Orpheum. Big Biograph special for Friday and Saturday:

1. "Enoch Arden." Biograph. An adaptation of Lord Tennyson's poem (in two parts). Part one. The first part tells of the betrothal of Enoch and Annie, the despair of Enoch at his inability to cope with the demands of his increasing family obligations, and his sailing away to recoup his fortunes on a vessel bound for China. A storm is encountered, the vessel wrecked and Enoch and two companions are washed upon a tropical island, where they are forced to stay. Annie all the while is ever hopeful of his return.

2. "Enoch Arden." Part two. This part begins several years later, and while Philip Ray sees for the hand of Annie she refuses still faithful to her hope of Enoch's return. Finally she accepts for the sake of her children and when her new baby came—Philip's child—she is Philip's all-in-all. Meanwhile a ship in quest of water puts in at the island and Enoch, now alone, his comrades having died, is rescued. His home coming is sad indeed and he welcomes the death that keeps Annie in happy ignorance.

3. "The Novice." Selig. This picture was taken in Southern California, and its Franciscan missions, and is very beautiful. The acting is very good and the story interests.

4. "Captain Barnacle's Courtship." Vitagraph. A comedy. It's funny without any effort on the part of the actors to make it so, because it's funny anyway. Old Captain Barnacle, a widower, contemplates a second marriage. His old friend, Captain Bunce, recommends Miss Ivy Leach, a daughter of a widow. Ivy is very much in love with Sam Morton. All done up in his "glad rags" Captain Barnacle calls on Mrs. Leach and Ivy. Ivy wants nothing to do with him. To get rid of her mother's entreaties she consents to marry the old "salt" but not to become his wife. Ivy makes preparations to foil her mother and disappoint the captain. Her brother Billy dresses in her wedding gown and she puts on Billy's clothes. She meets Sam Morton; they drive directly to the parson's and are married.

The captain and his bridal party came upon the scene to be married. Billy lifts his veil, removes his wig and gives the captain the merry ha ha, throwing him and Mrs. Leach in a fit of rage and dismay.

The Pastime. The house of quality. A special feature for Friday and Saturday. The greatest motor event of the year.

"World's Most Daring Drivers." Esanay Co. This picture of the five hundred mile automobile race at Indianapolis May 30 is interesting. Forty-six cars were lined up at the start of this famous race, driven by the world's most famous drivers. The Indianapolis motor speedway is the greatest race course in the world. A feature of the film is the heroic act of Harry Knight, who driving a West-Cott car, in order not to run over Jagersberger's mechanic who had fallen from the car, overturns his own car and wrecks two others. There is not one detail in connection with the accident that is missing from the picture. Do not miss this famous picture.

"The Love of Summer Morn." Kalem. This film pictures the love story of an American lieutenant and his squaw wife, Summer Morn. She was not acceptable to the ladies of the army post and to save her husband the constant annoyance and shame of be-

Pendleton Beer THE BEST

Quality—quality first, last and all the time—is the watchword in the production of City Brewery Beer

You do not find it lacking in that "life" so necessary to give it the required zest.

You assist in providing employment for home labor, building up your home city and supporting institutions that place money in circulation here, when you buy home products in preference to those that are shipped in.

When you drink beer, insist on City Beer—on draught at the following places:

- BILLY'S PLACE, W. J. Bogart, Prop. OPERA BAR, Anton Kraft, Prop. BREWERY DEPOT, Paul Hemmelgarn, Prop. STATE SALOON, H. J. Latourelle, Prop. THE CRESCENT SALOON, J. H. Taylor, Prop.

ing ignored because of her, she goes back to her people. The Indian girl sacrifices herself at the sacred spring.

"The Power and the Glory." American Pathé. This story is clearly told and pleasing; also well acted. There is no scene in it that is not beautiful; the one in the painter's studio is especially so. After this painter's lovely fiancée has suffered the disfiguring accident, he stands before his canvas with his unfinished picture of her, his imagination seems to see two visions, one as she was, one as she is.

Hawkins and His Dogs. A good vaudeville stunt.

"When Women Strike." Lubin Comedy. Mrs. Matthews loved the suffragettes but—oh, you husband!

The Cosy.

Big "Imp" days, Wednesday and Thursday. We present a program of exceptional merit of war thrills, heart interest and good western comedy.

"Behind the Stockade," 1000 feet. Imp. A war drama of the Philippines, Major Williams, a planter, has a Filipino overseer, and when Billy comes out from the states to visit the major and his daughter, Pedro is jealous. Billy finds Pedro beating a native, and berates him, whereupon Pedro goes to a wild tribe and has them attack the plantation. The savages are discovered on their way, and Pedro in trying to knock down a portion of the stockade, to let the natives in, is captured by Billy. Using Pedro as a shield, Billy goes to the garrison and gets the U. S. Soldiers, who ride to the stockade and put the natives to flight. Beautifully colored and very exciting.

"A Piece of String." 1000 feet. Imp. Anton, while talking to his sweetheart, sees his rival, the blacksmith. The smith is shoeing a hunter's horse when the hunter drops his purse, which is picked up by his dog and carried away into the forest. Later Anton passing the shop stoops and picks up a piece of string and he is accused of having picked up the purse. He is arrested and searched and is believed to be guilty by everyone. The dog brings back the purse, but even Anton is not believed innocent. The story ends in a highly dramatic manner.

"The Bogus Governess." Gt. Northern. This is one of the best detective films ever produced, even by this company, who make a specialty of this kind of work. It shows the clever way in which criminals operate and how they were defeated by Sherlock Holmes. Full of thrilling climaxes. Finely acted and colored throughout.

"The Elopements on Double L Ranch." American. Dandy western comedy. Molly, while riding, calls the ranch boss to help her. He is bashful but the girl puts him at ease. Finally they decide to elope. Her mother and the ranch owner also decide to elope, and the four elopers all meet at the office of Justice Smith and have a good laugh. So will you when you see this film.

"The Sage Brush Phenologist." American. Western comedy. Prof. Feeblem comes to the Fiddleback ranch and examines the "bumps" of the boss and family. He tells each one what they are fitted for and each begins practicing to the joy of the cowboys. There is bedlam at the ranch for awhile, till at last they get wise and give the professor some new bumps.

Children, tomorrow (Thursday) is Imp A. B. C. day. Every child visiting the matinee at the Cosy will receive one of these beautiful little books free.
