SAYS THEY TOOK FUNDS.

Jury Indicts L. J. Wilde and W. C. Morris at Portland.

Portland, Ore.—An indictment jointly charging Louis J. Wilde and W. Cooper Morris with the larceny by embezzlement of $30,000 of the funds of the suspended Oregon Trust and Savings bank, was returned today by the county grand jury following an investigation conducted by District Attorney Cameron.

A bench warrant was issued for the arrest of Wilde, who is in San Diego, Cal. Morris is in the state penitentiary at Salem serving a six year sentence in connection with the failure of the bank.

The indictment is based on an alleged transaction between Wilde and Morris and the Oregon Trust and Savings bank, in which Wilde is alleged to have disposed of about $500,000 of Omaha Home Telephone bonds as the alleged agent of the Union Telephone Construction company. The transaction is said to have occurred about three months before the failure of the bank, which closed its doors in August, 1907.

GOLDEN RULE PROPRIETOR LEAVES FOR THE EAST

Mr. A. D. Frost, proprietor of the Golden Rule store of this place, left yesterday morning for New York city and other eastern markets.

He was joined here by Mr. Hayre of Walla Walla, and they will meet the rest of the buyers of the Golden Rule Syndicate (altogether 12 in number) in Ogden, Utah, from which place they will go direct to Chicago, thence to New York city, where they will meet Mr. J. C. Penney, who has been in the market for some weeks.

These buyers who have been long schooled in the best markets the United States can afford, are continually striving to buy the best merchandise for the least money and the people of Pendleton have the advantage of the strenuous efforts of these able men.

Watch closely for the great savings at the Golden Rule store.

Sprains require careful treatment. Keep quiet and apply Chamberlain's Liniment freely. It will remove the soreness and quickly restore the parts to a healthy condition. For sale by all dealers.

Orpheum.

Pendleton's favorite picture theater, Edison feature film for Friday and Saturday:

1. "The Cardinal's Edict." Edison. This film tells a stirring story of love and intrigue during Cardinal Richelieu's regime at the court of France. It should appeal to all lovers of the romantic drama. The settings are elaborate and true to detail.

2. "Forgiven in Death." Essanay. A western drama. The work of the actors is up to the usual Essanay standard and will interest all who view it.

3. "Dave's Love Affair." Biograph. Dave is sweet on May and she likes him, so while he is sitting with her on the front steps, his boy pal gives a trick on him by sending him a note about a certain Clarice. Dave now realizes that the course of true love never did run smooth.

4. "Their Fates Sealed." Biograph. This is indeed the most unique comedy ever portrayed in motion pictures. Don't fail to see it.

5. "The Outbreak." Selig. Two young women of a nearby ranch are riding, when, seeing a man lying in the road, one of them dismounts and finds the man is dead. As she turns to tell her friend they are set upon by the Indians and are carried off.

A rancher, who has escaped the Indians, rides to arouse his neighbors. Coming to the girls' home he tells the news. Bob and Bill ride away and come across the man the girls had seen in the road. Bob discovers a comb belonging to one of them. They ride frantically back to the ranch, where cowboys and ranchers are now gathering. The two boys change horses and guide the horsemen, accompanied by two Indian scouts. They soon overtake the marauding Indians.

They leave their horses and follow on foot. They open fire on the Indians. Taking advantage of an opportune moment, they gain the center of the camp and seize the two Indians who are guarding the girls, hurl them into the river. The rest of the Indians commence firing, only to find themselves surrounded by a large posse. They jump into the water and are shot by the enraged whites.

The Pastime.

A program you will enjoy for Friday and Saturday.

"A Clever Fraud." Vitagraph. This bright comedy tells the adventures of a number of young people who take part in a mixed up love affair. This comedy has a sparkle and life that is delightful. The actors perform their parts quite as they would in real life and it is highly amusing throughout the length of the film. It has no weak places.

"The Feud." Lubin. Here is a good love story built up around a feud. The young people meet through an accident, fall in love and after some vicissitudes are married. One of the most exciting scenes is where the girl's father in his dying moments attempts to shoot the young man down. The girl is warmly welcomed by the young man's mother, but the father holds her out, but she wins him over, too, and the minister completes an interesting story.

"Advertising for Mamma." Kalem. A child's plea that is rewarded. There are real heart throbs in this feature production.

"My Prairie Flower." Melies. The lively story of a young college scrapper who is sent west to make a man of him. A little deception in impersonation is practiced at the start, but this helps, not alone in the telling of the first part of the story, but in the love tale which develops afterwards.

"The Sardine Industry." A topical film of much interest.

The Cosy.

Strong Western program for Wednesday and Thursday.

"A Cowboy's Sacrifice." American. Jack, a cowboy of "The Circle X Ranch" is in love with the ranch owner's daughter, Edith. Her brother George comes home drunk and Jack takes care of him. But George goes back to town and has a fling with "Texas Jim," getting lickered. George waits for Texas and shoots him, dropping his gun in his haste to get away. A posse capture him and are to hang him, when Jack assumes the blame for the crime. But the girl saves him from making the sacrifice by telling the facts. Jack, man-like, wonders why she saved him; later he finds out.

"An Indian Brave's Conversion." Yankee. Splendid Western story full of cowboys and Indians. The minister of "Foker Gulch" can't do much with the cowboys till his daughter comes, and then they all come to church. John, Tom and an Indian all love Elsie. Tom and John fight, later John and Sagwa fight and Sagwa kills John and Tom is accused. He takes refuge in the mountains and Sagwa goes to church and confesses to Elsie. They ride and save Tom from being lynched. Beautifully colored film.

Better Goods for Less Money

Liquors You'll Like

"Dog and Wolf." Eclair. A story of heart interest, finely told. A man has come to rob the old doctor and is attacked by the doctor's dog. The doctor calls his dog, dresses the man's wounds and feeds him. The kindness makes the robber weep and he vows to lead a better life.

"Jerusalem and the Mount of Olives." Eclair. Scenic film of the Holy City and its surroundings and an interesting scene of the pilgrims accomplishing the way of the cross.

"The Field of Honor." American. The colonel who has never been to war, the captain who never went to sea, and Jack, all love the same girl. Jack has the colonel and the captain fight a duel. He loads the guns with tabasco sauce. The terror stricken heroes fire and being splattered with sauce, think the end has come. Very funny.
