desirable features were almost eliminated. There was but little pocket picking or petty crime recorded, either, the plain clothesmen and special patrolmen hired having nipped the careers of several of the practitioners of these nefarious arts in the bud by locking them up until after the crowd had departed.

Altogether, with the providing of every stranger in her gates with a place to sleep and enough to eat and having safeguarded them from molestation while here, Pendleton feels that her two greatest duties were admirably fulfilled.

Newsy Notes of Pendleton

Court Now in Session.

Circuit Judge G. W. Phelps this morning commenced grinding the grist of criminal cases on his docket, Joe Orten, accused of larceny, being the first to have his hearing.

Baby Is Born.

Mrs. Lee Teutch yesterday morning received a message from her daughter, Mrs. M. B. James, of Portland, to the effect that she is now a grandmother. Mrs. James was formerly Miss Nell McMullen of this city.

Not Many at Street Dance.

The cold wind which swept down upon the city Saturday prevented the street dance planned as the grand finale to the Round-Up entertainment from being much of a success. Though a great mass hummed in the improvised pavilion for a long time, not many couples could be induced to "shake their leg."

Schools Commence Today.

Today is the day which the small boy has been anticipating with much dread for many weeks, the day of the opening of school. This morning the bells in the school houses tolled out their summoning taps, which sounded the death knell to the vacation days for the youthful population of the city. The high school, Hawthorne, Washington and Fields schools have all opened their doors and indications are that there will be a record attendance this year.

Bowen's Bond Is Sued.

J. A. Cooper, proprietor of the Bowman hotel, has commenced suit in the local court against H. G. Bowen, manager of the Northwestern School of Stammerers, which is right next door to him, perpetually enjoined by the court from continuing in business at its present location. Stoller sets forth in a complaint to be filed tomorrow that the students, between fifty and sixty of them, make the night hideous with their "loud monotonous, sing-song" repetition in unison of the vowels that, he says, is part of the cure for stuttering and stammering. Stoller alleges that the "long drawn-out vocalizations" are annoying and offensive to him, greatly disturbing his peace and quiet. Not only does he hear the chorus of vowels by day, but also far into the night, for the school has night classes which practice from 7 to 10.

Club Gets Grain Exhibit.

By action of the district fair officials the fine exhibit of grain that was shown at the Umatilla county booth during the fair has been donated to the Commercial club and it will be used for exhibition purposes. The gift has been accepted by President Smythe of the Commercial club on condition that it be stored in the fair pavilion until arrangements may be made for a Commercial club exhibit booth. It has long been planned to establish such a booth near the O. W. R. & N. depot and it is now hoped that with the donation of the grain exhibit it may be possible to secure such a booth this fall.

PORTLAND PEOPLE COMMEND ROUND-UP

That the visiting people who attended the Round-Up were vastly pleased with the show is attested by the following set of resolutions presented to the directors of the frontier association signed by the members of the Oregon Daily Journal North Bank special before they returned home Saturday night:

To the management of the Pendleton Round-Up: Whereas, The management of the Pendleton Round-Up has just brought to a close the most successful exposition of frontier life ever given in this country. And whereas, At this event the life of the cowboy has been portrayed to the public in all its various phases. And whereas, The program was executed with unusual promptness and dispatch. Therefore, We, the Portland passengers of the Daily Oregon Journal North Bank Special wish to commend the management and all who took part in the program.

Resolutions were also drafted by the party and presented to W. E. Coman, general freight and passenger agent, Al Harris, commissary agent and Mr. Knowlton of the S. P. & S., commending them for the manner in which the trip to the Round-Up was conducted and their comforts provided for, and to the Oregon Daily Journal for arranging the trip and for the interest it has manifested in the "promotion of the splendid exhibition of cowboy life which we have seen at the Round-Up."

PERSONAL MENTION

Bruce Shangle came down this morning from his home at Milton.

F. H. Schoene of the Beaver Engraving company was among the visitors at the Round-Up.

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Longwell and son left for Illinois last evening to be gone a month or more.

Mrs. Berkeley Halley and young son returned home to Portland this morning after attending the Round-Up.

Alex Smith, representing the Umbdenstock & Larson company of Portland, was a Round-Up visitor.

Miss Bessie McPherson returned to her home in Hermiston this morning after spending several days with her parents.

Gus Teutch, who spent the Round-Up days at the home of his brother, Lee Teutch, returned to Portland this morning.

R. C. Hazen of Hermiston spent Saturday in the city and Sunday in Walla Walla, returning to Pendleton this morning.

County Commissioner Horace Walker returned to his Stanfield ranch this morning after spending the week of festivities in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. James Blakely, Jr., and family returned to their home in Walla Walla county yesterday after taking in the Round-Up.

Thomas E. Paxton, prominent young newspaper man of Baker, was in attendance at the Round-Up in the interests of his paper.

Theo. Stehels, representative of the Clark Saddlery company of Portland, spent the three days of the Round-Up in the grandstand.

Thomas R. Townsend, who spent the last two days of the Round-Up in the city, as the guest of Merle R. Cheesman, returned to his home in Salem Saturday evening.

Don Campbell of Hermiston, who attended the Round-Up Saturday and spent Sunday in Walla Walla, returned from the Garden City this morning and went on to his home on the local.

MUCH STUTTER; NO SLEEP.

Citizen Who Lives Next Door to School of Stammering Asks Injunction.

Milwaukee.—Charles Stolper wants the Northwestern School of Stammerers, which is right next door to him, perpetually enjoined by the court from continuing in business at its present location.

Stolper sets forth in a complaint to be filed tomorrow that the students, between fifty and sixty of them, make the night hideous with their "loud monotonous, sing-song" repetition in unison of the vowels that, he says, is part of the cure for stuttering and stammering.

Stolper alleges that the "long drawn-out vocalizations" are annoying and offensive to him, greatly disturbing his peace and quiet. Not only does he hear the chorus of vowels by day, but also far into the night, for the school has night classes which practice from 7 to 10.

IN POUND.

The following described animal has been taken up by the Marshal of the city of Pendleton, to-wit:

One three-year-old black Jersey heifer, branded N on right leg; JP on right stifle and swallow fork in left ear.

If said animal is not claimed by the owners or those entitled to possession of them, costs and expenses against them paid and they taken away within ten days from the date hereof, then at 2 o'clock p. m. of the 29th day of Sept., 1911, the said animal will be sold to the highest bidder, at public auction, for cash, at the City Pound in the Oregon Feed Yard, in said city of Pendleton, the proceeds of such sale to be applied to the payment of such costs and expenses of making sale.

Dated this 18th day of Sept., 1911.
TOM GURDANE,
City Marshal.

"She is Waiting"

and so are those she is waiting on. And mind you, a good high-ball is well worth waiting for. Good, pure, wholesome Rye Whiskey, like the brands we are now selling, will make one wait patiently, but enjoy the wait when the liquid arrives—cool, comforting, and refreshing. If you are a high-ball lover, better try a bottle of this splendid Whiskey of ours. You will always want that brand afterwards. And the price will satisfy you, too.

SETTLERS QUIT ARID LANDS. Many Are Leaving South Dakota on Account of Dry Weather. Cleveland, Ohio.—Rev. Worth M. Tippy of Epworth Memorial church, speaking on his return from an automobile tour through the west as the guest of his brother, B. O. Tippy, of Grand Rapids, Mich., told of the two-year drought in South Dakota. He said the journey of 100 miles through the state was the saddest he had ever taken. "Settlers by the hundred were driven out of the state," he said. "The fields were brown and dusty, streams dry, gardens barren, corn and wheat fields as they were planted, or with occasional stalks stunted and withered. Farmers were good natured and kindly, but discouraged. Fortunately those who are taking up claims in the western part of the state are mostly young people with life before them." In fact, it was said that it was so dry that only babies could be raised. No doubt divorce is too easy, but isn't marriage too easy also?
