WORTMAN FIGHTS FOR HIS LIBERTY

In a crowded court room this afternoon is being fought the final battle which is to decide whether or not Charles Wortman is guilty of the charge of fornication. The arguments of the opposing attorneys began just before 2 o'clock and at press time had just been concluded. Deputy District Attorney Pruitt opened for the state, briefly summing up the evidence and declaring it to prove conclusively that Evelyn Ruch had been wronged by the defendant as alleged in the indictment. Attorney Dan P. Smythe followed and maintained that the state had failed to prove several of the material allegations one of the principal of which was that which declared the girl to have been of previous chaste and moral character. Attorney Chas. Carter and District Attorney Van Vactor closed the case. The taking of evidence was not completed until 1:45 this afternoon, many of the witnesses having been recalled. The defense introduced many witnesses, among them being a number of young men of this city and Athena, whose testimony was intended to indicate that the girl had been morally lax since she was of the age of 13.

The trial throughout has been unusually hard fought, each side contending for the advantage with vigor and persistency. Among the many people crowding the courtroom are a number of women, the mother of the girl being one of these. Both yesterday and today she has been hysterical and sobbed continually.

Surgery for Kleptomania Fails to Prevent Girl Stealing Again. Los Angeles.—The girl who, under the name of Alice Taylor, is said to have undergone, at Oakland, when scientists declared was a successful operation to cure kleptomania, and who was arrested here on a charge of systematic theft, is in a cell in the city jail today awaiting arraignment. The girl, who is also said to have used Jean Tusner as an alias, maintains secrecy as to her actions and past, but asserts she was cured of kleptomania, and that when she is arraigned late today or tomorrow she will be able to prove her innocence of the present charge.

PRISONER ESCAPES FROM WALLA WALLA INSTITUTION

For the third time in the last few months a prisoner escaped from the state penitentiary last night when Charles Walker, white, sent up from Vancouver for grand larceny and who had been acting as cook in the restaurant on the hill, decided that he preferred a few weeks' liberty to remaining at his post, and completing his sentence which would have expired in a few months' time.

After preparing the evening meal, Walker stepped outside and while his viands were being partaken of and no one was giving him a thought, he quietly left the grounds, where he had been given free access, being a trusty with a short time yet to serve. It is thought he left about 6 o'clock, but as he had quite a start, it is not known where he headed for.

Walker is described as being about five feet and four inches in height, of very slight build, very light complexion and hair. He has a pug nose and a fluent talker.

The Slagle girl was arrested in a rooming house here and her companion, Virgil Jones, was also arrested for soliciting on the street for immoral trade for the girl.

Fowler Still Delayed. Emigrant Gay, Calif., Sept. 29.—A leaking water jacket of Aviator Fowler's aeroplane today caused a postponement of his flight. It looks like he never will cross the mountains.

AT THE PICTURE SHOWS.

Up to the minute pictures for Friday and Saturday.
"The Best Policy." Two brothers love the same girl, the gay one is in the lead as compared with the plodding, hard working brother, but the gay one's debts accumulate and he must have money, so he steals from his father, placing a few bills in the brother's pocket. Here the girl intervenes and succeeds in running the real thief down. The story would be incomplete if she didn't marry the plodder.

"Mutt and Jeff in the Banking Business." At last the two inseparables, Mutt and Jeff, have struck it rich, they have real money, and as is often the case with people unaccustomed to hear the joyful jingling of vile metal, or feel the cold-warm touch of the mazzama, neither Mutt nor Jeff know what to do with their suddenly acquired riches. Being on easy street for the time being they plan innumerable plans to remain on the comfortable road for the balance of their mortal existence. But borrowers are forgetful folks, still better than any of the others.

"An Indian Legend." The principal feature in this all Indian picture is the rescue of the maid condemned to death for treachery and placed in a canoe to be sent through the rapids she is rescued by her lover in a sensational manner. There are some war scenes and scenes of warlike preparations which are interesting as showing what the Indians did under such circumstances and thrilling because they are well acted. The background of the scenes and the rushing water in the rapids are natural and filled with attractive wild beauty.

"The Way of the World." Pretty Maggie Dolan had given her final answer to Jim, her childhood sweetheart, that unless he abstained from the use of liquor she would never marry him. Jim's faithful promise was soon broken as he came among a crowd of his boon companions and his free use of the cup that cheers caused him to get a sound thrashing from the teller at the bank where she was employed. When Tom marries Maggie, Jim, contrary to all expectations becomes one of New York's most respected citizens.

OPPENHEIMER MAY NOT HANG FOR LAST KILLING

Sacramento District Attorney Expects U. S. Court Ruling on First Crime.

Sacramento.—Although prosecution of Jacob Oppenheimer for killing Francisco Quijada at Folsom prison comes within the jurisdiction of the Sacramento courts, District Attorney Wachhorst has announced that Oppenheimer will not be tried unless he wins his appeal to the United States supreme court.

"Oppenheimer is under a death sentence and has a stay of execution until the supreme court in October passes on his case," said Wachhorst. "It would take time to try him for the murder of Quijada. Before he could be hanged for the crime the decision of the supreme court would be rendered."

PRIVATE BLOOM TO GET A COMMISSION

Soldier on Whose Behalf President Taft Reprimanded Colonel Garrard Passes Examination for Second Lieutenant.

Washington, D. C.—Private Frank B. Bloom, battery F, Third field artillery, will become a second lieutenant in the United States army.

It has taken two examinations the influence of prominent Hebrews throughout the country and the reprimand of a colonel in the army to bring the commission home to Bloom. Bloom is a young Jew, son of the post tailor of Fort Myer. About a year ago he took an examination for a commission. It is not known whether he passed the examination mentally, but when his papers came up for final disposition Colonel Garrard of the Fifteenth cavalry, commanding officer of Fort Myer, made recommendation that because Private Bloom was a Hebrew and the son of a post tailor it was best for the service that he "did fail" to pass the examination.

The young man's mother got hold of the endorsement, carried it to Simon Wolf here, and the latter laid the matter before President Taft. The president immediately reprimanded Colonel Garrard and ordered that the young man again be given an opportunity to take an examination for a commission.

A few weeks ago Private Bloom was ordered to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., to take his second examination.

Word reached the war department that he had successfully passed both the physical and mental examinations and was eligible to promotion to a lieutenant.

OLD VESSEL TO BE TARGET.

Pacific Likely to be Scene of Destroying Obsolete Armored Boat.

Washington.—Well pleased with the results accomplished in the shooting up of the old battleship San Marcos (Texas), the Navy Department is now considering the advisability of assigning some obsolete vessel on the west coast for use as a target for the Pacific fleet. Practice against a real armored ship is said to have been demonstrated to be of immense practical value.

LONELY ICELAND.

A traveler in Iceland says that he journeyed more than fifty miles from the capital, Reykjavik, and saw only two or three farms in all that distance.

"In all this time," he says, "I had not seen even a sapling. Extinct volcanoes surrounded us on every side. Dust storms swept down from their scoured sides. Distant gleams of glittering ice from the glaciers dazzled us when the sun shone upon them. But here, in a land where there is almost no fuel, and where few crops besides hay and turnips can be raised, I found books and cheerful conversation, an outlook on life and a knowledge of current events which I have not always found in populous cities. There are no schools outside of Reykjavik, for children cannot walk ten miles each way to a school house, and even such a school house would accommodate but two or three families. But the itinerant pedagogue goes about from house to house, carrying his store of learning with him, and leaving behind much intellectual stimulus and a desire to know what is going on beyond the bounds of the island. — Philadelphia Ledger.

HUGE BALLOON WRECKED.

Crew of Britain's Latest Dirigible

London.—The monster dirigible army balloon of the same type as the Mayfly, which was launched during the coronation festivities, was wrecked as the enormous ship was being taken from its shed at the Croydon dock, Barrow. The craft had just been accepted by Captain Suster and he and his crew were aboard the gondola. The ship was submerged for a short time, but the crew leaped from the after gondola and swam ashore. The accident was caused by the rupture of one of the gas bags, causing it to collapse.
