WATCHING THE FAIR AMUSEMENT PROGRAM AT SPOKANE.

Not a chance for a dull minute at the Spokane Interstate Fair this fall. Every hour of the seven days, from Oct. 2 to 8, will have some pleasure all its own. Each morning there will be concerts by Ferullo's big Italian Concert band, exhibits of blue ribbon live stock in the judging arena and a lecture by Professor Frank G. Odell, the "bee wizard." Promptly at 1 o'clock in the afternoon the band concerts will begin before the grand stand; at 1:30 the harness races for purses, which amount to $2,000 daily; then the running races for purses equally as large, the always thrilling relay race, the big program of circus and vaudeville acts and, last, but far from least, the aeroplane contests between two of the most famous of the world's aviators.

Between the close of the afternoon program and the opening of the night show there are acres of exhibits to see and all the new attractions on the Midway. Many good restaurants will furnish everything to eat from a hamburger sandwich to a real dinner, and then it is time to hurry back to the grand stand for the big night spectacle, "Pioneer Days in the Palouse," and the always gorgeous fireworks displays. Not a spectator can go home unsatisfied this year, for the exhibits and amusements will be varied enough to suit every taste.

An intensely interesting program has been arranged in connection with this night show of frontier life, and many riders and other performers will be brought from Oregon, Wyoming, Idaho and Montana. Among others who will appear is Colonel W. A. Hills, known as "Wild Bill From Up the Gully," the famous representative of the Remington Arms company and one of the most expert rifle and pistol shots in the United States, who will perform every night feats with bullets which most shots would consider impossible in the daytime. In all more than 300 men, Indians and horses will be used to outline a thrilling living picture of "Pioneer Days in the Palouse."

FARMERS FIRE AT AUTOS.

Rosalia Ranchers Call to Drivers to Stop, Then Shoot.

Rosalia, Wash.—Farmers near Rosalia have embarrassed automobile drivers of late. On several occasions they have shot at passing machines, calling on the drivers to stop. Each time there have been women in the cars. When Mr. Whitfield was driving to town, the farmers tried the same tactics. Mr. Whitfield, Marshal

Brewer and F. Hardesty left to identify the men. They had a hard time reaching them, for they drove their team at a terrific pace. Mr. Brewer did not shoot, even though they fired about 12 times. When the men were caught they threw their pistols into the grain near the road. Marshall Brewer reported the matter to the sheriff at Colfax and warrants will be sworn out for their arrest.

SOUTHERN STATES TO TRY IRRIGATING LANDS

Success On Pacific Slope Attracts Attention of Land Owners in Other Sections.

Spokane, Wash.—Dr. Samuel Fortier, chief of irrigation investigations for the United States Department of Agriculture, who is making a tour of the Pacific Northwestern states, said in Spokane that it is only a question of a few years when many farms, orchards, truck gardens and berry fields in most of the eastern, central and southern states will be watered by artificially supplied moisture. Continuing, Dr. Fortier said among other things:
 "The growers have seen or heard of the success in the irrigated districts of the west and they realize the benefits of this form of insurance against deficient rainfall or providing methods to supply moisture to growing crops at the proper time. This can be regulated by employing any of the several systems practiced in the Pacific slope country and elsewhere."
 "Just now the department is making a series of experiments to determine the amount of water required for irrigation as well as the best time to apply the moisture. We have arranged for a practical demonstration in one of the valley west of Spokane, where the work will be under the direction of Stephen C. Jayne, irrigation expert and investigator for the Department of Agriculture."
 "We are also encouraging wheat and grain farmers in the semi-humid districts of Washington to place some of their holdings under irrigation and devote more attention to diversified farming. This would not only permit from three to four times as many people to make homes on the land, but also means larger and more profitable crops. There is an abundant water supply at depths ranging from 55 to 100 feet and less in numerous instances. Besides, the farmer will find it pays to diversify and rotate his crops."

There is no danger that bills of either issue will get into circulation in Portland.

It is said the counterfeiting by means of wood cuts is practically a "lost art," wood cut engraving being little practiced at the present time, the few, who attempt it doing poor work.

G. N. SWITCHMAN KILLED.

Succumbs to Shock Following Amputation.

Whitefish, Mont.—Harry S. Crane, a Great Northern switchman, died after having had his leg crushed under the wheels of a yard engine when it collided with the engine No. 1411. Death resulted from the shock of amputation.

Crane left a widow and children in Minneapolis and had only been employed here a short time.

HOUSE DESTROYED WHEN HYDRANT FAILS TO WORK

La Grande, Or.—A dwelling on North Spruce street, belonging to Mrs. Anna Shafer, was almost destroyed by fire, owing to a badly working hydrant. The firemen were taken to the scene in an automobile, and but little damage would have resulted had the apparatus been in working order. The damage will probably amount to $1500.
