ACTRESS KNOCKS OUT BATTILING CONDUCTOR
 Allie Gilbert Delays Traffic Twenty Minutes and Stops "White Hope" in One Round When He Tries to Put Dog Off Train.
 Portchester, N. Y.—Allie Gilbert, a New York show girl, delayed traffic on the New Haven road, put the crew of the 7:25 express for New York to flight and knocked out Tommy Nelson a baggage man at the Portchester depot, who has beaten some of the best heavy-weights in Westchester county and who was looked upon as a promising white hope.
 The row occurred when Miss Gilbert tried to board the express train with Bunny, a performing brindle bulldog in her arms. The conductor barred the way, telling the actress that dogs were only allowed in baggage cars, and as there was no baggage car on his train she would have to wait until the next one.
 They argued on the car platform for twenty minutes. Then the conductor tried to put her off the train. She resisted and the conductor called the train crew to his aid. The advance of the crew was stopped by bunny. He snapped at a man who came near his mistress. Nelson managed to get hold of the dog's leader and pulled him from the train. Miss Gilbert hopped lightly from the car and did something with her right hand that sent the prize fighter on his back on the station platform.
 A detective connected with the Portchester police department finally arrested Miss Gilbert, and she was arraigned in the city court before Judge Connelly. The prize fighter made a charge of disorderly conduct. On advice of counsel, Miss Gilbert pleaded guilty and sentence was suspended.
