AT THE PICTURE SHOWS

Orpheum.
Interesting program for Tuesday's change:

- "The Ranchman's Son," Essanay. A thrilling Western drama. Allen Harley quarrels with Peter Lewis in a saloon and finally when Lewis is insulting, Harley knocks him down. Lewis then slinks out of the saloon and encounters Jake Webster, with whom he also has a quarrel. Guns are drawn and the result is the death of Lewis, when Webster accidentally discharges his weapon. Harley later comes upon the scene and discovers Lewis is dead, he is found crouching beside the body when the sheriff arrives and arrests him, charging him with the murder. Webster rides hurriedly away and arriving at the Harley ranch he applies for a position and is given work. A few days later a newspaper is handed him announcing Allen Harley has been found guilty and is sentenced to be hanged at sundown. Webster resolves to ride to the county seat and save young Harley's life. He arrives at the jail just in the nick of time.
- "The Diving Girl," Biograph. With her uncle she visits the seashore and goes bathing with a party of her brother's friends. Uncle also takes a dip and is annoyed at the perilous performance of the girl. He orders her from the water and locks her in her room but brother releases her. He finally concludes that home is the best place for her for there she will run no chance of drowning.
- "$500 Reward," Biograph. A burglar enters the home of a wealthy man and steals a valuable necklace. A reward of $500 is offered for the thief's apprehension. A couple of rube detectives start out to find the robber and succeed in taking into custody the victim of the robbery and the real detective who is on the case. An ordinary copper gets the thief and wins the reward.
- "For the Honor of the Name," Eclipse. A good drama. This picture shows a father's heroism to save the family's reputation.
- "Moss Covered Ruins of the Isle of Wright, Great Britain," Eclipse showing the vine-clad Carisbrooke castle as well as Newport and vicinity. Beautiful views of the ivy-mantled towers at Ventnor and the village of Shanklin with its lichen-coated walls.
- "The Gambler's Chance," This lively comedy is acted with the usual Lubin spirit and tells what good comes from a boy's game of craps. Lots of human nature in this picture.
- "A Hero—Almost," Lubin. It tells the story of a romantic girl with two lovers. She will only marry a hero. You will have to see this picture to appreciate it.

The Pastime.
Special program for the Round-Up. Four big features. Don't miss one of them.

"Life on the Border." A Selig masterpiece. A true story of the early days in the west. No expense or care was spared to make this picture realistic and interesting. It is truly a thrilling story. It is the terrible experience of a young pioneer mother left alone for the day in her wilderness home with only a five year old child for company. The mother is accidentally imprisoned in a woodshed by her child. The little one tries in vain to lift the heavy latch and while the mother is thus imprisoned a bear being pursued by a band of prowling Indians arrives upon the scene. They ransacked the empty cabin, finding "firewater." They become very hilarious and set fire to the cabin and the shed in which the terrified mother is in. The flames are rapidly accomplishing their deadly work when the father arrives just in time to save his wife.

"A Dutch Gold Mine."—Biograph. This story is amusing and exciting as well. The scenery is fine. Both Hans and the horse dealer are vaudeville characters of note.

"Through Jealous Eyes." Lubin. One of the best dramas ever produced. Depicts the work of the green-eyed monster, jealousy, in a home and its final cure. It is so convincingly acted that if there are any improbabilities in the plot they pass unnoticed so long as the picture is on the screen. The great doctor's office nurse (Miss Lawrence) and the doctor's son (Mr. Johnson) have fallen in love. The doctor's wife sees him joking with the nurse and gets it into her head that it is the doctor who is in love with the nurse. Subsequent events seem to confirm her suspicions and she is goaded almost to the point of doing murder, when the son was accidentally shot and brought home and the whole affair explained, the wife's jealousy vanished and she was filled with remorse for her vigilance.

"A Second Honeymoon."—Vinegraph. They get married, quarrel, make up and get married again. We are twice pleased with this picture. It has a double equipment of laughs.

The Cosy.
An all feature western show at the Cosy Tuesday and Wednesday. Deil Biancetti, the world's champion steer bulldogger and Bertha Biancetti, the champion woman broncho buster of the world, who are in Pendleton to take part in the Round-Up both appear in today's Bison Indian picture.

"The White Red Man." Rex.

Words fail to express the beauty of this picture. The Indian being befriended by the settler's family, gave them some jewels lost by an outlaw. The settler was accused of the robbery and was to be hung at sunrise. To save his life the Indian had to run 50 miles. Over wild mountain gorges, across rushing rivers, across deep canyons he made his way and arrived in time. A happy ending for all. Exquisitely tinted "It's a Rex."

"The Poisoned Flume." American. A western feature of the irrigated country. Angered at being rejected, George poisoned the ditch. The veterinary examined the dead cattle and the ditch and found the poison. A pursuit occurs in which the renegade crosses a deep chasm on the irrigating flume. He was finally shot and fell into the flume. A love story adds interest to a very interesting picture.

"A Sioux Spy." Bison. A story of the Indian wars. The brave was sent by the chief to spy on the Cheyennes and pretending sickness was taken to their camp, where he fell in love with Silver Moon. Love proved stronger than duty and he did not return to his people. In a battle between the Sioux and Cheyennes he saved the chief's life and won Silver Moon.

"A Gasoline Engagement." Imp. A comedy and then some. The young man loved Grace, but dad wanted her to marry a minister. Learning the party were going automobiling in the country George arranged to drive the car. The adventures in the cellar where George held a match over a barrel of gasoline and compelled Pa to give his consent and his rival the minister to marry he and Grace are sure funny.

DYING MESSAGE SCRRAWLED ON DECKHOUSE OF SCHOONER
Houston, Texas.—Mute testimony of storm tossed, suffering sailors, marooned on a wrecked schooner lost at sea, was found by ship carpenters repairing the old Kate Foere, towed into port several months ago a derelict. The schooner was caught in the Gulf hurricane which went inland near Mobile last year and for ten days it was thought to be lost. Finally an English boat sighted the derelict and picked it up when on board were found three dead bodies of sailors and a fourth sailor with just the spark of life left. The hull was beached, but was recently brought into port for recaulking.

The messages referred to were found carved with a knife on top of the hatches covering the deck house. The first was under date of September 26, reading as follows: "Water-logged six days; beginning to suffer agony for want of water and grub." "September 27. Nothing in sight; suffering intense; Bill just died and Frank is crazy." "September 28.—Agony, water, water; now I'll—"

The last inscription was scrawled and scratched over a wavering line and the letters uneven and ill-formed, showing the writer was evidently weak and partly delirious. Between September 28 and 30 there were no markings, but under the latter date the following message was carved: "Water; in agony for water." October first appears the last inscription, hardly legible, ill-spelled and scrawling in every direction: "About gone, goodbye, wife, mother, babies." Then as a final effort could be traced the letters spelling, "E. J. Whitman."

It was on the 2nd of the month that the wreck was found and scrawled out on the deckhouse was the wreck of a man, delirious, shrunken and insane. He was taken into New Orleans recovered and is again at sea, mate of the schooner Carrie Wilkins.

HETTY GREEN A CANDIDATE FOR CITY COUNCIL SEAT
Lima, Ohio.—"For council, Fourth ward, Hetty Green."
This is the way it will appear on the democratic ballots in the municipal election in November. The democrats put up no candidate for the nomination in the Fourth ward, this city, for the Tuesday primaries, and a dozen or more names were written in by voters.

When the election board made its official canvass of the vote it found that Hetty Green, presumably New York city's famous woman millionaire, had received two votes, while no other candidate had received more than one.

ACTRESS SUES PIANO MAN.
Helen Hall Wants $50,000 From Otto L. Wright, Who Is Married.
New York.—Otto L. Wright, president of the Wright Piano company, must answer in the supreme court for his alleged failure to marry pretty Helen Hall, a vaudeville actress. She has served upon him a summons for his appearance in her $50,000 damage suit.

Miss Hall and Wright have been acquainted for several years. She charges that he won her promise to be his wife and after delaying the wedding for a long time told her he couldn't possibly meet her at the church—his wife wouldn't let him.

This was the first intimation, Miss Hall says, that she had of Wright's marriage to Miss Florence J. Rims.

WHEAT GROWERS URGED TO ATTEND MEETING

May Find Means of Saving Millions From Ravages of Smut.
Spokane, Wash.—"Wheat growers from all over the Northwestern country, especially Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana, should attend the annual convention of the Inland Empire Anti-Smut Association at Pullman, Wash., September 28 and 29," says R. C. McCroskey, president of the organization, in a letter to the Spokane Chamber of Commerce, adding: "I believe it is a conservative estimate that the grain growers in the Inland Empire lose $1,000,000 a year from this pest. Undoubtedly there is a better way to eradicate this scourge than is practised at the present time and it is up to us to find the solution of this problem. His gives importance to the convention at Pullman to start a definite campaign to rid this part of the country of smut and preventing the pest from return to our fields."

"Professor O. L. Waller, acting president of the Washington state college, has placed at the disposal of the association all the facilities for making and publishing a report of the proceedings of the convention, and Professor Thatcher, director of the experiment station and his staff will be in attendance to answer questions. Professor Thatcher, however, is of the opinion that it would be best for the farmers themselves to work out the problem.

"I might mention also that the state college is planning to set an expert to work on a scientific study of the smut problem, and we hope to settle such questions as 'Does smut live over in the ground in winter?' 'Does the system of tillage influence danger of smut infection?' and the effectiveness of certain new fungicide for treating seed."
