a mule named Maud, which showed great affection for its owner and deep hatred for all others. Recently he sold the mule to John Volper, sheriff of Miami county. Volper found the barn door shattered. Maud was missing. Being state president of the Horsethief Detective association, he asked the assistance of members of the association throughout Miami, Cass and Howard counties in recovering her.
Maud was found near Clymers station, standing at the junction of two roads, gazing at a signboard which read: "Logansport five miles." Ten or fifteen members of the Cass County Horse Thief Detective association spent an hour trying to capture her, and then sent for Hyman. When he arrived Maud brayed loudly in welcome and ran to him, placing her nose under his arm.
Hyman says she was homesick in Peru and started back to him, and after reading the crossroads sign she would have been in Logansport and in his barn in a half-hour.

CRAZED ACROBAT ON WIRE.

Philadelphia People Amazed at Stunts of Dominick Borro.
Philadelphia, Pa.—Residents along Reed street, between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets, were startled early in the morning at the sight of a man swinging from the electric light wires just outside their windows, going through all the evolutions of an accomplished acrobat and seemingly unmindful of his danger. The frail wires swayed and threatened to snap at any moment, but the man continued his contortions thirty feet above the pavement.
Policeman Foley of the Fifteenth and Jackson street station was attracted by the cries of spectators. He climbed the electric light pole and tried to induce the man to abandon his perilous perch. For a time it looked as if both would be dashed to the street, but finally Foley succeeded in getting the man to the ground.
Taken to the station house, he gave the name of Dominick Borro, 37 years old, 1515 South Clarian street. Later he was sent to the city hall, where police surgeons will make a mental examination.

A State Secret.
"I hope your husband has no secrets from you."
"Not many. However, he never would tell me what he paid for the engagement ring." — Kansas City Journal.

INTERSCOLASTIC MEET IS NOW ON

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 27.—Hat bands that can be heard a block, socks and cravats that would make a rainbow look pale and other miscellaneous riotous attire, draped on the persons of several thousand young men whose main object in life seems to be to imitate the noise of a hundred boiler factories in full operation, served to warn the inhabitants of Poughkeepsie this morning that the day of the annual interscollegiate boat race on the Hudson had arrived.
"Columbia Ra ra Ra Columbia!"
—Just like that—heralded the advent of a mob of youngsters from New York who affected a color scheme of light blue and white. They got a defiant answer from a carnelian and white crowd whose battlecry was "Cornell! I Yell, Yell, Yell! Cornell—" The "I Yell, Yell, Yell!" seemed a superfluous bit of information, since it was perfectly obvious to all not deaf and blind. Another human tornado with orange as its favorite color got off with deafening frequency a sound that resembled "Tip, Roo, Rah! Hip, Hoo, Rah! Syracuse! Syracuse! Rah-rah-rah." Smaller contingents from Pennsylvania, wearing red and blue, and Wisconsin affecting a gory cardinal, announced with violence the names of their institutions, coupled with sundry "rahs."

Multitudes of young women, scarcely less enthusiastic than their brothers, and numerous color-bedecked men old enough to know better, early assembled on the scene to witness the annual struggle for aquatic supremacy. The Cornell adherents had the best representation and made the most clamor, as they had a right to do, the Itahaca institution having made a clean sweep of the interscollegiate regatta for the last two years.
The four-oared race will start the program at 3:30 this afternoon, with four crews entered, Syracuse has drawn course No. 1, Cornell No. 2, Pennsylvania, No. 3 and Columbia No. 4.
The freshman race will begin at 4:15 with Cornell in No. 1, Columbia No. 2, Discosin No. 3, Syracuse No. 4 and Pennsylvania No. 5.
In the 'varsity race, the big event of the day, scheduled to start at 5:30 Pennsylvania has drawn No. 1, while Columbia has second position, Syracuse No. 3, Cornell No. 4, and Wisconsin No. 5, on the outside.
Cornell has only two men left of last year's victorious crew, and Courtney has been playing in bad luck all around. The Cornell freshmen eight, which won in 1908, was made, with two exceptions, the 'varsity eight of the following year, and won a close race from Columbia. Last year, with six of the eight original freshmen still in the boat, Cornell won again. Since then one defection after another has riddled the crew and forced Courtney to make his crew out of raw material. Columbia's eight has also been shot to pieces, and the Badger crew has been little better off in this respect.

PLEASURE RESORT HORROR.
Wharf Collapses and Hundreds Fall With Debris.
Montreal.—Through the collapse of a wharf at King Edward's park, a pleasure resort on Isle Gros Bois, 12 miles from here, between 50 and 60 persons were injured. The collapse occurred when the wharf was packed with hundreds of pleasure seekers awaiting a ferryboat to convey them to Montreal. The crowd tried frantically to retreat, but its members were so closely massed that escape was impossible, and hundreds plunged down in the midst of shattered beams and planks. So far no death has been reported and it is believed nobody was fatally injured. Broken limbs seemed to be the most serious hurts sustained.

AMERICANS PICKED TO WIN.
Records Made by Yale and Harvard Better Than Oxford.
New York.—Records compared of the Yale and Harvard athletes with those of Oxford and Cambridge show the Americans will have the better chance to win the Anglo-American meeting in England July 11, if the past achievements can count for anything in doping out futures.
The four Americans entered have made marks of ten seconds flat in the 100 yards and the Yankees are credited with better time in the quarter, half and mile events. The Englishmen hope to discard the shotgun and two mile run and substitute a three mile event which is unknown here.
