NINE YEAR MYSTERY SOLVED BY INSPECTOR

Girl Charged With Having Sent Hundreds of Letters to Prominent Citizens.

Easton, Pa.—Charged with having written hundreds of anonymous letters of a scurrilous, defamatory and indecent character, and sent them through the mails to more than a score of residents in this city, including clergymen, business men and women, Miss Harriett Dewitt, daughter of one of the city's well known and respected citizens, has been arrested, and will be given a hearing by United States Commissioner Turner.

In nearly all of the letters, the anonymous writer attacks either the character of the person to whom the letter is addressed or that of some near relative or friend. In several instances, charges of criminal conduct are made.

For nine years these anonying letters have been received, and many complaints made to the postoffice department, and inspectors and secret service men had been assigned to fathom the case and failed.

Inspector Shaneberger was ordered to trace the writer, and the evidence he secured during the last two months resulted in Miss Dewitt's arrest.

She declares that she is innocent, and that she also has been receiving letters from the anonymous writer.
