INDIA'S WHEAT TRADE.

From Vice Consul General Charles B. Perry, Calcutta.)

The estimated area for cultivation under wheat in the current year, 1910-11, is 29,554,500 acres, and the estimated yield is 9,999,800 tons or 46,204,000 English quarters of 480 pounds each.

In acres under cultivation the wheat crop ranks third in India, rice and millet being first and second, respectively, and in the value of the crop wheat is second only to rice. The wheat-growing area of the Indian Empire embraces the whole of northern India down to the Gangetic delta and the greater part of the central plateau above the Ghats. The crop is not cultivated at all in the Bombay Konkan or in the coastal districts on both sides of the Bay of Bengal while in Assam and in Burma wheat is of little importance. Although the distribution of wheat in India is very wide, the intense cultivation is practically confined to the great northwest, and the Punjab and the United Provinces produce nearly 75 per cent of the total crop.

Several varieties of wheat are cultivated in India, but for practical purposes they may be grouped under Watson's classification as: (1) White soft; (2) white, hard; (3) red, soft; (4) red, hard. To a certain extent these four groups are cultivated side by side, but on the whole a geographical isolation may be perceived. Northern India produces mainly soft wheats while southern India and Bengal grow mainly hard forms. The cultivation of the finer qualities of soft wheats would appear to be for the most part comprised within the upper basins of the three great rivers, the Ganges, the Indus, and the Nerbudda. South of the Nerbudda the true soft varieties may be spoken of as nearly unknown. The chief wheats exported from India are the soft white and the hard white, but the wheats most popular within India are the red wheats produced in the Punjab.

M'CLURE SAYS WOOL RATES TO BE LOWER

Good news for the people interested in the wool growing industry in this county was contained in a letter received today from Dr. McClure, secretary of the National Wool Growers' association, by Byron Gale, secretary of the Baker-Union Wool Growers' association, says the Baker Herald.

Dr. McClure stated that he had just held a conference with President Frank Gooding of the national association, who has been attending the hearing called by the interstate commerce commission to investigate the wool rates charged by the railroads and that it was almost a certainty that the roads would be forced to cut the rates from interior points to the coast from $1.75, the present rate, to $1.

Both of these gentlemen will in all probability participate in the proceedings at the state convention of wool growers, which will be held in Baker City this fall.

HIGH N. W. CHURCH OFFICIALS AT DEDICATION

Dignitaries From Four States to Take Part in Ceremonies.

Spokane, Wash.—High church dignitaries of Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana, priests from all parts of the province of Oregon and members of the city council of Spokane will be present at the dedicatory exercises of St. Aloysius Catholic church in this city on Columbus day, October 12. The edifice represents an investment of $17,000. Rev. Father L. Taelman, president of Gonzaga college, has charge of the arrangements for the services, procession and banquet following at the college hall.

Among those invited are Archbishop Alexander Christie of Portland, Bishop Edward J. O'Day of Seattle, Bishop Charles J. O'Reilly of Baker City, Bishop John Peter Carl of Helena, Bishop Matthias C. Lenthan of Great Falls, Mont., and Bishop A. J. Glorieux of Boise, Idaho, and 300 priests in the province of Oregon, which takes in the four states mentioned.

Participating in the exercises, beginning at 10 o'clock a. m., with the archbishop, bishops and priests will be a choir of 40 voices, an orchestra of 20 picked players and 70 altar boys. Mrs. L. M. Shourney has charge of the musical program, which is the most pretentious yet attempted in Spokane. St. Edward's day, October 13, will be celebrated with a special entertainment at the college in honor of Bishop O'Day, at which Archbishop Christie, the bishops and priests will be guests.

Two days later a mission for Catholics will be started, the first to be given in the parish in 15 years. It will be conducted by Rev. Father Thomas A. Mougher, S. J., of Portland, Rev. Father P. J. O'Reilly, S. J., formerly of Spokane, and Rev. Father Vincent Chiappa, S. J., formerly of California.

SPOKANE HAS FIRST IMPORTED BALL PLAYER

Spokane, Wash.—Barney Joy, who was secured from Boston as a recruit to the 1912 pitching staff of the Spokane team in the Northwestern league, has the distinction of being the first player imported for an organized club in the United States. Joy was burning up the platter in Honolulu, five years ago, when Long of San Francisco sent a scout to the crossroads of the Pacific, with the result that he was signed to play with the Seals. He was in good form during the first few months, but "pettered" toward the end of the season and was set adrift by the manager. Two years afterwards he showed his mettle and his second trial resulted in a sale to Boston. Joy with the Seals in San Francisco won had Charley Street, now with the Washington team, at the receiving end. Joy is a veritable giant in size and has remarkable speed and a lot of other things, including control. He will report for practice in Spokane early next spring. Manager Cohn has every confidence in the native-born Hawaiian and expects to get good service from him.

BAN ON THE BIG HATS.

Archbishop of Genoa Frowns on the Enormous Top Pieces.

Milan.—The Archbishop of Genoa has addressed a letter to his clergy directing them to exhort the female members of their flocks to abstain from wearing the enormous hats now in vogue. The Archbishop points out that these monster hats prevent the humbler members of the congregation, who wear a simple mantilla on their heads, from getting a glimpse of the altar and of the officiating priest.

RELEASED FOR A FUNERAL.

President Frees Partner of Richards, Jailed for Land Fraud.

Washington.—A notable western land fraud case came to an end with a touch of the tragic when President Taft released one of the convicted principals from jail that he might attend the funeral of his partner, who died in a cell beside his.

Will G. Comstock, vice president of the Nebraska Land and Seeding Company, was the man released. Bartlett Richards, his partner, was the man whose penalty to justice had been cut short by death. Both men lived in Ellsworth, Neb., and were convicted in 1907 of defrauding the government of many thousand acres of land by subornation of perjury of entrymen. They fought through the courts and did not begin serving their sentences of one year until October, 1910. President Taft last April refused executive clemency of any sort.

Both men would have been released this month and Comstock entreated the president to let him out to attend Richards' funeral.

MAN ASKS TO BE INDICTED.

Killed Wife by Mistake and Wants Exoneration by Jury.

Kittanning, Pa.—At his own request, George Golden, a wealthy shoe merchant of Wickboro, Pa., was indicted by the grand jury on a charge of homicide for the alleged killing of his wife. Golden then went before the court and was released on $10,000 bonds.

Golden shot and killed his wife on the night of July 18 last at their home in Wickboro. To the authorities he stated he had mistaken his wife for a burglar and the coroner exonerated him.

Several weeks ago a brother of the dead woman had Golden arrested and indicted, but the defendant was subsequently released on a writ of habeas corpus. He seeks a trial by jury that he may be exonerated.
