COMPTROLLER AFTER BANK DIRECTORS

Washington, July 19.—Unsatisfactory conditions in the national banks, according to Comptroller of the Currency Lawrence O. Murray, are due in nearly every case to the failure of the directors to direct. In a letter to the national bank examiners, just made public here, Murray implored them to be more stringent in their examinations and report to him all cases of laxity on the part of the directors in order that some action may be taken by the treasury department.

"For nearly two years I have been urging directors to perform their duty," Murray said, "and have endeavored to obtain the co-operation of the examiners in the matter. Notwithstanding my most earnest efforts reports of examination are coming in day by day showing that boards of directors of some banks hold two, three or possibly four meetings a year."

"I do not understand why examiners permit those conditions to continue. When you are in a bank that has failed to adopt proper by-laws, and you have convened the board of directors, it is a simple matter to have an approved form of by-laws, already furnished you for that purpose, adopted while you are there. This you should do in the future. If the directors object you are authorized to tell them that until the by-laws are adopted and the requirements thereof lived up to in good faith the bank will be examined four times a year."

MINISTER FAVORS SUNDAY BASEBALL, THEN RESIGNS
Pensacola, Fla.—Because ministers of this city are attempting to cause the arrest of ball players for playing on Sunday, and so because they have taken several cases of this character into the courts, and are active in prosecutions, Archdeacon William B. Allen, rector of St. Katherine's church, and one of the most prominent ministers in the state, has resigned as president of the Pensacola Ministerial association, and has also withdrawn as a member of the organization, which he assisted in organizing a few months ago.

In explanation of his action, the archdeacon says that Sunday ball playing or any other innocent amusement on the Sabbath is a matter of conscience, and that he does not approve of the ministers of the gospel mixing up in courts in the prosecution of persons whose beliefs differ from theirs.

He also says that if it is wrong for one person to pay 25 cents to see a game of baseball on Sunday it is equally wrong for another person to pay the Y. M. C. A. 25 cents for a bathing suit to enjoy a bath on the Sabbath, which is done each Sabbath in Pensacola at the association's bathing pavilion on one of the bays.

BEATS A BURGLAR AT 7-UP
Helena, Mont.—Ability to play seven-up saved the home of Mrs. Charles V. Holmes from being robbed. Aroused at midnight, Mrs. Holmes descended to the first floor and was confronted by an armed masked man. He compelled her to stand with her hands uplifted while he packed up some silverware. She pleaded with him not to take a number of articles because they were wedding presents. Finally he took a silver platter she had won at a cuche party. She told him how she won it.

The burglar became thoughtful. He asked her if she could play seven-up. She said she could. Then he agreed to play three games of seven-up with her to decide whether or not he should take the booty.

"Seated at the dining-room table we began to play," said Mrs. Holmes. "He with his gun beside his hand, I attired in my night robe."
Mrs. Holmes won the first and last games, and the burglar arose. Mrs. Holmes escorted him to the front door, and he disappeared after making a flowing speech of compliment and kissing her hand.

SHE KNOWS LOCOMOTIVES.
Woman Train Dispatcher a Marvel in an Unusual Line.
Boston, Mass.—Mrs. Jennie Connor of Melrose Highlands, a suburb, has the distinction of being the only woman to handle and dispatch trains in this country. She is employed by the Boston & Maine and is well known to thousands of railroad employees throughout the four states in which the road operates.

Not only is she a good dispatcher but she also knows the complete construction of locomotives in use today. It is believed by the 400 and more engineers who report to her that she knows more about the construction of the big engines than do most of the men who assisted in their construction.

Mrs. Connor has charge of all the engines used on the northern division of the road, and this has led her to take up the study of the moguls, with a result that has been amazing. Mrs. Connor believes that work for women is a great preventative if divorce and nervous prostration.

Romans believed that great battles were accompanied by rain to enable some pitying god to cleanse the bloody earth with the gentle showers of heaven.
