COMES QUICKLY.

Don't Have to Wait for Weeks—A Pendleton Illustration.

Waiting is discouraging. Prompt action pleases everybody. A burden on the back is a heavy weight.

Hard to bear day after day. Lifting weight, removing the burden.

Brings appreciating responses. Pendleton people tell of it.

Tell of relief that's quick and sure. Here is a case of it:

L. Greenwald, 414 Lincoln street, Pendleton, Oregon says: "I had severe attacks of backache and there was soreness across my kidneys. I was also annoyed by a burning sensation when voiding the kidney secretion and the passages were too frequent. Being advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I did so and the contents of one box cured me. I have had no cause for complaint since."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

The girls have confessed to rifling 29 odd residences. Their average "haul" was about $100.

Present method of manufacturing lime prevailed in 713 B. C.

The house of quality. A big feature program goes on Tuesday.

"Range Pals." Sell. Written and produced by Francis Boggs. A true story of old Arizona in the eighties.

Cast: Sheve, a cattleman, Hobart Bosworth; Dave, his devoted friend, W. T. Santschi; Pedro, a Mexican dancer, Herbert Rawlinson; Charlie, Cheeny, a fero dealer, Frank Clark; Buck Wells, head of vigilance committee, Frank Richardson; Danny, an Indian boy devoted to Steve, Betty Hart; Mrs. Murdock, Steve's mother, Anna Dodge. Cattleman, music hall habitués, vigilantes, etc.

Like the story of Damon and Pythias of old, there existed between these two men a friendship absolutely devoid of selfishness.

"The Delayed Proposal." Biograph. Here is a film showing how a country bumpkin undertook to win a girl by a book entitled "How to Propose."

"Bearded Youth." Biograph. Youth is not generally a handicap, but it proved so with this young doctor. In order to win his sweetheart's consent to marry him he must have a practice. He wins out.

"Over the Cliff." American Pathe. Here is a tragedy which concerns a mountebank, his wife, a woman who alienated his affections and won him away from his wife.

"The Iron Master." Edison. The famous French society drama. The character of the young woman is admirably developed and the Ironmaster is a man almost anyone might be proud of.

Excellent program for Tuesday's change:

1. "The Railroad Raiders of '62." Kalem. A true incident of the American civil war. Here is a picture of real men, making real war. Sustained action in every scene. A story that proves truth stranger than fiction.

2. "The Thoroughbred." Edison. Comedy drama. Here is a racing story told with all the vim and vigorous vitality of outdoor life. The cast is a special one and brings out the unusual story with certainty and discretion. Three race horses are in the picture and they play their parts with an enthusiasm that is remarkable.

3. "For the Squaw." Pathe. One of the best Indian pictures ever produced. The photography is excellent. The scenes are in the spring when the brooks are in flood, to add to attractiveness of the pictorial portion.

4. "The Foster Father." Pathe. Two robbers are making a hasty retreat across the roofs of some houses, followed by the police. One is captured, but the other shipping down the fire escape, enters a room. Here he finds a dead mother and little baby and quickly seizing this chance, he clasps the baby in his arms and when the officer come they find what they suppose to be a broken hearted father and husband at the side of his dead wife.

Deceived with appearances, they let him go and he will, the child goes to the west, where he strikes it rich in the gold fields and becomes a prosperous and respected citizen. Years later his old pal is released from prison and hearing of the whereabouts of his old friend, seeks him out and threatens to expose him to his daughter if he is not given hush money. Rather than this the reformed man would give away all he has and is about to pay his old comrade money when the curtains are thrust aside and his daughter enters, having heard the entire conversation. Realizing her foster father's black past she still forgives him and refuses to let him pay money, thus ridding them both once and for all of all connection with the past, which they have left so far behind them.

Our program for Wednesday and Thursday is "Thanhouser Kid" feature, strong western, great home story and good comedy.

"The Colonel and the King." Thanhouser. A delightful story, featuring the wonderful child actress the "Thanhouser Kid" in the leading role as the little king. George IV becomes king at the age of seven, but on his coronation day his cousin seizes the throne and orders the boy killed. The man hired to do the job, loyal to the little king, gives him into the care of an emigrant going to America. Some scenes of Ellis Island are shown. In New York they become separated and the boy is shipped to the west, where he is adopted by an army colonel, who doesn't believe his story of being a king. Later a delegation comes from the boy's kingdom, telling him he is once more king but he refuses to leave his new home and dear friends, saying he is going to be an American soldier.

"$5000 Reward, Dead or Alive." American. A western story of bandits and love. The lovers had a "post office" in the rocks and by chance the robbers hit their gold there, where it was found by Steve. The robbers, returning for their gold, found a love note and each thought the other had duped him. They had a furious fight, the noise is heard by the posse who captures them. Steve gets the reward and the girl.

"The Harvest." Refiance. A powerful story of intense human interest, showing how a domestic tragedy was narrowly averted by a woman's quick wit. The man was punished in this case, not the girl, which is as it should be.

"The Ingenious Accident." Eclair. Comedy with the scene laid in the Alps. Two young folks fooled parents into consenting to their marriage by a fake rescue. The perils and dangers of the mountains are well shown.

"Tommy Gets a New Trumpet." Eclair. Tommy's new horn was so strong that he blew everything away and caused much havoc. Good comedy. Don't fail to hear Hutchins the great whistler, at each performance.

The Pastime.

The house of quality. A big feature program goes on Tuesday.

"Range Pals." Sell. Written and produced by Francis Boggs. A true story of old Arizona in the eighties.

Cast: Sheve, a cattleman, Hobart Bosworth; Dave, his devoted friend, W. T. "The Iron Master." Edison. The famous French society drama. The character of the young woman is admirably developed and the Ironmaster is a man almost anyone might be proud of.

"Max Comes Home." A clever comedy.

"Winter Sports at Lucerne." Interesting view of winter life.

MINISTER UPHOLDS DRINKING.

He Also Approves the Use of Good Cigarettes.

Asbury Park, N. J.—Drinking and smoking in moderation are not morally wrong, in the opinion of Dr. A. E. Ballard, president of the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting association. Nor does the doctor discommend the use of cigarettes, provided they are made of good tobacco.

Speaking at the Ocean Grove tabernacle, Dr. Ballard said he was brought up in a family where liquor was used regularly and that he had never had any conscious scruples about taking it.

Many of the ministers in the congregation disagreed with the speaker as to whether there was moral wrong in drinking, but Dr. Ballard smilingly insisted that there was no wrong in the moderate use of stimulants.

Roseburg, Or.—The most quiet and novel jailbreak in Roseburg's history, set at liberty Ben E. Stewart, a solitary prisoner, awaiting trial on a charge of forgery, committed from Canyonville, and accused of a similar crime at Boise, Idaho. Frank Kelley, a paroled burglar, who has been loafing about the court house and on since last May, entered the sheriff's office during the night, according to the belief of the sheriff, secured the jail keys which had been carelessly tossed on the safe, and liberated Stewart, after unlocking four doors. No trace of the pair has been found but their personal descriptions are being furnished to authorities in every direction. The fugitives are penniless and the belief is that they will endeavor to beat their way on trains.

GIRL OUTWITS AUNT; SPOKANE MAN GETS BRIDE

Chicago.—Chicago was the scene of an exciting elopement made good after it had been threatened with failure. Bernard Gitter of Spokane and Miss Ida B. Adams of New York were married at the Grant hotel. Each eloped alone, Miss Adams from New York and the bridegroom from his home in the west. They were to meet in Chicago July 17.

Miss Adams was not entirely at ease on account of the spionage an aunt was keeping over her. She packed up and reached Chicago Wednesday. Her aunt was only a train behind her. As she was a few days early she decided to give her aunt the slip and take a chance on reaching Spokane before her sweetheart left home for the trip, but about the time Miss Adams boarded the overland out of St. Paul Mr. Gitter was on a train bound for Chicago. The two passed each other at a side track. Miss Adams learned that Mr. Gitter had left Spokane. She wired him in Chicago that she was boarding the fastest train for this city.

Meantime the aunt learned the girl's destination and started for Spokane. She passed Miss Adams who was returning. The aunt reached Spokane about the time Miss Adams arrived back in Chicago.

Cordele, Ga.—An incident of unusual occurrence was witnessed in Cordele recently, where the body of Mrs. James Ray of Milledgeville, formerly of Cordele, was brought back here for burial in Sunnyside cemetery, from Hot Springs, Ark., where she died while seeking the recovery of her health.

The funeral was attended and the expenses of transit and burial paid by her former husband, whose name she still bore, and from whom she had been divorced for several years.

In attendance at the funeral also was a young son by the first marriage and the second wife of Ray.

HE CAN TWIST BIG SPIKES.

Man Discovers, Late in Life, He Has Wonderful Strength.

Woonster, Ohio.—Michael Mansor, a confectioner of this city, although well along in years, has just discovered that he has wonderful strength in his hands.

Mansor watched a street fakir doing feats with nails. He tried some of them and as astounded on finding how easily he could twist and bend nails. Then he tried the largest steel spikes and these he was able to bend and twist with apparent ease. Mansor made a chain of the spikes to show what he could do with his hands.

A strange part of Mansor's discovery is that although he has seen tricks of the sort performed he never before thought of trying to imitate any of the performances.
