AT THE PICTURE SHOWS

Orpheum.

Big Edison feature for Tuesday's change.

1. "New York State Barge Canals From the Hudson River to Lake Erie. Total length with branches, 460 miles. The largest enterprise ever undertaken by a single state. Estimated cost, $108,000,000." In this latest Edison educational offering, interesting from beginning to end, we are impressed by the fact that man appears to have little part in the stupendous work. The massive and complicated machinery seems to act as though it were itself alive and endowed with intelligence and yet man planned and operates it all. Many of the views are at close range. In all respects the photograph is perfect.

2. "The Willow Tree." Vitagraph. A romance of Southern California. Lost reason is restored and a sweet heart recovered by the recollection of home and mother, associated with the willow tree. It is different from others, not appealing solely to the Wild West melodramatic thrills. It is logical and human in its sentiments and truthfulness to facts.

3. "The Passing of Dappled Fawn." Pathe. Dappled Fawn is the daughter of the chief of her tribe, and is in love with a young brave, but her affection is frowned upon by her father, who gives her to a trapper in exchange for many gifts. Heartbroken she leaves with the trapper, and they ride away from the camp towards their new home. Big Bear, her lover takes a horse from camp and follows her. He catches up with them, and there ensues a spectacular fight on horseback between the trapper and the Indian. Big Bear is killed and poor little Dappled Fawn throws herself from a cliff to join her lover in the happy hunting ground.

4. "Tin Mines and Foundry in Malacca." Pathe. Being an exceedingly interesting and instructive picture of these industries.

5. "The Burglarized Burglar." Essanay. Here is as funny a comedy as you will see in many a day. There is a decidedly novel twist in the plot of the fortune hunter and the heiress and a finish you would never guess. It will prove productive of many good laughs.

The Pastime.

Coming for Tuesday's change of program. A remarkable western picture, full of exciting incidents and replete with superb acting and horsemanship.

"Dad's Girls." Selig. Dad, a likeable old pioneer character lived among the foot hills of the western mining region with his two daughters, Rose and Madge. He had been doing a little prospecting and about the time the story starts we see him taking some of his quartz to Andy Thomas, a young assayer. Andy is a good hearted chap who has fallen in to the clutches of a card sharp, who holds his I. O. U. for a large gambling debt. The gambler offers to cancel this debt if the assayer will put him next to some good claim and report unfavorably on its value to the owner. Andy's chance comes when Dad brings in this new-found quartz. Dad refuses to sell. Then the gambler decides to kidnap the girls. The girls effect a thrilling escape and in the getaway Rose is slightly wounded. The crowd is for lynching the card sharp and his accomplice, Andy, but the girls intercede and the pair are given an hour to get across the line.

"College Sweethearts." American. A well acted and very amusing farce comedy. Bill and May are expelled from their respective colleges for flirting with each other. Bill's father casts him out on the cold world. He merely intends to give the youngsters a lesson. Bill gets a job in Mag's home. Then the fun begins.

"Divided Interests." Lubin. How a man decided between two women. John Converse, a young widower, hesitated which of two women to take for his second wife. His small son Lester liked pretty Miss Stone, his daughter Margie was devoted to Mrs. Weeds, a pretty widow. In several tests Converse decided they both came out equally well. Finally he wrote a letter to each woman stating her favorite had been stricken with smallpox. Miss Stone wrote a note of sympathy. Mrs. Weeds hurried to the house and begged to nurse the stricken child. The decision was soon made after this test.

"In the Arctic Night." Vitagraph. It excites a delightful thrill and acts as a tonic to our emotions.

"Art Industries in Kabylie." A very instructive film.

The Cosy.

For Monday and Tuesday, western comedy, two strong dramas and two comedies.

"The Vagabond." Rex. Hopkins, the hobo, while strolling about comes to Editor Lee's home and is kindly treated and employed in the newspaper office, but is discharged by the foreman for incompetence. At the general store he is approached by a group of night riders and asked to join them, which he does. Learning that the night riders plan to attack the home of Editor Lee he manages to escape and warn the editor. So he paid his debt of gratitude to those who had befriended him.

"The Inventor's Wife." Itala. This is a skillfully laid out and stirring drama about an inventor of high explosives and his frivolous wife, who wanted money had enough to be willing to steal her husband's scheme. The play is very effective from the first scene till the dramatic close.

"Rattlesnakes and Gunpowder." American. A western comedy. The sheriff of Kickup Gulch and an eastern drummer both proposed to Edith and she decided to test their bravery by asking them to put an arm in a rattlesnake's hole. The drummer balked, but the sheriff scattered tobacco in the snake's hole and put his arm in fearlessly. The drummer in the night entered the general store and substituted iron filings for giant powder. Next day he sat amid the fake powder lighting matches and bluffed the sheriff and put him to flight. He won the girl by his clever ruse.

"The Physician's Monkey." Itala. The doctor received a pet monkey and in answering a hurry call left the monkey in his rooms. The neighbors thought the doctor was crazy, judging by noise in his apartments. Lots of laughs in this comedy.

"Foolshead, Sonnambulist." Itala. Mr. Foolshead had a number of trying experiences while walking in his sleep and his awakening is funny, indeed.

WIFE CALLS AFFINITY IN SLEEP—HUBBY HEARS

"Oh! You Jerry!" Endearingly Mumbles Woman—Investigation Leads to Filing of Divorce Suit.

Chicago, Ill.—Discussing affinities in your sleep "right out loud" especially when hubby is a light sleeper and apt to be attentively listening with a supersensitive and inquisitive ear, is not a very wise plan for wives to pursue. Mrs. Anna Breitung is charged with thinking of her soulmate not only in the daytime, but with having babbed his name in her slumbers. She found this out when her spouse, Charles Breitung, filed suit for a divorce in the superior court charging among other things habitual drunkenness.

Breitung, who is secretary of Wilkin, Breitung & Co., clothing manufacturers at 210 West Van Buren street, sets forth in his bill that they were married in July, 1899, and that shortly afterwards his wife began the excessive use of intoxicants.

Then one still night hubby awoke to hear Mrs. Breitung chuckling in her sleep and ejaculating, "Oh, you Jerry." Breitung listened for a few minutes as she repeated the word "Jerry" over and over again, thinking that she might be dreaming of the "Tom and" variety, but the expected suffix came not. Then Breitung became suspicious and began to wonder what Jerry's last name might be. After an investigation he found out that Jerry was a very live member of the detective force of the police department.

In his bill Breitung declares his wife frequents saloons and a certain down town cafe and that she is not a fit person to care for their three children, all girls, ranging from 3 to 12 years of age.

Besides he was tired of having his slumber disturbed by the name of his rival, "Jerry."

UNVEIL IN PENNSYLVANIA SHAFT TO SOUTH'S DEAD

"Blues" and "Grays" Join in Ceremony of Respect to Confederate Soldiers Who Died While Prisoners.

Philadelphia, Pa.—With representatives of both the "Blues" and the "Grays" present a granite shaft erected by the United States government in memory of the Confederate dead who were buried in the Pittsville national cemetery here during the Civil war was unveiled with appropriate ceremonies. The speaker of the day was John Shepard Beard of Staunton, Va. Music was furnished by musicians from the Philadelphia navy yard.

The shaft stands nine feet six inches in height, and bears this inscription:

"Erected by the United States to mark the burial place of 184 Confederate soldiers and sailors, as shown by the records, who, while prisoners of war, died either at Chester, Pa., and were there buried, or at Philadelphia and were buried in Glenwood cemetery and whose remains were subsequently removed to this cemetery, where the individual graves cannot now be identified."

SAYS QUININE WILL NOT BREAK A COLD

HOW TO CURE COLDS AND GRIPE IN A FEW HOURS

You will distinctly feel your cold breaking and all the gripe symptoms leaving after taking the very first dose.

It is a positive fact that Pape's Cold Compound, taken every two hours, until three consecutive doses are taken, will end the gripe and "break up" the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs.

It promptly relieves the most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or gripe.

Take this harmless compound as directed with the knowledge that there is no other medicine, made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end gripe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

Don't trifle with a cold is good advice for prudent men and women. It may be vital in case of a child. There is nothing better than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs and colds in children. It is safe and sure. For sale by all dealers.

SEX DECIDES FORTUNE GRANT.

Court Resorts to Old English Precedent in Settling Estate.

Belleville, Ill.—Judge Perrin of the probate court resorted to an old English law precedent in the final settlement of the estate of Schuyler C. Hill.

Mrs. Ruth Hill and Ellen Sawyer, who were killed in a wreck at Bend, Ill., last year. The judge held that the wife, owing to her weaker sex, was the first to succumb to the injuries. As a result the $5,000 estate will go to Hill's relatives.
