SENTENCED TO BALL GAME.

Judge Extracts Promise of Honesty From Half-a-Dozen Lads.
San Francisco, Cal.—The judgment of the court is that these boys appear at the league ball game as my guests.
This was the sentence imposed by Superior Judge Graham, also president of the Pacific Coast league, on six frowsy-haired youngsters who were taken before him on a juvenile charge.
They had been arrested and taken before Judge Murasky in the juvenile court for sneaking into Recreation park and watching the game. Residents in the vicinity of the park complained that the lads were breaking down fences and damaging property to climb over the high fence which incloses the ball grounds. All lined up before Judge Murasky and the juvenile court judge heard the evidence against the youngsters and then listened to their stories. They all pleaded guilty, but in palliation of their offense they told the court through their spokesman, Louis Macchia:
"We ain't got no money to pay our way in, and we want to see the games."
Judge Murasky was lenient with the youngsters and ordered them to appear before Judge Graham, and likewise entered an order that Judge Graham should take the boys to the games on their solemn promise that they would never again sneak into the park or damage property near the park.

"DAMN THE TRUSTS," SAYS A NEW YORK PARSON

New York.—The Rev. Louis Shreve Osborn, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, Newark, caused a sensation by using the word "damn" very forcibly over his signature in a communication accompanying a subscription to a free ice fund in that city. In the communication he says:
"I have been taught that 'damn' is a good, sound, scriptural word, not, however, to be used unadvisedly or lightly, but reverently, discreetly, advisedly, soberly and in the fear of God, like matrimony or a blue pill, and so I say, advisedly and soberly, damn the ice trust and the milk trust, and the farmers and the cows and everybody and everything that is making this hot weather an excuse for boosting the price of ice and milk."
The sugar trust may be faulty and the standard Oil company not all that can be desired, but they don't conspire to kill sick babies.
"Thank God, the undertakers have not raised the price on coffins and the doctors on visits and that parsons still minister to the sick and poor without money and without price."
"So here's $10 more for the ice fund direct (on the side) to help alleviate the poverty of the indigent milkmen and impecunious ice men. I hope they'll repent in time to escape that place where they'd give their immortal souls for a drink of ice milk."
The communication was provoked by the recent advance in the price of milk and ice in Newark.

WILD HOG FUGHT HUNTERS OVER TWO HOURS

Cordale, Ga.—Farmers coming into Cordale from the extreme northwest corner of Crisp county and from Dooly, this week, who live along near Flint river, relate the following interesting and exciting story of a monstrous wild hog which is said to be only one of a whole herd of his kind which have been playing havoc with the growing crops of that vicinity.
Near Murray's ferry, on Flint river, the hog was killed after a battle which lasted several hours by a crowd of negroes, with dogs, shotguns, pistols and other weapons.
On last Friday night the big swine paid Mr. Murray's field a visit and destroyed about ten bushels of corn. The negroes were notified of the visit and all armed with everything from a shotgun to a pitchfork, got together a pack of curs and started on the chase. Within a short while the hog was located and then the battle was on.

One of the darkies got in a shot on the left, which only angered the boar, and he was then ready for fight. With a swing to the right among the dogs, he proceeded to use his 4-inch tusks to a deadly advantage—cutting down every pup in reach. This stampeded the negroes and caused them to climb trees, fences and anything that would put them out of danger. Whooping up the dogs and steadying themselves in the tops of the trees, they turned loose a volley of fifteen shots, which wounded the hog to such an extent as to allow them to come down and finish the job with pitchforks and sticks.
A team was secured and the monster hauled out, where he was found to be 7 feet in length, 33 inches high with tusks 4 1-2 inches long, and weighed 400 pounds. He is said to be 10 or 12 years old.

INDIAN PRINCESS DIES AT WASHOUGAL, 105 YEARS OLD

Washougal, Wash.—Mrs. Betsey Ough is dead after a short illness. She was among the oldest women of the Northwest, being over 100 years old, and her life was spent in the valley of the Columbia. She was the daughter of an Indian chief, and when a girl was known as White Wing. She married Richard Ough, one of Dr. John McLaughlin's men, in 1824. She was a devoted wife and mother, and her last wish was that she would be able to find her husband among those who have journeyed before. Her many acts of kindness to the early settlers who had struggled across the mountains and landed penniless and discouraged, won for her a place in the hearts of those people not easily replaced. Four sons and five daughters are living in various parts of the Northwest. Mrs. Ough held property here valued at many thousand dollars.

LIVED ON RAW EGGS

Mr. Richard's Experience With Different Diets. Peaches and Buttermilk for Three Years.

Cecilton, Md.—Mr. George Richards, of this place, during the past 12 years, has probably tried more different diets than the average person would ever use in a lifetime.
What he has to say about his experiments, must therefore be highly interesting to anyone suffering from indigestion or stomach troubles of any kind.
He says: "For more than 12 years, I suffered with stomach troubles, and paid hundreds of dollars for doctor bills and medicines. I was also operated on for piles.
I lived on dried peaches and buttermilk for nearly three years. The only thing that would not give me pain was raw eggs. I was a physical wreck. I could not sleep, and was as near crazy as a man could well be.
I must say that after taking two 25-cent packages of Theford's Black-Draught, it did me more good than all I ever spent for other medicines.
I have been working daily on the farm ever since, and I am as hard as iron. This purely vegetable remedy has been in successful use for more than 70 years. Try it. But be sure that it's 'Theford's.'"

BOY SHOTS BABY SISTER. Parents Away from Home When Children Discover Weapon.

Estacada, Ore.—Dorothy Denney, the 3-year-old daughter of Clark Denney, living three miles southeast of this city, was accidentally shot and killed by her brother, George Denney, 9 years old. The boy is prostrated with grief and can give only a disjointed account of the accident.
The two children were playing in a bedroom wherein hung a shotgun from its resting place, and in removing it from a nail the trigger caught and the gun was discharged into the stomach of the infant child, who was standing in the center of the bed some eight or ten feet from her brother. So close was she to the discharged gun that the full force of the shot entered the child's body. Neighbors rushed to the scene of the accident but the child lived only a few minutes.

Furs first arrived in St. Louis, Mo., from the Rocky mountains in November, 1822.
