PERSONAL MENTION

Arthur Tyson of La Grande has been a juvenile visitor at the Round-Up.

L. V. Brown, traveling freight agent for the Spokane International railway was a Round-Up visitor yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jap Stevens of La Grande are Round-Up visitors. They were formerly residents of Pendleton.

W. J. Koch, representative of the Beaver Engraving company, has been here today with the ad men's special from Portland.

Edward J. Brown, formerly traveling man in this territory of the Pacific Paper company, is here today as a Round-Up visitor.

T. I. Richards, manager for the well known Richards hotel and grill of Portland, was on board the special from Portland this morning.

Among the Portland visitors at the Round-Up are Guy W. Talbot, president of the Pacific Power & Light company, and his assistant, Lewis A. McArthur.

A. G. Webb, son of G. W. Webb, Pendleton's most respected and honored pioneer resident, is here from his home at Wallace, Idaho. This is the first time he has been in Pendleton since 1905.

GLEANINGS.

Mothers are at last equal guardians with the fathers of their children in New Hampshire, the women having fought for years to get such a bill passed.

Miss Lillian Pearl McOmber has just been graduated from Ann Arbor as an engineer, being the first woman graduate to take a bachelor of science in architectural engineering. Miss McOmber will enter a New York office and will make a specialty of steel structural work.

California is talking about changing its marriage laws, statistics showing that while the population of the state has increased 96 per cent since 1890, the proportion of the insane in the same period has increased 116 per cent, and there is now one insane person in every 200 inhabitants. Last year one-sixteenth of the cost of the state government was attributed to the care of the insane. In view of all the facts, it is proposed that a thorough physical examination be necessary before persons may marry. No doubt quite as surprising statistics may be shown in other states.

Women as silversmiths and jewelers are increasing in number, and many are showing beautiful work. Miss Brooke Clarke of London has done wonderful work in the treatment of crystals and in mounting amethysts after old Florentine designs. Miss Vyes and Miss Remington in London recently showed remarkable designs in necklace pendants and old silver.

The Mothers' congress in Texas is working to have medical inspection in all the schools of 15,000 or more, in regard to health after absence and at least once a year in regard to sight and hearing. The teachers are to keep records of the sight and hearing of the pupils.

Ten years ago the number of cities having medical school inspection was 11 and today it is 443. The first school physicians were employed in Boston in 1894 and now there is an army of nearly 1500 of them. New York first employed school nurses nine years ago and now they number between 400 and 500 and are employed by eighty cities. Sixty-nine cities employ dentists to care for the teeth of children. Massachusetts and New Jersey are at the head of the list with compulsory school inspection, while Vermont, Mississippi, Montana and Idaho have not even begun the work.

More than 200 women were enrolled last term in the home economics department of the University of Wisconsin, more than a hundred took the course in advertising, and 175 enrolled in the class in journalism. The members of the latter class were from 13 states and two foreign countries.

A VALUABLE MAN.

"Yes, he had some rare trouble with his eyes," said the celebrated oculist. "Every time he went to read he would read double."
"Poor fellow," remarked the sympathetic person. "I suppose that interfered with his holding a good position?"
"Not at all. The gas company gobbled him up and gave him a lucrative job reading gas meters."—August Lippincott's.

Newsy Notes of Pendleton

Young Boy Dies.

Neil Ferguson, the twelve-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ferguson, of Juniper, died at St. Anthony's hospital last night at 10:30, death being due to appendicitis. The funeral services will be held at the Methodist church in this city on Monday at 2 o'clock p. m.

Drummers Have High Jinks.

The commercial travelers in the city held a high jinks on the streets during the noon hour. With their heads surmounted with little red caps they pranced up and down the city and then adjourned to the Round-Up where they are making themselves evident with their merriment and enthusiasm.

"Scraps" Johnson Honored.

E. A. Johnson, formerly of this city, is now deputy United States district attorney under John McCourt, the appointment having been made this week. In telling of the naming of Mr. Johnson as deputy district attorney, the Oregonian said:

Everett A. Johnson, of the law firm of Ridgeway & Johnson, was appointed by United States District Attorney McCourt yesterday to a position as Deputy District Attorney. This gives Mr. McCourt three deputies, the other two being Walter H. Evans and Robert F. Maguire. The large accumulation of work in the district attorney's office this summer has made the appointment of another deputy imperative. Mr. Johnson came to Portland eight years ago from Pendleton. He was admitted to the bar three years ago.

INTEREST IN ART.

The American Art Annual for 1910-11 enumerates 944 art museums, art societies, and art schools as against 493 in 1907. This volume gives a brief account of 289 museums and art societies in the United States, a list of 162 art schools with a total registration of 31,700 and a list tabulating the answers received from 179 colleges and universities maintaining courses in the history of art and giving 5877 as the number of students receiving instructions in this course and 7751 as the number who had worked in the studios. Of the art schools, the record show 57 as strictly professional, giving instruction in drawing, modeling and painting from the antique and from life. Instruction in design is given in 56 schools, 39 of which report art classes in the various crafts, such as bookbinding, pottery and metal work. While the United States is lacking in "the well organized industrial schools that are such a strong factor in Germany, France and England," the teaching of manual training and of aesthetics in the elementary and secondary public schools has, nevertheless, "grown very rapidly." This, naturally, has led to the establishment of normal art schools for the training of teachers in this work and of these the records show 39 art schools with normal courses, the registration of which in 28 was 1523. The summer schools play an important part in the training of teachers, and the evening schools of students.

The number of architectural federations in the country has doubled, since 1907, from two to four, and now there are 31 professional schools of architecture, most of them connected with universities, the number of pupils enrolled being given as 3043. An estimate of the annual expenditures for art education in the United States, compiled by Henry Turner Bailey in 1908, is given in this volume as a total of $11,565,241, "divided between the federal government, the states, the municipalities and private sources. The federal government, however, makes no direct appropriation for art instruction, the sum of $35,000 used for instruction in drawing in the District of Columbia, the Military Academy at West Point, and the Naval Academy being included in the general school funds."—William Walton in "The Field of Art," in the August Scribner (Fiction Number).

RESISTS NUPITAL, KILLED.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 16.—William Fisher opened fire on a wedding party near Springfield, Tenn., in an attempt to prevent the wedding of his niece to Benjamin Manlow. Manlow returned the fire, killing Fisher instantly. The party then repaired to the home of a clergyman, where the wedding knot was tied. Fisher was the only member of the bride's family who did not favor Manlow's suit. No prosecution is expected.

MANY SEEK GREEN'S LOVE.

6242 Women From World Over Don't Want Money—Oh, No!

New York, Sept. 16.—The charms of Colonel E. H. R. Green, son of the richest woman in America, have created such a panic in feminine hearts that the bank duns of 1907 have faded in comparison.

No fewer than 6242 women, some of them youthful and many quite handsome, have written pleading for the privilege of being his wife. They do not want his money. They tell him so frankly. All he is called upon to do is to come to them penniless and kindly permit them to win his love.

Of the foreign countries, England leads in this marital marathon, with France a close second and France's rival on land and sea, Germany, a third.

No fewer than 1335 women have entered the contest from abroad.

Black Sea was frozen over for 20 days in 401. On January 9, 1889, ice was seven feet thick on that vast sheet of water.
