HUMAN BALL SAVES A NECK.

Athlete, Doubling Up in Fall, Utilizes His Gym Training.
Stroudsburg, Pa.—Charles Peiffer, a diamond setter of Newark, N. J., celebrated the twenty-second anniversary of his birth by taking a thirty-five foot fall from the top of a building and escaping with slight bruises.
Peiffer is an all around athlete and Marathon runner and his training proved his salvation. When he fell from the roof he was able to somersault and landed on the porch roof, then somersaulted from there to the ground.
Peiffer said: "When I struck the ground I just doubled up and rolled as if I had been in the gymnasium. Had I not I would surely have broken my back."

CAPTAIN HAINS RELEASED.

All the Jurymen Who Convicted the Officer Signed Petition for Pardon.
Canton, N. Y.—Captain Peter C. Hains, Jr. who killed William E. Annis in August, 1908, received his pardon and left Sing Sing prison. Accompanied by his father, General Peter C. Hains, U. S. A., retired, he took a train for New York city.
Hains' pardon was brought about mainly by the efforts of his father. What finally caused the governor to act, however, was a petition signed by all the jurymen who found him guilty of manslaughter. His sentence was not less than eight nor more than sixteen years.
Hains' defense at his trial was that a blow on the head when a boy had affected his mind. His attorneys also declared he had been frenzied by stories of relations between Annis and Mrs. Hains. Hains got a divorce from his wife last August.
After his imprisonment Hains resigned from the army.

Doings of Hiram, Who Came Here With Togo, Reported.
Cleveland, Ohio.—Commander Hiram of the Japanese navy, now attached to the Japanese embassy at Washington, who is making the round trip to Alaska on the steamer Admiral Sampson, is taking photographs and making maps of the harbors along the Alaskan coast.
Passengers on the Sampson who reported the matter say the commander is taking special pains to get a map of Resurrection bay. While here he bought many photographs of the bay on which he makes markings. It is said here that the matter has been reported to the government at Washington.
Commander Hiram says he is on a pleasure trip. He came west with Admiral Togo.

HOME DAMAGED BY FLAMES AT ECHO

(Special Correspondence.)
Echo, Ore., Oct. 7.—A fire alarm was turned in here last night at 8:45, when the Crayne cottage on Dupont street was discovered on fire. The fire department responded and the blaze was extinguished before much damage was done. The fire was started from an unused stove that was filled with paper, being accidentally lighted.
The most pleasant social event of the season occurred here last night when Misses Eugenie Scholl and Vina Houser entertained at the home of the latter a number of their friends. The rooms were artistically and tastefully decorated. The evening was spent in playing games and enjoying music, both vocal and instrumental.
A number of the ladies of the W. C. T. U. and of the Henrietta Rebekah lodge gave an informal social at the I. O. O. F. hall last night as a farewell to Mesdames Godfrey and Bonney and families. Mrs. Godfrey is going to Salem to accept the position of matron in one of the state institutions. Mrs. Bonney is going with her family to The Dalles, where will make their home.
Miss Vina Houser is spending the week-end with friends in Pendleton. Miss Pink Godfrey and Master Norman visited today in Pendleton.
Mrs. J. Frank Spinning accompanied by her cousin, Mrs. Lena Turner, left on Friday evening for a visit to Walla Walla.
Mrs. R. B. Stanfield and Maxine went to Pendleton this morning to visit over Sunday.
Mrs. L. W. Keeler and Miss Anna Waugh are among the Echo people in Pendleton today.
Mrs. Jos. Cunha went up to Pendleton on the motor this morning to spend the day with friends.
Mrs. George is visiting with friends in Pendleton.

ROOSEVELT RESCUES WIFE WHEN THROWN

Colonel's Wife Falls and Her Foot Catches in Stirrup When Horse Rears—Ex-President Subdues Animal.
New York.—Only the cowboy training of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt saved the life of his wife in a mishap of the road that became known when the villagers at Oyster Bay began asking one another why it was the entire Roosevelt family failed to appear. It has become a part of the regular life of the village to stand outside of the little church, half way from the station to Sagamore Hill, and watch the Roosevelts appear for evolutions.
When inquiry was made it was learned that Saturday afternoon Colonel and Mrs. Roosevelt, with Archie were riding along the Cove road in front of Dolland's blacksmith shop. Mrs. Roosevelt was mounted on her favorite horse. The animal reared at sight of the blacksmith's place and threw her heavily to the ground. She struck on her shoulders and head and her foot caught in the stirrup.
That was where former cowboy Roosevelt was of more value to the family than former President Roosevelt. He swung in his saddle, grabbed the plunging horse and came sliding from his own saddle just as the horse hit the ground. And that horse stayed on the ground under the strenuous handling of the former ranchman.
Archie slid over from the other side and took a hand. Before the horse had time to draw her a step, the two released Mrs. Roosevelt's stirrup foot. Then Archie brought water from the blacksmith's shop. Mrs. Roosevelt was unconscious and the two men were unable to revive her.
An automobile delivery wagon, belonging to Butcher De Long, came along just at the right moment. Blankets covered the wagon into an ambulance and the butcher's man let out speed for Sagamore Hill.
Dr. Fowler, who was called, found Mrs. Roosevelt had no dangerous injuries although she had been badly shaken up by her hard fall. The information was given at the ex-president's home that Mrs. Roosevelt was rapidly recovering and would be out again in the course of a few days.
Mrs. Roosevelt has always been an enthusiastic horsewoman and she has been her husband's companion on many rides.

HAVE YOU TRIED TO COOK IN PAPER BAGS

seen from the recipes given, a wide range of dishes may be cooked in these paper containers, even stews and puddings being handled with greater ease under this than under the old pot and pan method.
Advantages of the Process.
The advantages of paper bag cookery are obvious: (1) There are no pots and pans to clean; (2) the time required for cooking is shorter, this being due to the fact that the heat engendered inside the envelope cannot readily escape, and tends to cook the food; (3) practically all of the flavor and savor of the food—which formerly escaped into the heated air in the shape of gases—are retained inside the mechanically sealed envelope, and are absorbed by the food, giving a more tender and more thoroughly flavored dish than under the ordinary methods; (4) there is scarcely any appreciable loss of weight in meats cooked in this manner, whereas under the ordinary methods paper envelope cooking. As may be of roasting, baking, etc., meats undergo a loss of weight of about twenty-five per cent, and finally (3) nearly all the odors of cooking are eliminated.

There are several points which need to be observed in using paper bags in this way. A hot oven is necessary and the bag containing the food should not be placed on a solid shelf or plate, but on a wire-barrel or grid shelf, such as is found in most modern ranges. The interior of the bag or envelope should always be greased, to prevent the paper sticking to the food.
It is to be noted as most important that any paper bag will not do. The paper container in which your food is cooked must be made of non-poisonous, chemically pure materials, and must be sealed by a septic, sanitary adhesive. Such bags have been on the English market for some time. They are made in five sizes and are sold at prices ranging from sixpence (twelve cents) for a package of twenty-five, size 7 by 5 inches, to five shillings sixpence (about $1.25) for a package of one hundred, size 20 by 15 inches. As this article is being written American manufacturers are placing on our home market a similar perfected bag.
