UMATILLA INDIANS GET TOUCH OF CITY

From a story in the Portland Telegram of Monday, it seems that a couple of Umatilla Indians with two of their Klamath brethren have been initiated into some of the pleasures of city life such as are secured from joy wheels, giant swings and other devices for starting thrills up and down the spinal column. This is the way the Telegram tells the story:

Yesterday evening Clarence Thomson and W. L. George, of the Umatilla Indian reservation, and John Lee Hall and J. W. Johnson, of the Klamath reservation, temporarily detained in Portland over what they describe tersely as "booze" trouble, visited the Oaks Park. It was the first time they had ever visited an amusement park, and, incidentally, it was the first time the park had ever entertained Indian visitors. Three of the quartet were conveyed by Johnson, who was dressed in the uniform of a reservation policeman. Manager Cordray decided the right thing to do for his red friends was to entertain them. So he escorted them to everything there is at the Oaks.

They tried to be dignified when they shot down the chutes, but before the bottom was reached they were clinging as desperately as if they were aboard the hurricane deck of one of Pendleton's worst Round-Up bucking horses. They were enticed into the giant whirl with some difficulty, and when in midair Clarence happened to look downwards. When he reached solid earth he promptly sat down and clasped fondly the rotund anatomy so familiar to Pendleton residents.

The tickler is a contrivance that shakes the life out of amusement seekers. Cordray took the four aboard. He barely escaped with his life afterwards and had there been a tomhawk handy, the enraged red men would not have left together a stick nor a wheel of the tickler.

The crowd screamed when the Indians clambered aboard the joy wheel and when the reservation residents found the wheel was a type of maverick unknown to their range philosophy, they expressed themselves in Cayuse, Umatilla, Walla Walla or Klamath with undue fluency. "Had heap fine time," declared Policeman Johnson afterward, "but you never catch us again."

WHEN IS WOMAN AN ELECTOR?

Prosecuting Attorney of Thurston County Asks Attorney General. Olympia.—Whether or not a woman who is not registered and who has not voted as an elector under the jury law, was submitted by the prosecuting attorney of Thurston county today to the attorney general and an early answer is expected. The question also brings up the manner in which jurors are to be drawn since woman suffrage became effective.

NEW HEAD OF BUSINESS COLLEGE.

Prof. M. L. Clancy.

The Pendleton Business College is now under new management. Prof. M. L. Clancy of Marshfield, Wis., having purchased that institution from Prof. E. O. Draper, who has been at its head for the past several terms. Prof. Clancy with his wife has taken up residence at 513 Lewis street and will prepare to open his school by September 5.

The new head of the business college comes here with thirteen years and a half experience and he feels that the success which has been his during this time will be his portion here. He will teach all of the commercial and shorthand branches and declares his courses will be equal to those given in any of the larger institutions of the country.

Prof. Clancy is very much impressed with Pendleton as a business and residence city and states that the climate here was as much responsible as anything in deciding his location.

PIONEER LADY OF ADAMS PASSES AWAY

(Special Correspondence.)

Helix, July 26.—Mrs. C. C. Carpenter, who died last week, was the wife of a local druggist. Dr. W. H. McKinney and C. C. Carpenter form the company that owns the Helix drug store. Mrs. Carpenter was born in Nebraska 66 years ago and is the mother of a large family of children. She was highly respected and lived at Adams for 30 years or more, Henry Lewis, a drug clerk, is a son-in-law of Mrs. Carpenter. She was buried at Adams.

C. C. Hopper got back some 10 days ago from a sheep shearing bout and is located at Helix as first assistant to Carl Engdahl, superintendent of the farmers' warehouses located at Helix.

R. F. Raymond, a brother-in-law to Mr. C. C. Hopper, moved here a short time ago and is working right along.

Clint Marquole is a newcomer here and has made a good impression. He is a barber by profession but is taking in the harvest for a change.

Mayor J. S. Norvell is putting up a new oil depot here. It is almost complete.

HANDICAPPED.

This Is the Case With Many Pendleton People.

Too many Pendleton citizens are handicapped with bad backs. The unceasing pain causes constant misery, making work a burden and stooping or lifting an impossibility. The back aches at night, preventing refreshing rest and in the morning is stiff and lame. Plasters and liniments may give relief but cannot reach the cause. To eliminate the pains and aches you must cure the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sick kidneys.

The following statement should convince every Pendleton reader of their efficiency.

Mrs. Thomas Burns, 803 W. Birch street, Walla Walla, Wash., says: "My back caused me much suffering and it was almost impossible for me to attend to my housework. The searations from my kidneys also bothered me a great deal and were very unnatural. Soon after I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills these difficulties were relieved and my kidneys were restored to a normal condition. My relatives also think highly of Doan's Kidney Pills, having used them with benefit."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

BIBLES IN KALISPELL HOTELS.

Churches Join to Spread Gospel Among Lodgers.

Kalispell, Mont.—To make the holy scriptures accessible to every person desiring them eight evangelical churches joined in meeting at the Presbyterian auditorium last night and formulated plans for distribution of Bibles throughout the city. $117 being subscribed for the purpose. Nearly 1600 persons were present. The volumes will cost 50 cents each and 234 will be ordered immediately.

containing appropriate inscriptions anent their object, and one will be placed in each room of the hotels and rooming houses. It is the purpose to ultimately distribute about 500 of the Bibles after a parade of those interested, each carrying a volume.

FIVE MINUTES COSTS $20.

Tacoma Railroad Official Fined for Working Typist Overtime.

Tacoma, Wash.—General Manager L. H. Bean, of the Tacoma Railway & Power company, was fined $20 and costs in Justice Evans' court for working his stenographers five minutes overtime. The complaint was made by Business Agent Clayton, of the Central Labor Council, under the new eight-hour law for women.

The schedule on which Manager Bean's stenographers work requires five minutes a day more than eight hours, with half a day off Saturdays. The company is undecided whether it will appeal.
