Attracted by Dead Youth's Wife He Kills Her Also in Naval Arsenal.

Honolulu, H. I.—That Admiral Lee Chun, a prominent officer of the new Chinese navy, executed his son for showing revolutionary tendencies, was in turn wounded by his daughter-in-law, who sought to avenge her husband, and killed the young woman, is the news received here by prominent Chinese connected with the revolutionary cause, who have been obliged to flee from China to save their lives.

Admiral Lee Chun is in charge of the naval arsenal at Canton and the remarkable story was smuggled out from there past the Chinese censors and in defiance of orders commanding secrecy in the matter, issued by the Pekin authorities. Cablegrams from China have referred to the admiral as being ill, but have not stated from what he suffered.

It is stated that the admiral's son became fired with the spirit of the revolutionists and started to preach sedition among the Chinese sailors at Canton. The father learned of this, summoned the young man to his room, denounced him as a traitor and shot him dead on the spot.

The young man's wife heard the report of the pistol and at once got a revolver, rushed into the admiral's room, and as she opened the door, fired. The bullet hit the admiral in the thigh, but before she could fire a second shot, the admiral shot her also, and her body fell over that of her husband.

Every effort was made to keep news of the tragedy from becoming public, but the revolutionists have spies in Canton and they sent the information to Honolulu.

GRISWOLD SEEKS THE STAGE.

Woman He Sues for Breach of Promise is Yachting.

New York—While the great "Ruzzielamb and Brunhilde" breach of promise case is being prepared for trial in the October term of the supreme court, Russell A. Griswold the fair young plaintiff for $50,000 damages against Helen R. Smith, is following a stage career. After a brief course of tutelage in the chorus, Ruzzielamb has received the part of Launcelet Gaggs in "The Henpecks" at the Broadway theatre.

And such is his devotion to "the profession" that Ruzzielamb raises no objection when in the third scene of the first act he is required to come upon the stage with his beauty marred. He appears with crosspatches of court plaster over the countenance with which the wealthy Miss Smith was once so charmed. He is supposed to have suffered all this laceration at the hands of Henry Peck, the former village barber.

Once in his chorus days, it is said Miss Smith sat in a box and when the eyes of Ruzzielamb and herself met she smiled at him and waved her hand. At least, Ruzzielamb says so. Moreover, he says he did not smile back—not he! As regards this scene no word confirmatory or otherwise could be obtained from Brunhilde, who is cruising in Maine waters in her yacht the Viking.

CANNON IN TRESTLE MISHAP.

Former Speaker and Party Have Narrow Escape on Trolley.

Washington, D. C.—Attorney General Wickersham, former Speaker Cannon, representative Mann of Illinois, republican leader of the house, and a party of republican members of congress had a narrow escape in an accident of the Great Falls & Old Dominion railway when their special car, traveling at a high speed, ran down a cow. For a time it seemed that the car would be hurled from a high trestle, but it held to the rails and no one was injured.

He was driving from the east to the west part of town when his team became frightened and ran, throwing the driver to the ground. This is the same team that recently ran away with Al Robb and seriously injured that man.

TALENTED PARROTT SAVES 20 PERSONS

"Come On, Harry!" It Slings Out When Spoke Spreads.

New York—A talented green parrot gave an alarm of fire in a 10-story Madison avenue apartment house and saved the lives of 20 persons who would otherwise have been suffocated by the dense smoke which filled the upper doors of the building.

The parrot, owned by Henry W. Dearborn, superintendent of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration association, noticed the smoke shortly after midnight and aroused its master by calling repeatedly: "Come on, Harry; come on, come on!"

The fire was in the apartment just above. Dearborn awakened his family and ran with his parrot's cage under his arm to the street, where he found a policeman. The bluecoat manned the elevator and rushing through the upper floors of the building, aroused all the occupants. The blaze was confined to two apartments, causing a loss of $50,000.

SPECIAL SESSION OF CONGRESS ADJOURNS

that part of Arizona's constitution.

The president himself has been compelled to concede the right and justice of the initiative, the referendum and the recall, with the sole exception of the judiciary.

The president's refusal to accept the wool schedule is equivalent to saying that he is not willing to agree to the schedules acceptable to the progressive element of his own party. The wisdom or the unwisdom of his views must be settled by the people.

The special session has not accomplished what it should have, though it has its credit some substantial legislation.

The corrupt practice act will have some restraining influence on excessive expenditure of money in congressional and senatorial elections.

The reciprocity bill, I think, will not produce satisfactory results. I think it will slightly reduce the price of farm products but not the cost of living because the reduction will be all absorbed by the middle men.

Efforts of progressive republicans to reduce excessive duties on manufactured articles failed through a combination between the president, standpat republicans and certain democratic leaders.

The passage by the senate of the resolution for direct election of senators is the greatest triumph of the

GRATUITY TO BARBER LEADS TO PRISON CELL.

Cincinnati.—A 15-cent tip to a barber is the real cause of much trouble in the family of John C. Byland of Boone county, Ky. His son has been sent to the Kentucky penitentiary for five years and he is a prisoner charged with the embezzlement of $18,000 from a Richwood, Ky., deposit bank.

More than a year ago his son, Raymond Byland, went into a barber shop near where they lived and got shaved. He did not notice that there was another customer in the shop.

When he had been shaved young Byland gave the barber 25 cents and told him to keep the change. Both Bylands were working in a bank, the son getting $50 a month. The other customer in the shop was one of the directors of the bank.

The director called a meeting of the board the next morning and an investigation was begun. All agreed no man working for $50 a month should tip a barber 15 cents for a shave. Before the investigation closed John C. Byland and his son fled from Kentucky. Later the directors announced that $18,000 was gone.

Raymond Byland was arrested eight months after their disappearance in Sacramento, Cal. where he was working under an assumed name. He was brought back to Kentucky and sent to the penitentiary. He saw his little child for the first time when he returned.

His father was arrested in Detroit and taken to Kentucky, where he will be tried this week. The father says he is glad the chase is over and asserts that he intended to return to Kentucky and surrender.

IMPALED UPON A SHAFT.

Cyclist Collides With Milk Wagon at Foot of Mountain Trail.

Pasadena, Calif.—J. Honda, a bicyclist, was impaled upon the shaft of a milk wagon with which he collided at Sierra Madre and was brought to a hospital in this city with a piece of hickory pole still protruding from his right breast.

Riding at high speed down a mountain trail, which led into Sierra Madre, Honda suddenly turned into a street along which the milk wagon was being rapidly driven. The cyclist was unable to turn aside to avoid the collision and the shaft was driven into his breast.

Dr. Lemoine Willis was summoned and under his direction the shaft was not withdrawn from Honda's breast, but sawed off until he could be operated upon in a hospital here.
