Although the men were captured and the cell gone over carefully the saws were not discovered.

SCIENTISTS TO BE ENTERTAINED AT SPOKANE

Spokane, Wash.—Dr. George Kemmerer, professor in chemistry at the mining department of the University of New Mexico, and John P. Howard, professor in zoology at the University of Oregon, who have just completed a series at the lakes of the inland empire for the United States bureau of fisheries will be entertained at a luncheon by the Spokane chamber of commerce on August 29, when representatives of the commercial clubs in Washington, Idaho, Oregon and Montana will be the guests of the local organization.

The experts declare that Chelan lake, in north central Washington, is the deepest body of water in the inland empire, if not in the northwest. Two soundings show it has a depth of 1598 feet, the bed being more than 400 feet below sea level. The water is cold on the surface and warm at the bottom of the lake. Dr. Kemmerer will make a detailed report on this phenomenon, also explaining other peculiarities of the waters in the district.

The purpose of the investigations, which were undertaken by the bureau of fisheries at the instance of the Spokane chamber of commerce and the Spokane Fish Protective association, are to determine which lakes are suitable for certain varieties of fish, among those tested being Chelan, Clear, Silver, Leon, Deer, Liberty, Sullivan, Silver and William lakes in Washington, and Hayden, Coeur d'Alene, Priest, Upper Priest, Twin and Spirit lakes in Idaho.

HAS ANY SCHOOL TEACHER FOUR CHILDREN?

If so, He or She May Secure Berth at Good Salary. Wallace, Idaho.—School teachers applying for positions in the Gordon district, in Shoshone county, have been confronted by one of the most unusual requirements ever named by a board. They have found youth, beauty and even efficiency crowded into the background. The prime specification is motherhood. Not a child or two will do, and those directors who have a $100 salary to give will hear to not less than four. Without this family of four the Gordon district, though one of the richest in the world, must pass out of existence, leaving a new school home, a good library and an unspent surplus of more than $4000.

For years the Gordon district has been a family affair. Two sets of parents have furnished all the children. To the consternation of A. Oswald one of these two fathers, A. Mason, the other, recently announced his intention of leaving the district. His departure leaves, besides Mr. Oswald and the teacher, but two other men. The enrollment this year was to have been five. Four of these five are the children of Mr. Mason. This leaves but one child of school age. Without more the district must lapse.

ROUND-UP BOOSTER AT WALLA WALLA

L. D. Drake, of the East Oregonian Publishing company and the advertising manager of the "Round-Up" is in Walla Walla today to see the circus and attend to business, says the Bulletin. Mr. Drake is talking the "Round-Up" to everyone and casting broadcast the information that the Round-Up will beat any show in the West including Cheyenne; that it costs $10,000 to put it on this year; that it will have the first contest ever pulled off between lady bronco busters; the first bulldogging contest in captivity (three entries already made); the first Westward Ho, mounted parade; the Round-Up is advertised by the biggest sign in the world; Pendleton and the Round-Up can accommodate ten thousand people; a sanitary camping ground will be provided for anyone to bring his camping outfit; the largest single order for beds in the West has just been placed; the saddle and bridle for broncho busters at the Round-Up was exhibited at Cheyenne last week and took a prize over Cheyenne's first prize. Pendleton expects Walla Walla to be depopulated during the show, which will be given on September 14, 15 and 16; and lots of other things.

Which, Mr. Drake goes on to explain mean that there will be some show this year and that Pendleton is going to be the merry host to Walla Walla.

INSURANCE MEN TO MEET IN SPOKANE

Hundreds of Letters, Inviting Commissioners, Bring Results.

Spokane, Wash.—Credit for bringing the 1812 convention of the National Association of State Insurance Commissioners to the Pacific country belongs largely to H. R. Cunningham of Montana, S. A. Kozler of Oregon, H. C. Cooper of California, I. C. Hattabaugh of Idaho and Willard Done of Utah, who worked actively with J. H. Schively of Washington. In his presentation of the claims of the western country, the result being that Spokane was unanimously selected as the next gathering place at the annual meeting just closed at Milwaukee.

R. J. Maclean, secretary of the Spokane chamber of commerce, said this today, adding that the governors and commercial organizations of Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana and boards of trade in British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan forwarded several hundred letters and telegrams seconding Spokane's invitation. The western states also were supported by the southern delegation, the result being that Spokane won over 10 cities in the eastern and central states.

"Next year's convention gives every promise of being the most largely attended in the history of the association," says J. L. Mitchell, in a telegram from Milwaukee to the Spokane organization, "and a visit by 250 representative men from practically every state in the Union and officials from Canada and their families means much to the entire Pacific slope and intermountain country and I think that every community will benefit in one way or another."

LOCKJAW SERUM SAVES LIFE.

Desperate Case, With Daily Convulsions, Yields to Science.

Collegeville, Pa.—Charles Wilson, a constable of Upper Providence township, will probably be the first person in Montgomery county known to recover from lockjaw.

About a month ago Wilson accidentally stepped on a rusty nail. It completely pierced his foot and left an ugly wound. In a few days signs of tetanus appeared and he was removed to the hospital at Phoenixville.

The tetanus gerin was already at work and the case became a desperate one. For two weeks thereafter occurred four or five convulsions daily. The patient's muscles were rigid and the jaws became stiff.

Antitoxin was regularly administered and soon the paroxysms decreased in number and severity. During the past four days no convulsions have occurred and today the hospital authorities stated that they fully expected him to recover.

A single line of Frederick II, reflecting on the poetry of a French minister, plunged France into seven years' war.
