

YOU KNOW

You know, or if you don't it's up to you to come and see, that The Peoples Warehouse ALWAYS has the largest, the best, the newest Styles of Women's Suits and Coats. THIS YEAR we have excelled all former seasons, in the Character and Style of Garments shown. Our word to that effect would be of little moment if we did not have the Suits to back up our word. We have added to our force Miss Potter of Kansas City, who has taken charge of FITTING, this itself would be of small importance were it not for the fact that it keeps us as usual in the FRONT place. Our guarantee, "THAT A SALE IS NOT MADE UNTIL BOTH PARTIES ARE SATISFIED." Come every day and you will find something NEW in Pendleton's Best and Greatest Ready-to-Wear Department.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

Horse Hurts Wapato Man.
Wapato, Wash.—Jacob Beeks, a reservation rancher, was thrown from a fractious horse and suffered the fracture of two ribs. The animal broke through a two-inch plank enclosure and threw Beeks against the side of a barn.

Two Escape Yakima Jail.
North Yakima, Wash.—Frank Smith, colored, and Jesse W. Anderson, prisoners in the county jail for two months sawed off a heavy steel bar in a window of the large room on the second story, squeezed through the seven inch opening, dropped to the ground and got away.

Kenewick Pullet Lovers Record.
Kenewick, Wash.—Ira A. Boynton, a local chicken fancier, has a White Leghorn pullet which he believes can lay claim to the youngest laying record of the valley. The pullet was hatched at Mounsey Brothers' pens April 4 of this year and began laying August 15.

Checks Burning of Field.
Baker, Ore.—Miles Lee, sheep king of Baker county, has secured a temporary restraining order to prevent the county court from burning his 80-acre field of oats because it has Canada thistle in it. The field is now in shock and he declares it is worth $2000. The court has been waging a vigorous war against the thistle and has ordered several fields destroyed.

New Fishing Banks in Alaska.
Seattle.—The discovery of many new fishing banks in Alaska waters is reported by persons who arrived from the north on the steamship Albatross of the United States bureau of fisheries today. The Albatross, which spent several months cruising in the north, stopped here long enough to land Captain Burrage and Captain Joyce of this city, who went on the cruise as harbor specialists. She then proceeded to San Francisco.

Loses Thumb in Cogwheels.
Reardan, Wash.—While Will O'Hara was running an engine on the James McDowell place, eight miles from Reardan his thumb was drawn into the gearing of revolving cogwheels and was badly torn and crushed. The young man rode into town with no further attention to the wound than to wrap it with a cloth and at the Reardan hospital suffered the amputation of the injured member without taking anesthetics.

Elliott Is Nabbed at Sprague.
Sprague, Wash.—Tom Elliott, who has been making her home with Leo Scherer, eight miles east of town, was arrested by Constable L. C. Clark on a charge of being an accessory to passing a counterfeit $20 bill on Mrs. Pittner in charge of the Caulman lodging house. The United States marshal was notified to take charge of Elliott.

Road Goes to Pendleton.
Ritzville, Wash.—Peter Rossi entered a plea of guilty in Judge O. R. Holcomb's court on a charge of shooting W. H. King with a shotgun. Rossi, an Italian, 28 years of age, was behind King when he shot him in the right arm, from the effects of which amputation of the arm near the shoulder was necessary. King is a salesman. Rossi was sentenced to from five to seven years in the penitentiary at Walla Walla.

HERMISTON STORE BOOSTING ROUND-UP

(Special Correspondence.)
Hermiston, Ore., Aug. 31.—To show that the merchants of Hermiston are enthusiastic boosters for the Pendleton Round-Up, the enterprising firm of the Hermiston Mercantile company has a fine "Round-Up" window display. It is a work of art. The window was made up by Mr. Will Donovan, one of the members of the company and shows a "cowboy" asleep, with his blankets, guns and saddle lying around him. The camp fire near him is burning dimly and shows that he is just resting while on his way to the "Round-Up" at Pendleton. The background of the display is made up of the famous Pendleton blankets, and souvenirs of the Round-Up for 1911.

Mr. Frank McGuinness, formerly of Chicago, Ill., today filed on the homestead of Mark J. Barthel, relinquished by him to the government. This homestead lies in Section 26 and is described as Unit "E" in the SW 1-4 of Section 26, Tp. 5 N., R. 28 E., W. 4 M. and is in the third Unit. Mr. McGuinness arrived here yesterday from Chicago, his wife has been here for about two weeks the guest of Jos. Barthel and family, they have two children. Mr. McGuinness seemed greatly impressed with the country. Mr. Percy Holland arrived home from Portland, Oregon, this morning where he had been for a week on business.

Mr. Henry Sommerer is around getting his specimens for the county fair. He states that if he receives all that has been promised to him he will not have room in the booth. He has a room rented and the farmers are bringing in their best products to be shown at the coming fair at Pendleton.

AUTO PULLS TRAIN IN BENTON COUNTY

Fitted With Railway Wheels It Draws Push Cars on 20-Mile Road.
Corvallis, Ore.—The oddest railroad train in the state of Oregon, if not in the United States, runs on the railroad between this city and Monroe, in the southern part of Benton county. It consists of an old Reo automobile fitted with small railway car wheels, and to this car are attached a couple of ordinary section push cars fitted with couplings and bumpers and provided with seats. The Reo car, a five-passenger auto, is the engine and day coach, while the improvised cars are used as smoking car, baggage and express.

The novel train makes two regular daily round trips between the two places, running on a regular schedule and carrying passengers and baggage. The road has been operated for some time as a logging road and to carry freight, but no passenger service was maintained until the Railroad Commission informed the company that, as it was a common carrier, a regular passenger schedule would have to be maintained and traffic of this kind cared for. The distance between the two terminals is 20 miles.

TRAMP SERIOUSLY CUT BY COMPANION

He Refuses to Disclose His Name or Identity of His Assailant.
La Grande, Or.—A stranger is being housed in the city jail as a result of a cutting affray refusing to give his name or that of his assailant. Two men, believed to be tramps, were noticed scuffling just outside of the city limits, east of the railroad yards, where some Greek railroad camping cars are standing. After a little while the affair stopped and an investigation found one man bleeding profusely, his nose cut off entirely, his cheeks cut until his jawbone and teeth were bared, and his wrist and body badly cut. When the injured man was brought to town, where he received medical attention, he refused to give any information as to his identity or that of his assailant.

Sallow complexion comes from bilious impurities in the blood and the fault lies with the liver and bowels—they are torpid. The medicine that gives results in such cases is HERBINE. It is a fine liver stimulant and bowel regulator. Price 50c. Sold by A. C. Koeppen & Brothers.

The Orpheum.
Good program for Friday's change: 1. "The Gypsy." Lubin. Bob Hunter went out on his country estate to drive away a band of gypsies. He saw and loved Zara, daughter of the chief. She was a beautiful girl of refined type. At first Zara only laughed at him, but he was persistent and in the end she accepted him and they were married. A painful surprise awaited him when his mother and sister refused to receive her. Poor Zara fled back, brokenhearted, to her father's camp, and rich Bob Hunter, learning the cause of her flight, followed her and renounced wealth and position for the sweets of love.

2. "The Old Captain." Selig. A tale of the sea that will grip from the first till last and its memory never fades. The thrilling scenes aboard a big ship makes the picture well worth seeing.

3. "The Gordian Knot." Essanay. A pretty comedy drama of rural life. The sunshine and shadows of a country courtship. Excellent acting, well appointed scenes and clear, clean cut photography.

4. "A Broken Life." Pathé. The cowboys on the ranch are wildly excited over the report of another gold strike on the Yukon and all decide to go. Jim, one of the cowboys, takes an affectionate goodbye of his little sweetheart, Mary. Later we see the men on the trail of the gold fields. They make a strike and then Jim receives a letter that Mary's father has died and he decides to return to her. On the back trail he is held up by a bandit, robbed of his gold and left for dead. Years pass and Mary receives no word from Jim. One day a stranger comes and after a short courtship they decide to marry. Pretty soon a little girl comes to make their lives happy. One summer day Jim comes back and recognizes Mary's husband as the bandit who robbed him of his gold, but rather than ruin the happiness of the girl he loves goes away and leaves them in peace.

The Pastime.
Where you see only the best in motion pictures. Friday's change of program follows:

"The Switchman's Tower." Edison. It is a living photograph that opens this strong and wholly praiseworthy picture of a noble, human act. Indeed what the switchman did was as fine a deed of heroism as was ever done. Such a picture as this is a rebuke to much that is thrown upon the screen. "The Switchman's Tower" is no sentimental picture nor is it a picture of angels. It is full of human life and full of interest. Herbert man truth. It is a picture of real life. One of the most competent photographers in the business is the switchman; Mary Fuller plays his wife and the engineer is James Gordon. The acting of all including the firemen, is perfect and the settings could hardly be improved.

"The Ruling Passion." Biograph. A typical small boy is the hero of this picture. The last two scenes of it are especially fine. The ruling passion of one of the boys is to be a pirate. The result is that the little heroine and the pirates mate are last seen far out at sea in a tiny row boat which is fast becoming filled with water. See

York & York Chinese Doctors CAN POSITIVELY CURE YOU

Those who are suffering from diseases which many other doctors have pronounced incurable, now have relief in sight. York & York, the famous Chinese doctors, are now located in Walla Walla. These men, after years of study and research in China, were granted diplomas by the Emperor, to pursue their practice of medicine.

For centuries the Chinese have been acknowledged leaders in the practice of medicine, and many wealthy people annually go to that country in search of relief for ailments which doctors of this country have pronounced incapable of permanent cure.

York & York use nothing but powerful roots and herbs of demonstrated medical value. These roots and herbs act gently on the system in direct contrast to medicines usually given.

They can be consulted without cost. Those residing out of the city can send for symptom blanks and a free diagnosis will be given.

"Pathe's Weekly." Current events every week. This week, Bob Burman in auto races at the Point Breeze track. The Knights of Columbus in convention at Detroit. The wreck of the schooner Wamataek on Cape Cod. The U. S. Battleships at Provincetown, Mass. Pictures of the Czar of Russia, Crown Prince of Germany, King Charles of Roumania, King Humbert of Italy, the king of Belgium, the late Maria Pia, etc.
"Her Spoiled Boy." Melies. Mother's boy in this story was thoroughly spoiled; he lacked all human instructions and knew nothing of life, but what hard experience awakened him he comes to his senses and plays the part.
Remember, Pathe's Weekly Friday and Saturday.

The Cosy.
A live program for Wednesday and Thursday. War, wild west and some good comedy, keeps up the interest every minute.

"The Turning Point." Reliance. The young wife unable to bear her husband's cruelty, divorced him and went back to her old home. She fell into the water while canoeing and was rescued by a young man who later married her. One night a burglar entered their home and in a pistol duel the husband was wounded. The wife, rushing into the room, recognized the burglar as her former husband, but to save notoriety, she allowed him to go.

"The Cowboy's Deliverance." American. Steve and Jim were not very good friends and when Steve ac-identally shot himself and the cowboys found Jim standing near the wounded man they accused him, but he escaped and took refuge in Steve's cabin where he was hid by Steve's wife. The cowboys searched the cabin but not finding Jim departed. The story closes in a dramatic and exciting manner.

"In the Sultan's Garden." Imp. Lieutenant Robbins, an American naval officer while in the harem saw Haydie, the sultan's favorite, and fell in love. He decided to aid her in escaping, but they were both caught and were sentenced to death. Haydie was thrown into the sea, sewed in a sack, but by means of a concealed knife, cut the sack and swam to the American warships. The navy boys hurry to the lieutenant's relief and release him after a desperate battle with the sultan's soldiers. More Turks arrive and more sailors leave the warships and the battle grows furious. The battleship now takes a hand and soon scatters the Turks. The lieutenant got his girl and so all is well.

"Bill's Day Out." Lux. Bill attended the fair and his experiences were awful to relate. After getting tangled up in taffy, Bill decides to have a fight. Entering a room where two black men are boxing he soon knocked them out, but Bill got his when he smoked a cigar.

"Weary Tom's Dream." Lux. Weary dreamed of skating and in his sleep fastened some pieces of wood on his feet and skated off down the street. The fun is fast and furious and Weary has a sad awakening.
