GOVERNMENT SEES VALUE OF BIRDS

MAY ESTABLISH PRESERVE FOR FEATHERY HOARDS

Department of Agriculture, Tells of Advantages Gained in War Waged Against Insects by Protecting and Encouraging Little Winged Visitors.

(By Frances Moreland.)

The tide seems to be turning in favor of the birds and every impulse that affords enthusiasm in that direction should be hailed with hope for the millennial when the feathered tribe those harbingers of joy, shall sit in the trees and vines, not afraid of their human (humane) brothers.

There is encouragement in the fact that a few weeks ago Fred M. Dille of Denver, Colo., went to Conoco, Wash., to inspect the reservoir of the government irrigation project with a view to making recommendation to the department of agriculture, which he represents, concerning the establishment of a bird preserve in the vicinity of the reservoir. After a thorough examination of the conditions, Mr. Dille said that he would recommend that the government take hold of the propagation of the various kinds of birds that will thrive in that climate, in addition to the protection of the hundreds of other varieties of the feathered tribe to be found there.

Recently a man in Klamath county, Oregon, donated 3000 acres of wooded land to be maintained exclusively and permanently as a bird preserve.

The establishment of bird preserves is good news for the farmer and horticulturist. William L. Finley, a prominent writer on the subject of American birds, says in a recent article in Success Magazine, that without the help of our wild birds farming would be impossible. No other farmhands could accomplish the work entrusted to the birds. The wild birds of orchard, field and forest are nature's check upon the increase of insect life.

With the great handicap of bird destruction in our present day the loss from insect and rodent pests in the United States the present year is estimated to be $200,000,000. This loss can be reduced only when a public sentiment is aroused for proper bird protection. The practical farmer cannot afford to ignore the relations that wild birds bear to his crops, for they are part of the natural resources of any farm.

Birds work more in conjunction with man to help him than does any other form of outdoor life. They police the earth and air, and without their services the farmer would be helpless. Larks, wrens and thrushes search the ground for grubs and insects. The food of the meadow lark consists of 75 per cent of injurious insects and 12 per cent of weed seed, showing it to be a bird of great economic value.

Sparrows, finches and quail eat a large amount of weed seed. Practically all the food of the tree sparrow consists of seed. Examinations by Professor F. E. L. Beal of the Biological Survey of the department of agriculture show that a single tree sparrow will eat a quarter of an ounce of weed seed daily. In one state alone tree sparrows will consume more than 800 tons of weed seed annually, thus saving the farmer an immense amount of work.

Chickadees scan every part of trunks and limbs of trees for insect eggs. In a day's time a chickadee will eat hundreds of insect eggs and worms that are harmful to our trees and vegetables. Fly-catchers, swallows and nighthawks are busy day and night catching flies that bother man and beast. Hawks and owls are workings silently in light and darkness to catch moles, mice, gophers and squirrels.

A number of years ago blackbirds were exceedingly abundant through eastern Nebraska, and the farmers believed they were damaging crops so they poisoned the birds. In the year that followed, swarms of grasshoppers took their place and few fields of grain escaped damage and devastation. Where the birds were permitted to remain, fair crops were secured solely through the assistance of the birds.

Rostrand, in his famous play, "Chantecler," speaks for the birds: "O God of birds! Who breathed into our wings to make us light. And painted them with colors of life sky.

All thanks for this fair day, for meat and drink— Sweet sky-born water caught in cups of stone. Sweet hedgerow berries washed of dust with dew. And thanks for these good little eyes of ours.

That spy the unseen enemies of man, And thanks for the good tools by these bestowed. To aid our work of little gardeners, Trowels and pruning-hooks of living horn.

Young Mothers

No young woman, in the joy of coming motherhood, should neglect to prepare her system for the physical ordeal she is to undergo. The health of both she and her coming child depends largely upon the care she bestows upon herself during the waiting months. Mother's Friend prepares the expectant mother's system for the coming event, and its use makes her comfortable during all the term. It works with and for nature, and by gradually expanding all tissues, muscles, and nerves involved, and keeping them in a state of condition, brings the system to a crisis in splendid physical condition. The baby too is more apt to be perfect and strong where the mother has thus prepared herself for nature's supreme function. No better advice could be given a young expectant mother than that she use Mother's Friend; it is a medicine that has proven its value in thousands of cases. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

MILLIONS OF FOLKS USE ONLY CASCARETS

They Never Have Headache, Biliousness, Sluggish Liver or Bowels or a Sick, Sour Stomach.

No odds how bad your liver, stomach or bowels; how much your head aches, how miserable and uncomfortable you are from constipation, indigestion, biliousness and sluggish intestine—you always get the desired results with Cascarets and quickly, too.

Don't let your stomach, liver and bowels make you miserable another moment; put an end to the headache, biliousness, dizziness, nervousness, sick, sour, gassy stomach, backache and all other ills; cleanse your inside organs of all the poison and effete matter which is producing the misery.

Take a Cascaret now; don't wait until bedtime. In all the world there is no remedy like this. A 10-cent box means health, happiness and a clear head for months. No more days of gloom and distress if you will take a Cascaret now and then. All druggists sell Cascarets. Don't forget the children, their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

blight,
Forgive thy birds tonight their trespasses,
The stripping of a currant-bursh or two!
Breathe on our bright round eyes and over them
The triple curtain of the lids will close.
If man, the unjust, pay us by casting stones,
For filling field and wood and caves with song,
For battling with the weevil for his bread
If he lime our twigs for us, if he spread snares,
Call to our memory thy gentle saint,
Thy good Saint Francis, that we may forgive
The cruelty of men because a man
Once called us brothers, "My brothers, the birds!"

For pains in the side or chest dampen a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Liniment and bind it on over the seat of pain. There is nothing better. For sale by all dealers.

BOUND OPERATOR GIVES ROBBER ALARM

Houston, Texas, Nov. 7.—Although gagged and bound upright in his chair, with his hands behind him, and looking down the muzzles of a couple of 45's, W. L. Good, a phone operator of Farmers' Ranch, Texas, kicked a switch on the bottom of the board, which rang every phone in the village, nipping in the bud a daring bank robbery.

The robbers rode in town at midnight, two of them going to the phone exchange, taking possession of the bank, while the others entered the village, nipping in the bud a daring bank robbery.

to keep his hands off the board. To make sure he would not give the alarm he was gagged and bound, but allowed to remain in his chair. Though silent as the tomb Good edged his foot to a switch, slowly pressed it on, setting jingling every telephone in the town.

This aroused the sleeping village and frightened the robbers who fled before the townspeople, exchanging shots as they ran. They secured about $1500 but left $50,000 in their haste.

BROOK TROUT MAKE VERY RAPID GROWTH

Spokane, Wash.—Fifty thousand brook trout, hatched from eggs supplied by lakes in Wisconsin and Rhode Island early in 1910 and placed in Lost lake, near Chesaw, Wash., made a growth of from 15 to 17 inches in 19 months. This is a greater growth than has yet been reported for any species placed in local waters.

J. A. Uhlig, fish and game warden of Spokane county, and S. S. Drew, superintendent of the state hatchery at Dartford, near here, are arranging to secure 2,500,000 eggs from these fish this fall for planting in the Spokane river and other streams in eastern Washington early next May. Altogether more than 10,000,000 fish will be liberated during 1912. More than 350,000 eggs already have been taken from the lake, some being sent to the department of fisheries at Washington, D. C., the University of Oregon and other colleges in the west. Drew and Uhlig express surprise over the remarkable growth of the trout, saying they developed more rapidly than native trout or any other species of eastern fish planted in Washington waters.

Farmer a Suicide.
Chehalis, Wash.—Pete Tauscher living on school land which he and his nephew, Leo, leased on the north fork of the Newaukum river, was found dead in bed, a rifle lying at his side and the top of his head was blown off. A note was found which the suicide left stating that he had lost the only girl in the world he cared for.

There is little danger from a cold or from an attack of the grip except when followed by pneumonia, and this never happens when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. This remedy has won its great reputation and extensive sale by its remarkable cures of colds and grip and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. For sale by all dealers.

Macadamize, Milton street, Milton, Ore.—The commercial club and the city council have decided to macadamize the main street of the city, work to commence as soon as a crusher can be procured. It has been arranged with the officials in Walla Walla to loan the steam mroller from the county to complete the work.

"I do not believe there is any other medicine so good for whooping cough as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes Mrs. Francis Turpin, Junction City, Ore. This remedy is also unsurpassed for colds and croup. For sale by all dealers.

Saw Severs Boy's Fingers.
Clayton, Wash.—The 9-year-old son of Gohn Goulette yesterday stumbled and fell against a wood saw in full motion during the momentary absence of his father, who was operating the machine, and severed the thumb and two fingers of his right hand. Drs. Wry and Slater of Deer Park were summoned.
