FIRST COMER WED, BUT STILL NEIGHBORS TALK

Cincinnati Judge Asked to Annul Marriage Entered Into to Stop Speculation

Cincinnati.—"A marriage of convenience," performed in Jersey City on June 14, 1910, was dissolved in the Cincinnati common pleas court after both parties had told Judge Caldwell a strange story.

Dolores Cameron Owens, the applicant, stepdaughter of Ward Waldwin, former professor of engineering in the University of Cincinnati, said that she had married Malcolm W. Owens "to satisfy the neighbors."

Mrs. Owens told that she went to New York to marry a Dr. Clinton, a surgeon in the navy. But the surgeon left for sea duty, announcing that there was going to be no wedding until my ship comes back.

The young woman and her mother testified that they felt mortified and that Owens, whom they had met for the first time on their arrival, suggested that the girl marry him.

"We thought the neighbors would not ask questions if Dolores returned a bride, but that did not satisfy them," the mother testified.

The husband joined in the request for annulment.

VOLCANO BEATS TARIFF.

Japanese Crater Refuses Sulphur and Owners Refuse to Pay Duty.

Washington.—Bongo, a volcano in Japan, is defrauding the United States out of duties on raw sulphur every day in the year.

Customs officials after a long wrestle with the Bongo case have decided they cannot do anything with it.

Raw sulphur, as most everyone knows, comes from the crater of a volcano. It is free of duty. Refined sulphur pays $4 a ton.

But Bongo's crater is so hot that it refines the sulphur as fast as it makes it. The shrewd gentlemen who own Bongo steadfastly refuse to pay duty on the sulphur and thenceforward department knows of no way to make them do so.

CYANIDE KILLS CHILDREN.

Death Thought Due to Coffee Found to Have Been Caused by Poison.

St. Joseph, Mo.—Ella and Arthur Farris, nine and twelve years old, respectively, children of A. T. Farris, a farmer near Meadville, Mo., who died after they had drunk coffee at their home last Saturday morning, were poisoned, probably with cyanide according to the testimony of physicians before a coroner's jury that investigated their death.

ELOPED WITH THE COOK.

Miss Margie Warren of Tulare, Weds. Chief in Brother's Restaurant.

Tulare, Calif.—Love in the kitchen led to a before daylight elopement, when Bert Deering, cook at a local restaurant, and Miss Margie Warren, sister of the proprietor of the eating house, much against the wishes of the latter, were wedded.

Miss Warren is pretty, petite and 19, but looks two years younger.

Deering then went back to his occupation of broiling steaks.

LEAVES FIELD RIVAL.

Paul Rainey to Hunt Lions in Africa for Another Year at Least.

Newport.—Little glooms invaded the colony of Paul Rainey's friends when word was received here that the society sportsman had decided to remain another year in the jungles of Africa, where he is hunting lions and elephants. Rainey's decision is accepted as evidence that he is no longer a suitor for the hand of Miss Eleanor Sears, abandoning the field to Harold Vanderbilt.

ROMANCE ENDS HERE WITH A WEDDING

On Saturday evening, Judge Fitz Gerald's office was the scene of the culmination of a romance that has extended over a good many years and over several states also, when James Marcum of Gardane, was united in marriage to Lottie E. Satterlee of Iowa.

Years ago the bride and groom were a couple of "kids" together and they went to the same school back in Iowa. It is not recorded that she was "his queen in calico" or that she wrote on her slate, "I love you, Jim," but the supposition is that such was the case for they were young sweethearts. Then their paths separated, for some reason known only to themselves. Lottie was married to another and Jim came west, either to forget his disappointment or to seek his fortune, and the lapse of years made them but memories to each other.

However, these memories were tender ones for, when last year a guiding hand of fate suddenly made known to the Gardane rancher that his love of many years ago was a widow by reason of the grim reaper's deadly work, he began a communication with her. This communication continued for several months until at last the inevitable happened. Mrs. Satterlee was invited to change her name again but time, experience and a certain Scotch sense of caution bade her find out first how the years had served her first love. She therefore wrote a letter to the county clerk and received in return a missive informing her that Mr. Marcum was a prosperous and steady rancher of this county.

Not yet satisfied, she decided on a trip out here during the time of the Rose Festival. Incidentally, she met her long separated lover and the Cupid flame was lighted again. She returned to Iowa, sold out her property and again came west to stay.

BURNS HERSELF TO DEATH.

Woman Saturates Clothes With Gasoline, Locks Door and Applies Match.

Chicago.—Saturating her clothing with gasoline, Miss Elsie Pelz went to a shed in the rear of her brother-in-law's home at Lockport, closed the door and applied a match. Every detail of her plan to commit suicide was carefully laid, and before aid could reach her the young woman's body was almost consumed by fire.

GIRL DIES DODGING DEATH.

Caught on Bridge With Companion She Jumps 80 Feet to Escape Train.

Santa Barbara.—Caught on the long Southern Pacific bridge near Gaviota, Miss Irene Prazee of Gaviota and Miss Esther Smith of this city jumped eighty feet to the bottom of an arroyo to avoid being crushed by a train. Miss Prazee's skull was crushed. She died at a Santa Barbara hospital shortly after. Miss Smith was also seriously injured.

WARE, BURGLARS! HERE POLICE DOGS WATCH YOU

San Francisco.—Fred H. Sharon, multi-millionaire clubman received from Berlin two Berlin police dogs, which he imported at a cost of $5000, to guard his 300-acre country residence in Manly Park. The animals combine the qualities of the bloodhound and the bulldog.

Sharon is believed to give a burglar a desperate battle. Although the dogs possess German names containing more than thirty letters, they are called Fritz and Katrina.

There are only four dogs of the Berlin kind in the west. James Otten, a wealthy wire manufacturer of 259 Pierce street, owns the other two. He exhibited them at the last fashionable show of the San Maeto Kennel club which has Miss Jennie A. Crocker as the one feminine member of the board of governors. Adelbert von der Wummerviese and Asta von Neuenberg are the names of Otten's dogs.
