LIGHTNING STRIKES MAN AND STRIKES HIM TWICE
Only Stunned Each Time, But He is Scared Out of His Senses and Several Years' Growth.

Salem, Mass.—It is isn't very often that a man is struck of rather stunned, by lightning twice, in two different places, in the same storm, but that is just what happened to Nathaniel Lowe, Jr., of Ipswich. Lowe says that no matter where he ran or hid during that storm the lightning followed him. When he would bolt the lightning would bolt, too, which was not the poke it sounds.

Lowe, with two companions, was camping in a cottage on Tapscott island, Ipswich, when the storm broke. When the clouds grew black and the lightning flashed and flashed, his companions grew frightened and made for the city, leaving Lowe, who said he wasn't afraid, in the cottage. Hardly had his friends left him alone when lightning struck the building and tore its way through a bed from which Lowe had just leaped. The lightning rendered Lowe unconscious and left the interior of the cottage a wreck. Lowe says that when he regained consciousness he was scared and fled from the house. Out through the storm he bolted, heading blindly toward his home, three miles away. But the storm grew fiercer and the lightning snapped and cracked around him until the young man fled for shelter into the barn of a neighbor. The moment he crouched down into a dark corner and took his first long breath lightning ripped through the barn, damaging but not burning it. Again was Lowe shocked into unconsciousness. He says that when he recovered his senses fright took entire possession of him and he tore through the storm all the way to his home, where it was a long time before he could tell anything about what had happened to him.

BABY GUARDED BY DOG.

Pup Spends All Night With Child Under Tree.
Natomia, Kan.—With a half grown pup for a companion, George, the two-year-old son of Albert Paxton, a farmer living a mile south of Natomia, wandered away from home and became lost in the woods. He was found in the morning by Emil Prutor, after 15 hours' search, in which more than 100 persons took part.

When the news reached town in the evening that the baby had wandered away a general search party was organized, and all night long a string of lights moved to and fro through the hills and hollows. Morning found the searchers unrewarded and tired and worn. They returned home to eat. Then the hunt was renewed with vigor. Doctors, preachers, lawyers, school teachers, merchants and farmers, women and children, lined up for the search and for the search and for the time being all interest centered on the finding of the boy.

When found George was asleep beneath a tree, where he had evidently fallen in exhaustion and beside him lay the dog, the faithful companion of his night's wanderings. Farmers expressed wonder that the child had not been attacked by coyotes or wolves, which are plentiful in that neighborhood and the only explanation they can give of his escape is the presence of the dog with the baby.

OLDEST KEYMAN QUILTS JOB.

Frank McMullen Retires After 55 Years' Service.

Greenville, Ala.—The oldest employe in point of service of the Western Union Telegraph company, who has listened to the click of the instrument continuously for more than half a century, is about to retire from the business by resigning as manager at this place. Frank U. McMullen has been tapping the key steadily for 55 years. The last 30 years of this period has been spent in the upper story of the little frame building just across from the Louisville & Nashville office in this town. During the civil war McMullen tapped the wires at Castleberry, Ala., and transmitted the last orders between General Dan Taylor and General James H. Clayton. The latter was at Brewton, Ala., with his brigade, and badly in need of aid when he ordered Taylor to join him.

CONGRESSMAN ADAMSON INVITES THE SENATORS

To Visit the Panama Canal in December on Tour of Inspection.
Washington.—Representative Adamson of Georgia, chairman of the house committee on interstate and foreign affairs, has extended an invitation to the members of the senate committee on interstate commerce to visit the Panama canal in December on a tour of inspection.

Senator Brandegee announces that a number of members of the senate committee will make the trip at that time.

On his appearance recently before Chairman Adamson's committee, Colonel Goethals earnestly requested the committee to personally inspect the canal work. President Taft informed the committee that transportation for the members would be provided.

Legislation providing for the operation of the canal will be passed by the house next year and sent over to the senate.

"I have opposed the passage of such legislation until the canal work has been far enough advanced to see to make such a measure necessary," said Chairman Adamson. "We hope that our visit in December will confirm the opinion entertained by Colonel Goethals that the work has progressed far enough to make it necessary to provide for the operation of the canal, which we will then do at the regular session of congress which meets in December.

"We should endeavor thoroughly to appreciate the conditions that will exist after the completion of the canal in framing permanent legislation for its operation," he said. "Since the canal is primarily designed as a war measure, we hope that the government may acquire title to every foot of ground on the canal zone, so that there will be no population except the army and navy, and hence little necessity for legislation providing a civil government for the zone. This will not be inconsistent with the largest use of the canal for commercial purposes."

The Lane County Veterans' association, composed of soldiers of the Civil war, will meet in annual reunion at Springfield, October 5-7.

LARGEST PAVING CONTRACT IS LET

The largest single contract ever let in the city of Portland for a street paving improvement was awarded yesterday afternoon by the city executive board to the Warren Construction company, the amount of the contract being $366,382.63," says the Portland Journal. "This is the sum that will eventually have to be paid by property owners on Skidmore and other streets in the Alberta district. Warren's waterproof bitulithic pavement is the surface to be laid.

"The Warren Construction company will begin the paving of the district at once, and it is the hope of the company officials to complete the big improvement before the end of the present summer. Three plants are now being operated by the company in its efforts to finish all contracts now on hand by November 1."

AT THE PICTURE SHOWS

Orpheum.
For Friday and Saturday a Kalem special feature film. Historical subject that every man, woman and child should see.

1. "Juarez After the Battle." Mexico Kalem. The first motion picture ever made of a besieged city directly after the battle. Scenes where the actual fighting took place, showing the wreck and destruction caused by cannon and powerful machine guns. Shows the poorly clad insurgents armed to the teeth with guns and revolvers captured from the federals. Every important place in Juarez can be seen, including the Mexican custom house where Presidents Taft and Diaz died. A feature film to talk about.

2. "The Stepsisters." Pathe. A good drama. Unusual in worth, appeal and interest. Powerful love interest throbs through the plot of this story.

3. "The New Editor." Selig. Here is a good newspaper story, telling how a young man becomes first assistant editor to the editor of the Mayville Clarion. It gives a good exposition of the way some political deals are managed, the illustration of a fight for municipal ownership of water-works by the women of the town and the difficulties which beset the owner of the paper when he refuses to print suffragette items because the political boss told him not to do it. There is plenty of life in this picture and is full of legitimate comedy situations.

4. "Boil Your Water." Pathe. This film is a microscopic examination of a drop of stagnant water. The scientist's assistant is seen getting some water from a nearby stream, then in the laboratory the chemist makes a slide, utilizing a drop of this water. As he examines it under the microscope the things he sees are thrown upon the screen. Among the things shown is the germ that causes typhoid fever; also a daphnia, an ostracoda, which wriggles most delightfully. Also a ratifer who is noted principally for his peculiar method of spinning. Another is the copepoda, carrying her eggs which resemble bunches of grapes. The ostracoda meanders along by means of a spiral spring which he seems to release and thus shoot himself into space. Finally the scientist boils the water and shows it clear and health giving.

The Pastime.

The show of quality. Coming, Friday, July 28. The big feature Biograph film:

"Fighting Blood." This Biograph story is a patriotic offering of the most acceptable variety. It is a story which will set Young America wild and set the old folks to thinking. This old soldier brings his family up in true military manner. One day the oldest boy desires to go to see his sweetheart, but his stern military parent objects and says if he goes he goes for good. But the boy goes and returns to find the door barred against him. However, because he is locked out he discovers a band of Indians is going on the warpath and succeeds in securing soldiers in time to save his family and his sweetheart. The military training was helpful. It enabled him to hold the Indians at bay until help arrived. There is a very exciting fight with the Indians shown of a regiment in column of fours. Miss Story is a very acceptable heroine.

"The Sleep Walker." Vitagraph. The early scenes in this interesting love story serve to show the worthy character of the heroine and that the young doctor's mother is displeased with his attentions to her. This beautiful young lady does strange things which are explained when it is learned she is a somnambulist.

"How Willie Raised Tobacco." Edison. This is an interesting comedy; that tells the story of a sleepy-headed son of rich parents who determine to raise tobacco and goes to Cuba. He has to put in a few days of hard work before he gets home again.

"Solving the Servant Problem." Eclipse. This truly delightful magic maker makes an appeal that is all its own. Heaven never makes a more competent creature than the truly competent woman. That kind of work isn't the only way she shows her intelligence either. She knows how to make love as well.

"In the Province of Kwang Tung, China." Urban. A travel film full of variety and charm.

The Cosy.

See the great fire picture for Friday and Saturday. Big house burnt to make a thrilling scene. A feature that you should miss. "Flames and Fortune." Thambrouser. The greatest fire scene ever shown in any moving picture. In order to get a realistic fire, the Thambrouser company bought an old mansion and set it on fire. The house burns down before your eyes. The story begins in civil war days, when money and jewels were hidden in the old house, and were never found again. The little kid set the house on fire. A thrilling rescue follows, while the flames mount higher and higher. The child playing in the ashes of the ruined house finds the lost treasures. A great story of war, fire and love, with not a dull moment in it.

"Hotel Thieves." Great Northern. A Sherlock Holmes detective story; the best one yet. Some exciting scenes are shown. Holmes holds up thieves on train, is overpowered and thrown from train; pistol duel on roof; struggle on the brink of a precipice in the Alps; criminal falls over and killed; gang rounded up; its a dandy. Finely colored.

"The Stranger's Plate." Powers. A poor Indian comes to a settler's cabin and is nursed back to health. The mother and daughter refuse to have him set at the table, though the father pleads for him. So the father gives him a big basket of food and sends him away. The girl is captured by Indians and is sold at auction. The Indian who was befriended buys her and brings her home, and no place is too good for him, no honor too great.

"Air Bubbles." Ambrosio. A novelty in pictures, with an unusually fine and fresh idea, exquisitely colored and with a story of such beauty that it leaves a powerful impression. The bad boy, blowing soap bubbles, sees in the bubbles visions of his future life filled with shame and disgrace, while his mother dies broken hearted. Repentant he hurries back to home he had left and his dear old mother, who receives him with joy. It's a gem.

"Tweedledum Is Late." Ambrosio. The poor fellow was late to his wedding; vainly he tried by horse, motor car and other ways to arrive on time. Finally determined to be married, he is spliced to a washerwoman. Good comedy.
