More Melons Than Ever.
Freewater, Ore.—The melon crop in this vicinity will be the largest ever known here. Canteloupes are the first to be marketed and are going out now. Watermelons will follow in a few days. The berry season is practically over, a few crates each day being shipped by the Milton-Freewater Fruit Growers' association, which reports that there is a great demand for berries in all the markets.

Labor Scarce at Yakima.
North Yakima, Wash.—A shortage of labor is threatened in the Yakima valley. The fruit picking season will begin in about 10 days and large numbers of men will be needed, in spite of the fact that women and children are employed at the work. About September 1 it is estimated that 2500 hop pickers will be needed to care for the crop. One labor agency in North Yakima has contracts to furnish 1200 pickers. The reclamation service and private irrigation projects are all working short-handed on account of scarcity of labor.

Clarkson of Tomatoes.
Clarkston, Wash.—The tomato crop is now taking the attention of the fanciers in this section. A heavy yield is being realized and all the canneries are working full time putting them up. The crop will be 15 cars and best prices prevail.

Paris.—Henry Bernstein, the dramatist, who has fought three duels arising out of riots which forced him to withdraw his plays "Apres Moi," from the Comedie Francaise, says he will keep on fighting "until the last Jew halter is silenced."

Bernstein is a grandson of William Seligman, the American banker of the Boulevard Hausmann and one of the founders of the American chamber of Commerce of Paris. He is a grand-nephew of James Seligman the New York banker, and also of Jacob Seligman, the London banker.

Bernstein calls duelling an act of a play; he is now awaiting the fourth act of the drama arising out of his play, "Apres Moi."

Muskegon, Mich.—That Mrs. Antoinette Zoll of Conklin, who was found dead in a cowshed in the rear of her farm home, was not murdered, but came to her death by being butted by a ram, is the conclusion practically arrived at by officers investigating the case.

The ram was found in the fields. Its horns bloody and a large patch of blood on the back of its neck.

The theory is that the ram attacked Mrs. Zoll as she ran around the house in terror and finally knocked her down. When it left her it is thought, she managed to drag herself into the shed, where she died.

Upset Horse, Wagon and the Latter's Occupants.
Nazareth, Pa.—While Oliver Helmer was driving through this town with a sturdy cow tied to the end of the wagon, the cow became frightened and, turning suddenly, pulled the wagon and horse in the opposite direction.

When the horse regained a foothold, a tug of war ensued in which the cow managed to pull the wagon over, upsetting Mr. Helmer and his wife and painfully injuring them.

"TY" CORE SENDS AUTOGRAPHED PHOTO TO PRESIDENT'S SON

Washington, D. C.—"Charlie" Taft the president's son, has reason now to be the proudest boy in town—rather in Beverly, where he is now enjoying his vacation.

Somewhere in the mails addressed to "Charlie" is an autographed picture of "Ty" Cobb, the great American League batter.

When the president and Major Butt go to ball games in Washington, "Charlie" frequently accompanies them. He is a real fan and almost as great an admirer of Cobb as is Major Butt, who hails from Augusta, Ga., Cobb's home.

This other day Major Butt suggested to Cobb that an autographed photograph of himself might be acceptable to "Charlie." Cobb found one, wrote his signature across its face and sent it to the White House. Major Butt lost no time in forwarding it to Beverly.

Most celebrated of ancient libraries was that at Alexandria. It contained 7000,000 volumes.

EUGENE-COOS BAY R. R. AUTHORIZED

NEW OREGON LINE TO BE CONSTRUCTED BY S. P.

More Than $8,000,000 to Be Expended and Road Will be Completed and in Operation Within Two Years, According to Official.

Immediate construction of a railroad from Eugene to Marshfield, at a cost estimated at $8,000,000, was authorized yesterday by the Southern Pacific company through J. P. O'Brien, vice-president and general manager in this city, says the Oregonian.

Preliminary surveys already have been made and six engineering parties are in the field locating the permanent line.

Although the definite course through which the new road will be constructed has not yet been selected, Mr. O'Brien said that the general route will be along the Siuslaw river, through the Coast Range to the coast, thence south to Marshfield, where it will connect with the Coos Bay, Roseburg & Eastern Railroad, now operating a line two miles long from Marshfield to Myrtle Point. This road is also owned by the Southern Pacific company.

Drain Project Dropped.
Construction of the road from Eugene to Coos Bay means the abandonment by the Southern Pacific of its project to build to Coos Bay from Drain, 38 miles south of Eugene, at which place several million dollars was spent in preliminary construction work immediately previous to the financial depression four years ago. Part of the improvement used on the Drain line, it is believed, can be utilized on the new project.

The Willamette Pacific Railroad company, incorporated under the laws of Oregon, June 14, 1911, will build the road. The officers of this concern are G. X. Wendling, of San Francisco, president; S. O. Johnson, of San Francisco, vice-president; R. M. Cross of Portland, secretary; C. H. Breck, of Eugene, chief engineer; R. L. Hughes and J. D. Miller, of Portland additional directors.

$1,000,000 Its Capital.
Mr. Wendling is a wealthy timber operator and has extensive holdings adjacent to the Southern Pacific property in this state. Most of the other officers are identified in various ways with the Southern Pacific.

Mr. Breck being assistant engineer in the employ of that company.

The Willamette Pacific company was capitalized at $1,000,000, divided into shares of $1000 each, all of which are held by the Southern Pacific interests.

As soon as the engineers now in the field can return sufficient data to provide plans for construction work, bids will be called for and contracts will be let.

Mr. O'Brien said yesterday that he expects the road will be completed in approximately two years. Trains likely will be in operation over the Coast Range to Coos Bay by January 1, 1914, at the latest.

Orpheum.
Program for Tuesday's change very interesting.

1. "The Latent Spark." Vitagraph. A comedy drama. It bursts forth into a patriotic fervor that kindles every spark of devotion to our country. From an humble start to a glorious finish.
2. "The White Medicine Man." Selig. This little comedy is based upon the well known case with which Indians can be hypnotized. They surrender without a struggle and prove most docile subjects. They are tremendously fond of slight of hand and feats of dexterity.
3. "An Old Man's Folly." Essanay. Dramatic. This domestic story tells the danger which lurks in an old man marrying a young woman, especially when that woman happens to be an actress.
4. "The Phoney Prince." The Me-Sweeney having inherited money, he-

SAGE TEA WILL DARKEN THE HAIR

Restores Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair, with wonderfully beneficial effect.

Nowadays we don't have to resort to old-time, tiresome methods of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skilled chemists better than we could do ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of sulphur, another old time scalp remedy.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by the Pendleton Drug Co.

come socially ambitious. In consequence Jack Madden, Nora's lover, is not good enough for the old lady. The McSweeneys move up a peg. Jack learns that Nora is going to marry a Persian prince. He is therefore in deep despair. His chums, however, fix up a scheme to do up the nabob. Following out their plan they meet him at the depot with an automobile on his arrival in town and take him to Jack's apartments where through a subterfuge they get him to take off part of his regalia. Then they lock him in a room and Jack makes up as the prince. Then as his Persian highness Jack marries the blushing Nora.

The Pastime.

The house of quality. Always a well selected program. Tuesday's change follows:

"The Price of a Man." Edison. Here is an interesting story of a man wrongfully accused of a crime, making his escape from prison, befriended by a widow whose home is about to be taken from her under foreclosure proceedings. He gives himself up to the parson that the reward may be given to her to save her home. The man is proved innocent and freed. This play gives a decided tug at one's heart strings. It is a very worthy play, convincing and effective.

"Stubbs' New Servants." Biograph. Stubbs' man and maid servant leave, both being matrimonially inclined. They decide to do their own work but it grows monotonous. Each engaging a servant unknown to the other, induces complications which almost break up the Stubbs home.

"A Wonderful Eye." Biograph. A stranded theatrical troupe manages to get back to New York in rather a novel fashion.

"A Russian Gypsy." American Pathé. This film is colored and effectively brings out the Gypsy love of bright tints. It tells a tragic story of a Russian peasant who fell in love with a beautiful gypsy girl. She is false to him and a few months after he marries her he kills her, with a ripsy man. The acting is very good.

"The Wife's Awakening." Lubin. In this story a former lover figures to some extent, though he does not wreck the home. The husband's surprise when he returns home is the feature of the drama.

"The Water Beetle and Its Young." This is most fascinating picture.

The Cosy.
An extraordinary feature for Wednesday and Thursday, "The Boy Scouts." It has caused favorable notice in the daily papers, magazines and schools all over the country. Don't fail to let the children see this wonderful educational picture.

"The Boy Scouts to the Rescue." Champion. A feature film depicting the life of this famous organization and some of their wonderful adventures. The daily routine of camp life is seen. Also the sports they indulge in, swimming, diving, wrestling, all kinds of games, rescuing a drowning boy and reviving him. But, hist! the Indians are on their trail and while three scouts are in the woods the Indians capture two, the third escapes and wigwags the camp for aid. The boys are tied to a tree, fire blazing around their feet while the savages dance in glee. The gallant scouts come up and put their enemies to flight and save their comrades. Their work in rendering "first aid to the injured," is now shown as they care for the injured, both white men and Indians receiving attention.

"On the Brink." Rex. Far from the rush and roar of city life, lived Tess and her half-witted brother, They earn a living by clam digging. A young fisherman is kind to them and Tess learns to love him. A city girl comes to the village and Tom becomes infatuated, forgetting Tess. One day Tess gets locked in an ice house and her brother goes for aid, but no one believes his story. Tom, coming ashore decides to see if the tale is true and saves Tess, whom he loves at last. Beautifully colored.

"It's a Rex."

"The Hermit's Gold." American. A graphically told story of the west. George and Charley love Clara. She tells them to go get rich, so Charley goes into the mountains in search of gold. He falls and is injured and is cared for by a hermit. Charley, finding the hermit has gold ore, assaults him and steals the gold. George knows Charley has not come by the gold honestly and finally Charley confesses. George goes to the aid of the hermit, who, in gratitude leaves him all his gold. George spurns the girl, who has caused such trouble for all.

"Foolishhead, Life Insurance Agent." Itala. Pronounced by critics to be one of the best comedies of the season. Foolishhead displays more energy than sense in pursuing his victims and their frantic efforts to elude will cause roars of laughter. He chases two men to the roof and tells his story while they dangle from the eaves.

"The Fountains of Rome." Itala. Fine scenic picture of the historic old city, showing some fine street scenes.
