EARLY MORNING FIRE DESTROYS COTTAGE

The second early morning fire of the week called the volunteer department out at 1:30 a. m., but, despite the fact that quick response was made and two streams turned on the building, it burned to the ground. The house, which stood in the extreme western part of the city at 620 Sycamore street between Alta and Webb, was owned by Mrs. Charles Cahoon of Portland but has been unoccupied for some time. The origin of the blaze is unknown but it is supposed was started intentionally or accidentally by hoboes sleeping in the house.

The flames were not discovered until they had completely enveloped the dwelling. The first alarm was given by an O-W. R. & N. engine which sent repeated shrill blasts into the night. Soon afterward several fire bells began clanging and most of the sleeping residents were aroused. Fire Chief John Vaughan and two companies rushed to the scene but the hungry flames had gained too great headway to be checked.

The building was a one story cottage and was worth probably $1000 or $1200. Whether or not the loss was covered by insurance has not yet been determined.

The soldiers were hit by spent bullets in the pit at the 200-yard range, where the firing was begun.

SHOOTS AT RIVAL KILLS LITTLE BABY

Spartanburg, S. C., July 15.—Enraged at a negro with whom her husband had taken a ride, Mrs. Frances Sarratt, in an attempt to kill the woman, whom she met in the road, fired a shotgun at her, killing instantly a 2-year-old child carried in the negro woman's arms. The woman was unharmed.

R. & N. company arrived in Pendleton last evening and conferred with Secretary Jack Keefe regarding the request which the local Commercial association made to his company for a local train from Huntington. the establishment of such a train at the present time is impractical but believes the company would put a sleeper on the fast mail at Baker for the accommodation of the local traffic.

The neighbors were attracted by the screams of Mrs. Land and several gathered at once.

W. H. McConnell went into the well and found Mrs. Stevenson sinking for the third time, but rescued her by catching her clothing and holding it while a rope was being let down, with which she was drawn out.

pictures of a roping scene and a horse jumping a gate. The tapaderos each have a large silver plate at the bottom engraved with fine scroll work, while above are two large rosettes gold buttons. In addition there are five beautiful silver chonchas and buckles on each of the "taps." The whole saddle is strung with chonchas.

The carved designs in the leather themselves are extremely artistic. On the side jockeys is the figure of an elk, on the rosaderas a man throwing a lasso from a running horse and on the tapaderos a creeping tiger.

This is the second saddle put up as a prize by Power & Con at the Round-up. Last year their $100 saddle was won by John Spain winner of the wild horse race.

Saddle to be Exhibited.
At a meeting of the Round-up association last evening it was decided to send the saddle to different northwest cities for exhibition and Carl Power, junior member of the manufacturing firm, will accordingly leave tomorrow for Seattle with the saddle which will be exhibited in the windows of the Bon Marche during the Potlach. From Seattle it will be taken to Tacoma and Aberdeen to be exhibited in the rooms of the commercial clubs and will then be brought to Portland where it will be placed in the office of the O-W. R. & N. company's office. From Portland young Power will take it to Albany and Lebanon and probably to other cities in the Willamette valley.

This fall prior to the Round-up, two of the directors of the frontier association will take it to Cheyenne where it will be exhibited during the wild west show in that city.

The saddle will be on exhibition at the Power store until 10 o'clock tonight and local people should look at it there to appreciate its real beauty.
