Newsy Notes of Pendleton

Brings Bride to Pendleton.
 James E. Bannen, popular traveling salesman for the Aldon Candy company, who was just recently married, has brought his bride to Pendleton and is now looking for a house as he intends to make this city his headquarters.

Power Leaves With Saddle.
 Carl Power, junior member of the firm which manufactured the $350 prize saddle for the Round-up bucking contests, left yesterday with the saddle for Seattle and other cities for the purpose of exhibiting the handsome piece of handiwork.

Back From Sheepshearing.
 Mrs. Hughes has returned to Pendleton after spending six weeks in Montana in charge of a sheepshearing gang. He says the work of the professional shearer is becoming more and more difficult owing to the scientific breeding of the sheep which covers the animal from the tip of his nose to his hoofs with thick heavy fleece.

Several Heat Prostrations.
 During the present hot weather, a number of prostrations from heat have occurred. On Saturday V. Potter, a local carpenter, and Cliff Hays, a horseman, were overcome by the heat. Yesterday a harvest hand was brought into the city suffering from a near-sunstroke and several other prostrations are reported but all have recovered from the effects of old Sol's rays.

Clarke Moves His Grocery.
 George H. Clark, who has been conducting his grocery for several years in the building next to the East Oregonian block, is today moving his stock to the room in the Temple building recently occupied by the Walsh grocery. P. O. Elliott, the well known lunch counter man, will immediately put in a lunch counter in the vacated room and later will install a cafeteria.

Installing Acetylene Plant.
 Out at the Umattila Agency a crew of men is now at work installing the acetylene lighting plant recently ordered by the government. The contract was let to P. A. Bryant of Portland and the contractor now has two men at work. The plant will be installed and ready for use early in the fall and will also light the agency grounds. In the past all illumination at the agency has been had through the use of kerosene.

Husband Convicted; Wants Divorce.
 Mrs. Nellie Hopkins of Freewater, has commenced suit in the local court for a divorce from her husband, W. W. Hopkins, alleging as her grounds for the action that the defendant was convicted of forgery in Whitman county, Washington, on May 16, 1910. The couple were married on May 3, 1909, and have one child, Gladys, aged 17 months for the custody of which she also asks. Attorney S. D. Peterson is representing her.

Coats Off in Church.
 Marking a departure from the usual church decorum, the men in the congregation at the Methodist church in this city yesterday shed their coats and listened to the sermon in some degree of comfort. This action was taken upon the invitation of Rev. Nathan Evans who does not believe in making his hearers suffer from the heat of this world while he preaches about the salvation from the eternal fires of the hereafter.

Rev. Tallman Here.
 Rev. I. B. Tallman, father of J. V. Tallman, well known druggist and chairman of the school board, arrived here Saturday from the east. Though advanced in years Mr. Tallman is still in apparent good health and has seemingly recovered from the dangerous illness with which he was down during the winter. He was taken sick in Florida soon after returning from a European trip. Rev. Tallman is a veteran minister of the Methodist church and has many local friends formed during past visits with his son and family.

Weather Moderates a Little.
 Although today has been extremely warm, there is a noticeable difference in the temperature from that of the past four days. The official thermometer at 1 o'clock registered 93 which was 12 degrees below the temperature registered at that hour on Saturday. However, the mercury has been climbing steadily this afternoon. Yesterday the government thermometer, kept by E. F. Averill, showed a maximum temperature of 111 which was one degree below that of Saturday. Many thermometers in the city, however, climbed higher than on the preceding day and it is certain that the heat was more oppressive.

Sues to Correct Deed.
 In a suit entitled Minnie J. Martin vs. James Seltz, the plaintiff alleges that John P. Seltz and wife, before their death, entered into an agreement and contract for the transfer of the n 1-2 of sec. 23, the ne 1-4 of the sw 1-4, the sw 1-4 of the nw 1-4 and the nw 1-4 of the se 1-4 of Sec. 24, Twp. 5 N. R. 24 to her, but through a mutual mistake, the description in the warranty deed reads wrongly. She further alleges that she has been in possession of the land since and is the only heir of the deceased. She therefore asks for a corrective decree. Attorney S. D. Peterson is representing the plaintiff.

From Fletcher's Birthplace.
 Mr. D. Kemler and wife of Pendleton, Oregon, who have been guests at the Ulumas House for the past ten days, handed us a copy of the East Oregonian, published at their home town in which reference is made to Robert Fletcher, who was born in this county. It will be remembered that Mr. Fletcher's father, W. D. Fletcher, organized and led the Greenville band in its early history. It appears that the son inherited his father's musical ability, for he is manager of the famous Round-up cowboy band of Pendleton, which recently visited Walla Walla, Wash., and won many encomiums at the hands of the people and press for the excellent music which it furnished.—Plumas National Bulletin of Quincy, Cal.

Fred Vincent is Here.
 Fred Vincent, northwest manager for the United Press association with headquarters with the Portland Journal in Portland, is here today upon a visit with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Vincent. He is upon a vacation.

BOY BICYCLIST IS FATALLY INJURED BY 145 FOOT FALL

Chain Breaks While on a Hill and Lad Plunges Over Precipice, Landing on Rocks in Chasm.

Edgewater, N. J.—While riding to work on his bicycle William Klem, 17 years old, lost control of his machine and plunged over the palisades to the rocks below, a fall of 145 feet. He was breathing when found, but it is believed he will die.

Klem was going down a steep grade when the chain broke at a sharp curve, and unable to check the sudden rush, he sped over the edge of the precipice before he could turn. Trees and rocks broke his fall, but he was horribly crushed.

COUNTESSES' COWS IN CORN.

Even "San Idro's" Green Pastures Fail to Attract, for Once.

Ogontz, Pa.—The Countess Santa Eulalia's fine pedigreed cows got into the $5000-an-acre garden of the beautiful Old York road estate of Henry Linde, adjacent and wrought great havoc among the equally pedigreed garden truck there maturing for epicurean tastes. Breaking from the confines of "San Idro's" usually tempting pastures, the high-toned cows roamed at will over a number of well-known lawns in exclusive Melpomene Park; then set out for the sugar corn and other sweets in the Linde garden.

Green peas, lettuce, string beans, egg-plants and the like all appeared to be on the bill of fare, while choice tomatoes, radishes, onions and a lot of other carefully cultivated truck were trodden under foot by the bovine foragers. But it was the green sugar corn that looked most like a tornado's visitation after the cows' royal feast.

All the painstaking efforts of professional gardeners to raise on land worth $50 a front foot delicacies to tickle discriminating palates had gone for naught. There was a complaint to the authorities, and as soon as the powers that be at "San Idro" learned of the foraging expedition they settled generously for all the damage.

WOMAN SACRIFICES LIFE IN SAVING CHILD IN RUNAWAY

Mrs. Hartley Kelley is Killed While Driving With Husband When Horse Dashes Into a Wagon.

Des Moines, Iowa.—Mrs. Hartley Kelley, wife of a salesman, sacrificed her life in a runaway last night in order to save her infant child. Mrs. Kelley had been driving with her husband and was left in charge of the horse while he was in a grocery store, when the horse became frightened and ran away. Mrs. Kelley in protecting her child from injury was thrown to the pavement when the carriage crashed into a wagon. She died a few hours after her removal to a hospital.

Y.—Edward Valentine Lee, the former paymaster's clerk on the battleship Georgia, from which he absconded at Havana last February with $46,000, today pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny and was sentenced to serve five years in the federal prison at Atlanta and to pay a fine of $5,000. DICKSON AND KEEFE
SAVE DROWNING MAN

John Dickson, popular third baseman of the Buckaroos, is acquiring a reputation as a lifesaver second only to that which he enjoys as a performer on the diamond. Last year he pulled a man out of the pool at Wenaha springs, after he was all but drowned and yesterday, with the assistance of Secretary Jack Keefe of the Pendleton Commercial association, he duplicated this feat.

Quite a number of the Sunday visitors at the popular resort were sporting themselves in the pool when a stranger, who had been attempting to navigate the waters with the aid of a pair of swimming wings, suddenly lost possession of his buoying helpers and sank in the deepest part of the pool. He had gone down three times before any of the onlookers realized that he was in danger.

Keefe was the first to reach him, but the drowning man seized him in a desperate grasp and carried his time he saver under also. By this time Dickson had reached the struggling man and the work of rescue was accomplished.

PLAY PLOT PROVES FATAL.
Parties Plan Drowning Ecene Which Becomes Reality.
 New York.—All was in readiness for a moving picture scene at Brady's pond, Grassmere, State island. The man with the photograph instrument had his films in readiness, gave the word and Albert Brighton of 179 West Thirty-Ninth street and Miss Mary Murray, an actress, pushed from the covers six acres and is twenty-feet deep in places, a lily had been dropped, and Brighton rowed toward it. As he got close to the lily Miss Murray leaned far over the side of the boat and as prearranged, fell into the water.

Brighton dropped his oars and, with a neat dive, went after the woman. She was struggling, but held the lily in her hand.

Brighton is supposed to have been seized with cramps. He did not rise to the surface, and Miss Murray swam to shore. Then she, the photographer and other members of the company raced to New Brighton police headquarters and reported that Brighton was drowned.

Unclear Skeletons.
 Cartersville, Ga. — While excavating for a building at his home near Allatoona, W. H. McMichen and his son unearthed the well-preserved skeletons of three union soldiers which had been buried there during the civil war. In the graves with the bones were also found some brass buttons upon which was seen the letter "I," which is supposed to denote that the men were members of an infantry regiment. A pocket knife and a few other little things were found in the grave and with the buttons were brought to this city by Mr. McMichen where they created a great deal of interest.

Murderer Attempts Suicide.
 Beaver, Pa., July 17.—Charles Hickman, condemned to be hanged for the murder of his wife in February, 1910, almost succeeded in cheating the gallows by an attempt at suicide. Hickman has twice escaped from jail and has repeatedly said he would again make his escape.

This horse and two others occupied stalls in Arthur D. Barrow's stable. The animal, probably seeking a whiff of fresh air, some time in the night climbed over a mowing machine to a large window in the stable and jumped out, landing in an old well and broke its neck.

When he tried to feed the animals in the morning Powell was mystified by the disappearance of one. His search led him to the old well, where he found the horse dead. He valued the animal at $175.

BRACED NERVE WITH SMOKE.
Searchers Find Brakeman With a Crushed Foot Enjoying Cigarette.
 Woodstock, Va.—Henry Fadelley, a brakeman on a Southern freight, fell from the train while it was running and crushed one foot so that amputation was necessary. Fadelley showed wonderful nerve when he realized that he probably would bleed to death, and made a tourniquette of his suspenders that stopped the flow of blood. He was not missed by his crew until the train had arrived at the end of its run Strasburg Junction. A search found him beside the track, calling for help and smoking cigarettes.
