PRODIGAL RETURNS RICH

New York Youth Makes Stake in Frozen North.

Los Angeles.—Driven from his New York home by an irate parent because of dissolute habits and forced to make his way in the world without money, Ben Stern, after four years, has returned to civilization worth a quarter of a million, according to his own estimate. He arrived at the Alexandria from Alaska, where he traveled after his fall from grace.

"I'll have to admit that the trail I blazed on the White Way was not an indifferent one, according to the manner of trails," said he as he told of his youthful years.

"When the crash came I managed to scrape together several hundred dollars, sufficient to take me out of the atmosphere of New York. Several of my friends had managed to get a start in Alaska and I decided to try my fortunes in that country."

Judging from the effects—a frozen nose, frost bitten hands and feet—his first two years were hard.

"The Fairbanks boom found me among the first in town," he said. "There I managed to secure a good stake and shortly afterward an old miner, whom I had befriended, told me of wonderful finds in the Yukon territory toward Michael, and later this was more exactly located as on the Inukto river."

"It was the first inkling of the finds that have made Iditarod famous since that time. Fortunately, I was one of the first men in the district, and started early in the game. I cleared a handsome sum. In addition, I still hold valuable property which is bringing dividends."

"It was time, according to my estimation to make known my complete regeneration to my father, and that is what I started to do." Here he showed how strange are the workings of Providence. Pulling out a telegram he read a note from Joseph Stern, who had arrived in San Francisco just three days ago on a search of his son. In some way the father had learned of his son's coming here and wired for confirmation.

"Tomorrow morning I will leave for the north and I expect that father will feel rather happy over the return of a prodigal who has managed to make good."

Stern was a member of the class of medicine, 1901, at Cornell university. He was also a member of some of the prominent New York clubs.

TRAINS FOR STAGE "ACT" BY LASSOING AUTOMOBILES

Des Moines Man Has Great Amusement Throwing Rope Over Passing Vehicles.

Des Moines, Iowa.—E. W. Edwards, after having lassoed several vehicles, including two touring cars, a limousine and a bakery wagon, at Grand avenue and Nineteenth street tonight was captured by enraged motorists and securely bound in his own lariat pending the arrival of the police.

At headquarters Edwards declared he was in training for a lariat act on the stage and wanted to see if he had learned anything. He said he was enjoying himself hugely when interrupted.

SUCIDE'S ESTATE IS TWENTY-TWO SNAKES

Baise, Idaho.—Wanted—Somebody to adopt 22 healthy orphan snakes and two miscellaneous reptiles.

That is the sign that Coroner Schreiber is thinking of hanging out. He will not give the snakes away, but would like to sell them.

The snakes were the property of Miss Grace Boreland, the snake charmer with the carnival company now showing here, who committed suicide some time Monday night. The girl's lifeless body was found in her room at the Iberia hotel Tuesday afternoon. She had taken the contents of a large bottle of chloroform.

The girl is known to have a grand-mother, Mrs. Loretta Daily, living in Portland, and it is thought she has other relatives living. The coroner has so far been unable to get into communication with her people.

The coroner has temporary charge of her effects and the disposal of the snakes is proving a puzzle.

GIRL ACCIDENTALLY SHOOT'S HER MOTHER

Walla Walla, Wash., Aug. 19.—While attempting to extract a cartridge from a 22 rifle yesterday noon at her home one mile from Starbuck, the 14-year-old daughter of Mrs. Cornelius Tehan, accidentally discharged the piece, the ball striking Mrs. Tehan on the right side of the neck, lodging in the muscles. Dr. Huntington was called from Starbuck and succeeded in stopping the flow of blood, but the condition of the injured woman was considered so dangerous Dr. Huntington rushed her to Walla Walla on the local train. She was taken to St. Mary's hospital immediately, where Dr. E. E. Shaw was called to attend her.

Nothing definite concerning the condition of Mrs. Tehan could be learned but Dr. Shaw is keeping her under close observation. The ball has not been removed, but an attempt will be made if the patient's condition permits.

WANT AD BRINGS WEALTH

Minnesota Man Will Share in Fortune of $1,000,000.

Remidji, Minn.—One day a proprietor of a confectionery store, and the next direct heir to riches involving the distribution of more than $1,000,000, is the good fortune which appears to be in store for John Abercrombie of this city, formerly of Cass Lake and Minneapolis.

News of his sudden wealth came to Mr. Abercrombie by accident, a friend reading the following want ad in a St. Paul paper:

"Lost Relative—John Abercrombie, who was living at Cass Lake, Minn., in 1898, is entitled to a share of the estate of the late Sarah A. Parker, his aunt, and he or any one knowing his whereabouts is asked to communicate immediately with George J. Alexander, Richmond, Quebec, Can."

Mr. Abercrombie moved from Cass Lake to Bemidji several years ago and the moment his eyes rested on the advertisement he realized that a fortune had strangely been thrust upon him.

"The woman referred to," said Mr. Abercrombie today, "certainly is my aunt; she is a sister to my father."

Mr. Abercrombie at once wrote Mr. Alexander in Canada. He does not question the authenticity of the advertisement.

There were nine children in the Abercrombie family, of whom his aunt was one, John being the second oldest of a family of five. There were

Robbers Commit Murder.

Butte, Mont., Aug. 19.—At Pipestone Springs, just east of this city, an attempt last night to hold up a saloon ended in murder. Two masked bandits entered the barroom and finding about a dozen men lounging around, commenced shooting. A Greek section hand was instantly killed; a man named Koontz was shot twice through the body and perhaps fatally wounded, while another Greek section hand was shot through the hand and neck. His condition is serious. The robbers without attempting to secure any plunder, turned and fled in the darkness into the nearby mountains. An automobile loaded with sheriff's officers has left Butte for the scene.
